Expert Community Care Management (ECCM) is your personal guide into and through the Human Services community. Since 2006, our nonprofit organization has served as the entry point to the available systems of care, leading our clients down personalized treatment paths toward a more promising tomorrow.

Expert Community Care Management is what we do.

ECCM strives to help individuals with intellectual disability, autism, developmental disability, or medical complex conditions achieve a more meaningful and productive life. ECCM works closely with state and local government agencies as well as direct service providers as the “center of the system”.

Our supports coordinators will help individuals and families navigate their way through a system designed to meet their needs in a community setting, often in their own homes.

Supports Coordinators will:

- Work with individuals and families to identify desired life goals and aspirations.
- Guide individuals and their support team in the development of an Individual Support Plan (ISP), identifying current and future needs, outcomes, and goals.
- Locating – researching and providing information related to community resources and services.
- Coordinating – contacting, scheduling, and referring individuals to the appropriate service providers.
- Monitoring – ensuring the health and safety of the individual and quality of service(s) provided.
