Two Center Grove Students Named 2016 Coca-Cola Scholars

(Greenwood, IN) – The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation has named Center Grove High School seniors Sneha Dave and Christina Randall among the country's most outstanding high school leaders. Both students will receive a $20,000 college scholarship and take their places among the 28th class of Coca-Cola Scholars.

Ms. Dave is an honors student who is active in Student Government. She founded "The Crohn's and Colitis Teen Times," an outreach for teens living with Crohn's and Colitis, and blogs as a patient advisor for U.S. News and World Report. Dave has also been a member of the school's tennis team. She plans to pursue a career as an interventional radiologist.

Ms. Randall is also an honors student and is active in Student Government, Model United Nations, and the Business Professionals of America. She served as Vice President of the Indiana Association of Student Councils. She was also a 4-year tennis player and participated in track, volleyball and basketball. Randall has served as a Chapter President of the Girl Up United Nations Foundation. She plans to pursue a career in economics and public policy.

On March 31, Ms. Dave and Ms. Randall are invited to join the other 150 Coca-Cola Scholars from around the country in Atlanta, Georgia for a Scholars Weekend. The Scholars will participate in a Leadership Development Institute, tour local landmarks, meet former Coca-Cola Scholars, and participate in a group community service project. The Scholars will also serve as the guests of honor at a banquet.

The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation is a joint effort of Coca-Cola Bottlers across America. The Coca-Cola Company is one of the largest corporate-sponsored, achievement-based scholarship programs of its kind in the United States. Including the 2016 class of Coca-Cola Scholars, the Foundation has awarded over 5,700 Coca Cola Scholars with a total of $59.4 million in scholarships.
