Everything You Need to Know About Cub Scouting

Cub Scouts is a family-centered program designed for boys and girls in Kindergarten through 5th grade. It's all about having fun, trying new things, making friends, and building character through hands-on activities.

How Our Pack Works

Family-Centered Learning: Parents and guardians attend meetings and activities alongside their Cub Scouts. It's a great way to share experiences and watch your child grow!

Dens & Pack:

- Den Meetings: Small groups of kids in the same grade (e.g., Lions for Kindergarten, Tigers for 1st grade) meet 1–3 times a month for age-appropriate adventures.
- Den Meetings have a simple program structure for adults to learn and can quickly implement.
- Pack Meetings: Once a month, the whole pack (all grades together) gathers for games, awards, skits, and celebrations.
- Fun Outdoor Activities: Cub Scouts enjoy camping, hiking, pinewood derby races, service projects, and summer day camps.

What It Costs

- Registration Fee: Yearly annual dues ($145) cover national registration, insurance, and local council program support. (Financial assistance/camperships are available—no youth is ever turned away due to financial need).
- Uniform & Handbook: A Cub Scout uniform shirt, belt, and grade-level handbook are all you need to get started.
- Fundraising: Kids can earn their own way to summer camp and gear through troop/pack fundraisers like annual popcorn sales.

How It Works

- Parent Involvement: Cub Scouting thrives on volunteer support! Whether you help run a den meeting, organize a pack event, or just cheer on the kids, there are plenty of ways to jump in.

Simple Steps to Join

1. Attend an Informational Meeting / Join Night: Bring your family, meet the leaders, ask questions, and see the fun in action.
2. Complete Registration: Sign up online or fill out a paper application at our meeting.
3. Get Your Gear: Pick up a handbook and uniform shirt, and get ready for your first den meeting!

Friends

Not only do the Scouts create friendships for a lifetime - the parents do too!

This activity is not sponsored by or endorsed by the school and is not printed at district expense.
