5:51PM Discussion Item: Strategic Planning Updates (Principal/All Members)

Dr. Wilkins shared our school goals for this year. Our goal has remained the same, which is to be to improve 5% from our i-Ready diagnostic scores. We chose to use i-Ready only because we don't have ELA data back yet. And so I wanted to keep something that we can maintain the measure by, but also see the outcome sooner. we're not expected to get our ELA results until November. So right now, our first goal is to increase the percentage of students within tier one, and I'll show you some visuals of that in just a moment. So I want to increase from 57%, which is what we ended the 25-26 school year, and that's kindergarten through 5th grade to 62% based on the i-Ready diagnostic. And the second goal is to increase from 58% to 63% on the math diagnostic for i-Ready. And that's kindergarten through 5th grade. We know a lot of times when we talk GMAS, we talk just 3rd through 5th grade. i-Ready is what Fulton County has identified as a predictor.

for that, but also for my K and two students, K through two students, that's the foundation. And so it really hits a lot on phonics and phonemic awareness, because if we don't have those foundational skills, then we're not able to be successful in those upper grades. Additionally, this year we are focused on first grade very heavily just in general, because we want to make sure, and in kindergarten, that there's a policy that's coming down the pipeline. I'm not sure if you all heard of the House bill, but it does pertain to kindergarten readiness for first grade. And while we don't have all the parameters surrounding that,
Last year we missed our attendance goal, which was set at 11.5%. And while 16.2% doesn't sound like a lot of students, when you're looking at, I think last year I ended with 723 students, it's enough because it talks about 18 or more absences for those students.
This year to date, we're sitting at 12.3%. So that's 78 kids already that have 18 or more absences. 687 students at 78 kids and we're only on week 7
We have 474 kids that are in that satisfactory percent. That's 74% of our population.
We have 84 students that are at risk, 63 that are what they call moderate chronic, 14 that are severe, and one that is considered extreme chronic absence. And so our goal is to be greater than, for satisfactory, greater than 5%.

5:59 PM Mrs. Palmer asked what counts as attendance, Dr. Wilkins shared anytime a student is out excused and unexcused and went over virtual days.
