BRONXVILLE PROMISE

To innovate, discover, and create.
To make something new from what you know.

To find your voice and communicate clearly in order to lead with passion and persistence.

To think critically, explore nature, history and culture;

To gain the understanding and the courage to change.

To collaborate and serve;
To engage in the world around you and make it a better place.

The Bronxville Promise defines those dispositions we strive to develop to the fullest in all our students weaving them into the fabric of school culture programs and services. Project based learning units, technology-enhanced lessons, sustained attention to writing development, access to online courses, redesigned classroom spaces and attention to growth in leadership in all areas of activity, support this endeavor.

Bronxville High School is a public four-year college preparatory school, nationally recognized for educational excellence. Current enrollment is 520 students in grades 9-12, with a senior class of 134 students. Approximately 98% of graduates attend four year colleges. Thirteen students attend Bronxville's Life Skills program, a specialized pre-vocational program for students with developmental disabilities. School accreditation is through the Tri-States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and The New York State Education Department. The teaching faculty consists of approximately 60 full and part-time teachers, all of whom hold a minimum of a Master's Degree. As of the '25-'26 school year, one counselor works with the entire 9th grade. Three counselors, including the director, each work comprehensively with students in grades 10-12 for three years. Civil Discourse in Our Curriculum: Students at Bronxville High school engage in a variety of teacher developed discourse opportunities in their study of humanities. Directly connected to both English and Social Studies curricula, students practice interacting with and developing discussions around current events and other issues directly related to course requirements. Rather than engage in argumentation and position development, students engage with a variety of viewpoints and ideas in service of questioning, discussion and mutual understanding.

Bronx River Research students use our local river as an outdoor laboratory to formulate their own research questions and attempt to answer them through a series of lab-based investigations.Students focus on scientific methods, data analysis, and science communication, including learning how to find, read, and use peer-reviewed research in their own projects. Results of studies are shared widely, with middle school classes, school administrators, land managers, and city government so that students can use science to better their community.

Artificial Intelligence Independent Study (IND AI), students learn the basics of the Python programming language, including functions and iteration. Students study natural language processing (NLP) and the implementation of AI in situations involving written text. The class also creates applications that use advanced AI concepts like linear regression, logistic regression, and neural networks. Students also discuss the ethics of AI and its applications, in terms of bias in the data it is trained on and privacy issues associated with collecting this data.
