PAUSING and EXITING

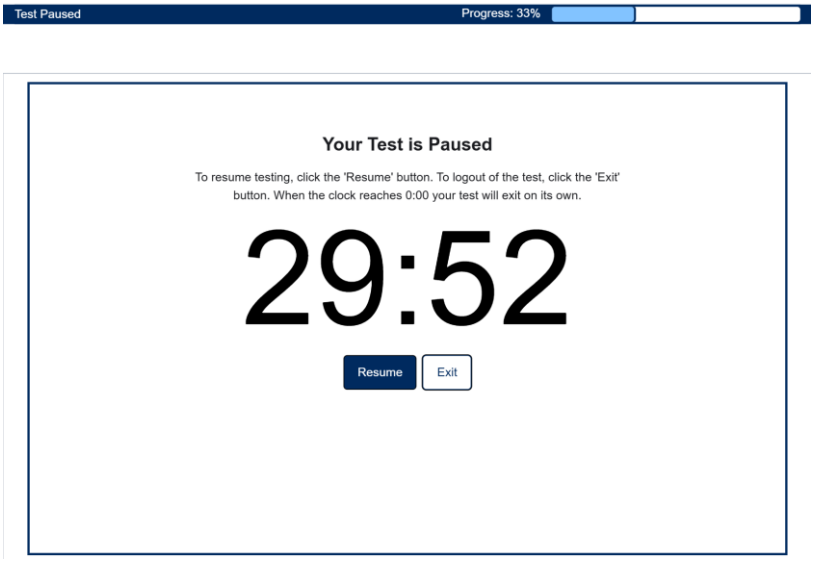
This is what a paused test looks like.



If the student will be away for less than 30 minutes (for example, a 15-minute stop-the-clock break), leave the test on this screen. The testing device must stay in the secure testing environment. A paused test auto-exits when the 30-minute clock reaches 0:00. If the break runs long the student will need to log in again.

If the student will be away for 30 minutes or more (for example, for an appointment), select Exit, then select Exit again on the confirmation message shown below. The test closes and returns to the home screen. The student and the testing device may leave the secure testing environment. To resume testing, the student logs in again.

If a student does not finish testing in the allotted time, the student selects Exit. The student and the testing device may then leave the secure testing environment. A staff member with the required permissions applies “End Incomplete Test” as soon as practicable.
