Overview of Clayton Academy

- The purpose of Clayton Academy is to improve academic achievement and student behavior for a small percentage of district students who are behaviorally challenged and need to get “back on track” in their learning and behavior so they can return to our schools and be successful.
- The Clayton Academy Program began in August 2007 with the opening of two high school learning communities. In October 2007 two middle school communities were added.

Criteria for Student Referrals to Clayton Academy

- Grades 6 through 12
- Chronic behavioral challenges in school
- No adjudicated high school youths
- No students with Individual Education Plans (IEP)

Overall Enrollment Trend by Month: There are slightly fewer students enrolled in February 2009 (206) than in February 2008 (228).

Clayton Academy Enrollment Trend

Characteristics of Clayton Academy Student Population

- Over age
- Performing below grade level in reading and/or math
- At high risk for dropping out of school
- Failing multiple subjects
- History of poor attendance, suspensions and expulsions

Program Framework

The program at Clayton Academy consists of the equivalent of a school year. During that time, students are expected to:

- Demonstrate academic progress
- Demonstrate improvement in behavior and attendance compared to the year prior to enrollment
- Earn promotion to the next higher grade level
- Successfully transition back to home schools
- Participate in community based support services within the school

Classroom instruction is focused on providing students an opportunity to earn academic credits utilizing the district's curricula, textbooks and instructional materials.

Status of Enrollees (n=446): Since enrolling in Clayton Academy, 13.2% of the students completed the program, 43.3% remain enrolled in the program, 9.2% left Clayton and went to another PPS school and 34.3% left the District.

Students Who Left The District (n=153): 29.4% of the students went to another school district, 18.3% quit school and 17.6% were sent to The Academy or Shuman.

Preliminary data suggest that Clayton Academy had a positive effect on the attendance, behavior and academic grades of the 18 students who completed the program in June 2008.

Pre and Post Outcomes for Students Completing the Program in June 2008 (n=18): Attendance rates increased slightly, suspensions declined and the percentage of E grades in core subjects decreased by half.

Student Perceptions

- ❖ “Happy to be back at Perry.”
- ❖ “I hated Clayton. Boring. A long day. Appreciate Perry more. I’m more mature now.”
- ❖ “CEP has helped me mature in the way that I think. It has helped me understand that I am still a kid and I am not grown. I understand that I can not make all my decisions by myself. “(Arsenal School student)
- ❖ “I did not like Clayton Academy and that is the reason I am maintaining good behavior at King.”
- ❖ “I am doing good and glad to be back with my friends. I like the flexibility of my classes and the electives. I am passing all of my classes and Carrick is ‘da bomb’.”

Parent Perceptions

- ❖ Allderdice parent, "Clayton started out rough at first, but my son realized he needed to improve his behavior and complete his assignments in order to return back to his school. He actually came home and talked to me about his progress."
- ❖ Oliver parent, "It taught my daughter how to make better decisions and mature. She's doing very well back at Oliver."
- ❖ Schaeffer parent, "Clayton has helped my daughter with her behavior. She's back on track. I see a whole different child."

Principal Perceptions

- ❖ Schenley, “Very positive influence on my school...parents are glad there is another alternative placement”.
- ❖ Arsenal, “Less classroom disruptions, reduced office referrals, 100-200 per month”
- ❖ Manchester, “Clayton has reduced office referrals, especially with the 8th grade class.”
- ❖ South Hills Middle, “...Marginal students became more focused...Teachers are able to teach rather than discipline.”
- ❖ Perry, “Clayton has done a good job of helping students identify areas where they need support and/or guidance. Clayton has allowed them to transition back to school and succeed academically and behaviorally.”
