I figured it would be busy, so no worries. I spoke with Bob Sofaly, and he said that he plans to be there tomorrow to get a portrait of you between 9 a.m. and 10 a.m. I'm working from home tomorrow [redacted], so why don't we plan on chatting on the phone during my younger [redacted]. If that doesn't work, I'm happy to chat with you whenever it is convenient for you.

As for the questions:

How did you feel when they announced that you had been selected as Assistant Principal of the Year.

Why do you think you were selected? I know you are a great vice principal from personal experience, but what kinds of things do you try to do as vice principal that you believe set you apart. What, in your opinion, makes a good vice principal?

Tell me a little bit of your story.
- Where are you from?
- How long have you been in education?
- Before becoming a vice principal at Coosa, where were you and what were you doing?

This year, Coosa has secured Vice Principal of the Year and has a teacher who is a finalist for Teacher of the Year. That is pretty awesome! What are you guys doing at Coosa that is causing you to attract so much positive attention?

So those are the type of questions that I was hoping to ask. I like conducting interviews in person or on the phone vs. having people give me a statement because the quotes end up being less static and more conversational, which I think that readers appreciate. But I have no doubt that you will do just fine!

What number should I call tomorrow for the interview?

Thank you for getting back to me so quickly! [redacted]

Robert Smalls International Academy holds groundbreaking ceremony for largest referendum project

BEAUFORT – School officials, students, Board of Education members, and community supporters celebrated the beginning of construction on the district's largest referendum project to be funded through the bond referendum approved by county voters in November 2019.

The new school will be located behind the existing building, which will ultimately be demolished. Site work has already started and large-scale construction will begin in January 2022, with an anticipated completion date for the new school building of August 2023. Athletic facilities will be completed in January 2024. A total of $62 million in referendum funds was budgeted for the Robert Smalls International Academy (RSIA) project that includes, but is not limited to:

- Two floors and four wings
- Outdoor learning pavilions and spaces
- Two-story lobby that pays tribute to the life and journey of Robert Smalls
- Corridor with a historical timeline depicting the school's history as well as significant local, state, and national events
- New ball fields
- Increased parking and additional space for car riders
- Exterior detailing resembling the C.S.S. Planter, the ship commandeered by Robert Smalls

Speakers at the groundbreaking ceremony included Board of Education Chair Christina Gwozdz, Superintendent Frank Rodriguez, and Robert Smalls International Academy Principal Bradley Tarrance.

"This significant project is made possible from the referendum approved by voters in November of 2019," said Superintendent Frank Rodriguez. He expressed gratitude for having significant community input even during the pandemic. "Based on the strong participation in public meetings held via Zoom early on in this process, we are confident the K-8 facility is going to reflect the community's desires for years to come."

Board of Education Chair Christina Gwozdz also expressed her enthusiasm for the longevity and significance of this project. "May generations of Beaufort students, their families, and school staff enjoy this new facility," said Gwozdz. "Perhaps someday it will also be designated as a national Historic Landmark."

Kansas City-based J.E. Dunn Construction is the contractor for the renovations and the designer of record is LS3P Associates Ltd. of Charleston.

All referendum projects and expenditures are being independently monitored by the Citizen-Led Oversight Committee.

Speakers at the ribbon-cutting ceremony included Board of Education Chair Christina Gwozdz, Superintendent Frank Rodriguez, school principal Bradley Tarrance, and the great-great-grandson of Robert Smalls, Mr. Michael Boulware Moore.

"The Board of Education sincerely thanks everyone who played a part in seeing this project to fruition," said Board Chair Christina Gwozdz, who also noted that in addition to being a war hero and holding state and national office, Robert Smalls "served on the Beaufort County School Board early in his career."

Superintendent Frank Rodriguez thanked the voters of Beaufort County for overwhelmingly supporting the 2019 Bond Referendum. "Your commitment is so important because it allows us to provide our students and teacher with a state-of-the-art learning environment." In the legacy of Robert Smalls, Rodriguez said the new facility will be "a place where students can be leaders, share their genius, own their learning, and develop their full potential."

Over 400 people were in attendance, making this one of the largest ribbon-cutting ceremonies in the district's recent history.

"As we cut this ribbon, let it serve as a constant reminder of the power of education to transform lives," said Principal Tarrance. " Let it remind us of our duty to ensure that every student who walks through these doors is given the opportunity to thrive and succeed."
