Evidence from the text relating to QUALITY:

Foer's literary style in Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close includes the use of imagery and symbolism. The characterization and conflict in the novel help to provide reasons for things that happen. For example, Oskar's grandparents establish a set of rules for their marriage that help them deal with the bombing of thir hometown. Oskar's internal conflict of solving the mystery of the key provides reasoning for some of his actions. Not being able to find the lock that the key opened caused Oskar stress.

Evidence from the text relating to APPROPRIATENESS:
The novel is appropriate for mature 13-year-olds and up. Some of the content may be best suited for students who are 14 years old and up. There are references to sex and themes of deception and relationships that are better suited for high schoolers. Characters in the novel lie to protect those they love, but the lies lead to the harm of the loved one. Several relationships are discussed in the novel. Family is portrayed as being the ~~most essential~~ relationship. The examination of familial relationships introduces the references to sex.
