The Community

The Jericho community is a vibrant and thriving suburban enclave situated approximately 30 miles to the east of New York City, nestled within the heart of Nassau County on Long Island. With a population of around 20,000 residents, our district embodies the essence of a dynamic suburban setting, offering a balanced blend of modernity and tranquility. The Jericho School District includes, in part or whole, the following towns and villages: Brookville, East Hills, Glen Head, Hicksville, Jericho, Muttontown, Old Westbury, and Upper Brookville.

What truly distinguishes Jericho is its rich tapestry of diversity, reflecting a population that is both culturally varied and deeply committed to fostering a comprehensive educational program characterized by excellence. This strong commitment to education underscores the fundamental values of the community.

Curriculum

Students have the option to choose from over 200 courses during their high school journey, including 27 Advanced Placement (AP) courses. Furthermore, we provide 35 college-level courses in collaboration with institutions such as Adelphi University, Long Island University, Molloy University, New York Institute of Technology, Rochester Institute of Technology, St. John's University, Stony Brook University, and SUNY Oswego.
