VII. PUBLIC PARTICIPATION RELATED TO ACTION ITEMS

VIII. LEGISLATIVE LIAISON

Mr. Schymanski reported on the following:

Federal news:

Education Funding spending bill passed the House, Wednesday, March 9 and went to the Senate. Note: The Senate has its own bill, so we need to see if the Senate uses the House bill or its own bill. Senate action will start in the HELP Committee. HELP stands for Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions. I previously pointed out that both the House and Senate bills had significant increases for Title One and IDEA. However, the version passed by the House had only minor increases in Title and IDEA. Title One proposed increase was $20 billion dollars. The amount in this bill for Title One was $17.5 billion, an increase of only $1 billion from the previous budget. For IDEA, the president wanted $15.5 billion versus last years $12.9 billion. The final amount in this bill was $13.3 billion, an increase of only $406 million. This will force school districts to cover more costs from their own budgets. Other education programs also received substantially less funding than requested but generally, slightly more than last budget. One interesting item was a request by the President for $30 million in the School Leader recruitment and Support program for school innovation and improvement. The House did not fund this initiative and it was also not funded in the last budget. This money was to help fight burnout in school ranks. I found this comment by Secretary of Education Cardona to be out of touch with conditions schools face. He suggested that education leaders advocate for more funding at state and local levels, something public schools have (for many years now) been advocating for.

Note: I found out that even though Ohio withdrew from the NSBA, I am still on the NSBA test alert system. I did get a text advocating for Title and IDEA funding before the vote. I did respond, modifying the language to something I found more acceptable.

School Lunch pandemic waivers are set to expire in June 2022 and were surprisingly, not in the education bill. Again, NSBA sent out a test asking for a separate bill to extend the universal lunch program and the nutrition waivers for one more year. I did respond and I also sent a separate letter to my contact in Senator Brown's office. I did get a response from her and from Senator Brown indicating that he is pushing for the nutrition waivers for one more year.

Ohio Legislation:

SB 9 was sent to Governor DeWine for signature. This bill requires ODE and other state agencies to reduce regulations by 30% with 2025, the required completion date.

HB126, the Ohio House in a rare show of unity voted unanimously not to concur to the Senate proposed changes to this house bill. The Senate now has 3 options. Do nothing and eventually the bill will die at the end of 2022, vote to rescind the Senate changes and pass the House version or send the bill to conference committee. If the bill goes to conference, the Senate and the House each select 3 members to negotiate a result, with no public comment on this process.

HB 403 had a second hearing. This bill will require a superintendent to file a report with ODE if they allow a teacher to retire who is (either) under threat of a disciplinary investigation or retired under such a such a threat.

Both the House and Senate Education committees received an update from the ODE Interim Superintendent on plans to improve the state report card as required by law.

The Senate held a second hearing on HB123, an important bill that deals with tax revenue from new business investment in a school district. This bill would change the threshold for school involvement from when a business requests a 50% tax exemption to 75%. And, the investment must be over $3 million, with provisions for annual increases to match the rate of inflation. Note: there is no provision for schools to get any funding tied to rate of inflation.

A 5th hearing was held on an interesting bill, SB135 which started out to address free speech on colleges. The bill initially addressed helping student know about career fields available for associate degrees and certification programs, like CNC machinist, provide information about ROTC as well as address concerns over free speech on colleges. But the bill was modified to include high schools. Plus, a student or teacher that feels his free speech was denied can file a complaint.

The House Civil Justice Committee held sponsor testimony on HB508. This bill deals with parent's rights on the education process and parent's responsibility in terms of what or how material can be presented to their child. This bill is similar to a bill recently passed in Florida. I am concerned that the bill conflicts with ODE's role in establishing curriculum for education and who controls what info is required for a student to learn. If there is a conflict between ODE's requirements and a parent's objection, how will state test questions be dealt with. I believe that we need to follow this bill and probably write a resolution against the bill. How will our teachers deal with parent's complaints, especially when different parents have conflicting ideas? Note: current ODE practice and state law do allow parent to opt out of portions of a subject's curriculum, but they can't modify state approved curriculum.

HB290, known as the Backpack bill, had its first hearing. As info, Tennessee has a similar bill in process but slightly farther in the legislative cycle. Sponsor testimony was provided and a substitute version with some revision is forthcoming. The Legislative sponsors provide testimony on the bill and answered questions from the committee.

"The goal of this bill is to put kids first in our funding model for education. To acknowledge that education is not a one-size-fits-all approach and that empowering parents to make the best decision for their children will result in better educational outcomes." per Representative McClain (R Upper Sandusky).

The committee held off on voting to accept the substitute bill in order to give committee members time to read through the language of the bill. The substitute version of the bill provides the following details as to how the Backpack Scholarship Program would be established. The bill would allow all students, regardless of income, to be eligible for a state-funded voucher that would be administered through an Educational Savings Account (ESA). The amount that a student receives annually would be either $5,500 for students in K-eight or $7,500 for students in nine-12. The bill establishes allowable expenses of those funds, including tuition and fees at participating chartered nonpublic schools, non-chartered nonpublic schools, or nonpublic online schools. Participating schools must notify the treasurer of the state and would be subject to certain requirements, such as administering assessments to students every other year and requiring high school students to complete the graduation seals process. Additionally, the funds could be used for tuition for programs of study that lead to an industry-recognized credential that satisfies a workforce need. Other allowable expenses include:

- tutoring or intervention services;
- textbooks, instructional materials and supplies;
- fees for certain tests, including nationally standardized assessments;
- occupational, behavioral, physical, speech-language and audiology therapies;
- fees for after-school and summer educational programs.

The treasurer of the state would be responsible for administering the program, including maintaining the assessment data from the participating schools. The data would be available to a parent who submits a request for the information. Committee members questioned the fiscal impact of the bill, and the sponsors indicated that a detailed fiscal analysis would be forthcoming. Additionally, committee members expressed concerns as to how this bill would impact the newly implemented state funding formula that passed in the operating budget.
