N.C. Jr. Chefs Create New School Meal Recipes!

This is the 10th year of the N.C. Junior Chef Competition (NCJCC)! The NCJCC was created to inspire the next generation of culinary professionals, stimulate interest in locally produced agriculture, increase participation in School Nutrition Programs, and encourage healthy eating. The competition seeks student created and approved recipes for school meals and recognizes students for their ability to work as members of a team to demonstrate valuable skills in recipe development, food preparation, marketing, public presentation, organization, and local food systems.

Teams of two to four high school students, grades 9-12, work with their teachers and local School Nutrition Programs to create a recipe for a school lunch entrée that:

- adheres to National School Lunch Program requirements,
- includes at least two North Carolina-grown ingredients and one USDA Foods item, and
- appeals to students.

Based on applications and recipes submitted, up to eight finalist teams are selected to compete in a statewide cook-off. The first-place team advances to the Southeast Jr. Chef Competition. Student Jr. Chefs receive chef hats, coats and aprons, certificates, and medals based on team score. Student members of the top three teams at the state and regional level are offered scholarships. Also, top student recipes are being scaled up for N.C. school meals. Learn more at https://go.ncdpi.gov/ncjrchef.
