Federal government

USDA CANCELS $1B IN LOCAL FOOD PURCHASING FOR SCHOOLS The US Department of Agriculture (USDA) has eliminated two programs that provided over $1 billion in federal funding for schools and food banks to purchase food from local farms, citing a shift in agency priorities. The Local Food for Schools Cooperative Agreement Program, which was set to distribute $660 million in 2025, has been canceled, impacting agreements in more than 40 states.

Department of Education (ED) Secretary Linda McMahon announced that the ED would move forward with laying off nearly half of its federal workforce as part of a sweeping “reduction in force.” The move placed 1,950 civil servants—47.1% of the Department’s 4,133 staff—on administrative leave starting March 21.

TRUMP SIGNS EO DISMANTLING DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION President Donald Trump signed an executive order directing Education Secretary Linda McMahon to begin closing the Department of Education (ED), calling it a necessary step to streamline government and return educational control to the states. Core functions like Pell Grants, Title I funding, and support for students with disabilities would be preserved, but redistributed across other federal agencies.

April 15, 2025

HHS WILL OVERSEE SPECIAL EDUCATION, CHILD NUTRITION President Donald Trump announced a proposal to move federal programs for students with disabilities and school meals to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

MCMAHON VISITS CHARTER SCHOOLS Secretary of Education Linda McMahon visited several schools to learn more about school choice programs and their impact on student outcomes. During her visits, Secretary McMahon reiterated the Department of Education's commitment to empowering states to fund students directly, allowing for more tailored learning environments. The visits reflect the Secretary's continued focus on expanding school choice to improve educational access and quality nationwide.

The current administration recently announced the formation of the "Title IX Special Investigations Team" (SIT), which will be a joint effort of the U.S. Department of Education (DOE) and Department of Justice (DOJ). This "Team" will consist of attorneys and investigators from both agencies. Their charge is to address a "staggering volume of Title IX complaints" and indicates that a major purpose of SIT is to "ensure timely, consistent resolutions to protect students, and especially female athletes, from the pernicious effects of gender ideology in school programs and activities." A key purpose of SIT is to facilitate "more rapid and consistent investigations" than those conducted in the past by the Office for Civil Rights.
