Access Community Resources and Services

Be aware of the community services that are available and exist in the community.

By Nellie Ríos-Parra, Director of State Preschool Program

There are several community resources and services available in the Lennox community. These can be of great assistance, therefore I will share a few resources so that you may be aware and access them as needed. Consider adding key telephone numbers in your contact information for easy access and reference. Feel free to share the resources with your friends and family. More resources will be shared with you through ClassDojo and on Instagram, so follow us @preschool

Teacher Professional Development

By Nellie Ríos-Parra, Director of State Preschool

Teachers gathered by site to review data and reflect on student growth and development this school year. The Desired Results process includes the following three program assessments to help determine how well we are meeting child and family needs; the Desired Results Developmental Profile, the Early Childhood Rating Record (ECERS), and the Parent Survey. Each of these assessments measure a different component of our program and how effectively we are managing that aspect of the program. We know that when the classroom environment is well supervised, safe and engaging, children thrive. We know that focusing on Social-Emotional development helps to lay the foundation for further growth and development. This year all children grew one level of development or more in all domains. All parents who completed the Parent Survey shared they were satisfied or very satisfied and their child was happy to attend the program. We do our best to provide a learning environment that promotes each child's development.
