Graduate successes:

Nick Bader just got a hold of me. The Tony nominations have just been announced. He is an assistant production manager for the Broadway Musical Beetle Juice that opened April 26th, 2019. I was able to see the pre-show while I was in New York. Beetle Juice is up for 8 Tony Awards, including Best Musical! We should be so proud of Nick and Elida!!!!!!.

Albion College student and former Elida Graduate, Kejuan Fraizer won the shot put with his collegiate best effort (51' 5 3/4"). It ties him for ninth on the Division III performance list at this point of the season.

Congratulations to the 2019 Female Athlete of the Year, Alyssa Turrentine! Former Elida Student and currently running at Ohio Christian University.

Each May, middle school students and their parents are invited to attend the Blue Ribbon Breakfast. Student who have NO office referrals, and have shown exemplary behavior and academic performance, are given blue ribbons in recognition of these achievements.

Recently, students at the Middle School attended the Shannon movie theater in Bluffton. Students were invited if they met attendance requirements, had no Ds or Fs on grade cards, did not ever visit the Reset Lab, and had no office referrals for the entire year. We had 140 7th and 8th grade students attend, and they got to watch Avengers: End Game. There were 110 5th and 6th graders attending and they watched Wonder Park. Thank you to the EMS PTO for sponsoring this activity.

High School Senior wood working projects. The woodworking by Elida Senior students continues to be impressive. Here is a list of some of the seniors recognized this month for their project; Ash Dameron, Garrett Hall, TJ Whipple, Noah Adcock, Bailey Gibson, Joe Davis III, and Ashton Miller.

VI. LEGISLATIVE LIAISON

Mr. Schymanski reported on the following:

Ohio Info:

On March 19, I met with Senator Huffman to discuss Education. We covered the changing role of support services, that is, Special Education leadership and classroom Aides, School Psychologists, the many support aides now in schools. Also, the growing role of Social Workers and SRO's. Asked could schools also get money from the Health budget versus the education budget? After discussion with our curriculum director, I will get back to him and request that he, not schools address where the money for mental health should come from. We also talked HB 75 and the much talked about older bill called HB 70.

The Ohio House passed the state budget bill (HB166) which includes the educational budget. Years, 2020 and 2021. The Cupp-Patterson educational initiative will continue to be discussed but probably not acted up this budget year. But, perhaps in the second year of the Biennium budget. Educational bill sent to the Ohio senate is basically the Governor's proposal. We will have to see what our senate does.

Key points:

- Schools guaranteed same funding as last year.
- Wellness funding increased.
- Some money for school bus purchases but not enough to buy a full bus.
- HB 75 incorporated.
- HB 154 dissolving the Academic Distress Commission.

I attended the Lima Chamber of Commerce committee meeting on analyzing the School Report Card High School Graduation Requirements. Recommendations on changes are being developed. There are two proposals for HS Graduation requirements. In the House budget bill is the Fordham Institute's Ohio Excels plan. This plan requires students earn a competent score on Algebra I and English II exams. Then, once these are passed, earn additional certifications or college or career. ODE and the Ohio State Board of Education's, two-year task force study has recommended multiple pathways to graduation. Some are designed to help students who want to go directly to the workforce earn certification. The Superintendents will hear more and a business proposal in the next few weeks. Also, form letters will be developed to help business and educators state their opinion on which of the two proposals is best for Ohio students.

National Education Trends:

Florida passed a voucher bill increasing the number of students eligible for vouchers. Texas rejected a law that would have severely limited public school lobby efforts. No restrictions were planned for non-public school lobby efforts. So, this bill not passing was good, since all educational lobbying efforts are still permitted. Pennsylvania is considering a bill to legislate online charter schools by requiring the online school to be part of a public school effort. This is to keep costs in line and work to improve graduation.

Federal Education:

Higher Education is still getting some discussion and testimony at the House Education and Labor committee. There seems to be some significant party differences on how to handle college loans, past debt issues and the control the federal government should have. There seems little interest, at least right now, to update IDEA. The FY2020 budget is due in the 3rd quarter of this year. Looks like there will not be a budget deal. The President proposed less defense spending in 2020 than in 2019. Party backlash caused him to revise that proposal. Now it is more than the 2019 budget. This is important as Sequestration requires balance between domestic and military spending. This could mean more money for things like infrastructure and education. However, given the current battle between the President and the House, there may not be a budget deal. This is more likely, meaning we could have a continuing resolution (CR). Normally, both parties agree to keep spending as is until a formal budget is released. I expect Title and IDEA money to be close to current levels.

Diane Ravitch's NPE (Network for Public Education) is tracking candidates running for President. The NPE is ranking the candidates based on support for public (K-12) education. I am researching to find the link. Right now, Bernie Sanders has the strongest statements on supporting public schools and nonprofit charters. Several Democratic candidates have taken a position on money for education and how they would select a Secretary for Education. I am not saying to vote Democratic, but I am providing info that will contain info on candidate's position relating to K-12 educational policy.

Public School Initiative:

I want to address one of the statements our Secretary of Education makes. This statement is being repeated by House Education Committee members and some Presidential candidates. Statement: "Public Education is a one size fits all approach". I don't believe this is a true portrayal of how public education works. I will be meeting with our Communications Director to develop a plan to address this comment. I welcome input from other board members to help me develop a strategy. Please send me comment over the summer to help.
