6th grade Language and Literature learning targets

A student can:

- Use evidence from a text to analyze meaning and purpose in literature.
- Use evidence to explain informational reading.
- Support claims in writing with reasons and evidence.
- Use writing to explain complicated ideas and concepts through word choice, organization and analysis.
- Discuss topics and texts in collaboration with other students using details and evidence to explain multiple perspectives on an issue or reading.
- Use more complex sentence structure and grammar to help clarify relationships between claim, reasons and evidence in speaking and writing.
