NEW Y-NINE (V)

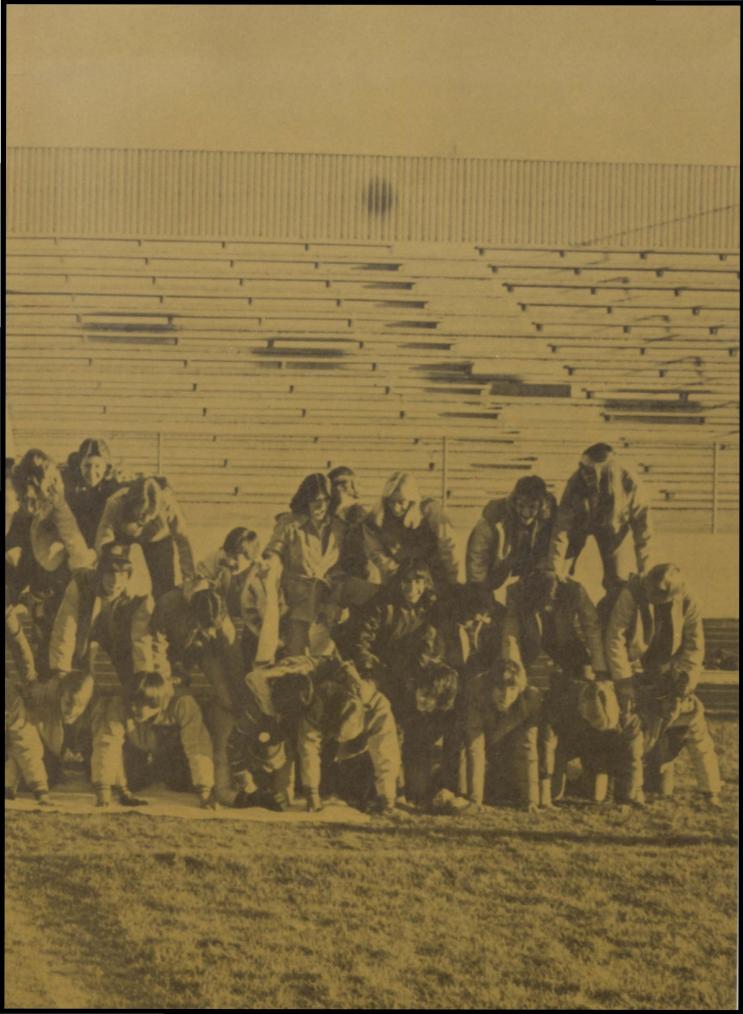

The Last of the

FLYER

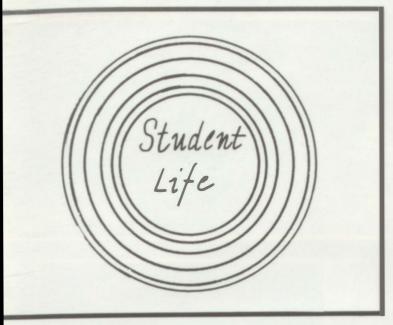

Although much of a students' time is spent in activities, sports, and class work, they still have moments in their lives which cannot be put into those catagories.

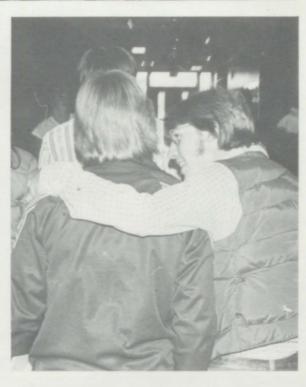

Most of these few moments are when a person is himself and is doing his or her own thing. Whether it is goofing off in the halls; relaxing during lunchtime; working at their jobs, or attending a church group meeting, it seems to be a time where people enjoy each other the most. These times appear to be fare spaced and short lived, but they are times we tend to cherish the most and will never want to forget.

Spare Time Used For Hobbies

Part of a student's life is spent doing things that they enjoy doing the most; or doing something where they can sit down relax and unwind after a day of school. Every student spends some amount of time doing this whether they realize it or not.

It does not have to be anything, which requires a lot of time. Sitting down and listening to music is a favorite pasttime of many students. Many like to go home and cook, collect things, play a piano, work on cars, sew, watch T.V., or just anything to kill some time doing somethint they like to do.

This time is not wasted! It is surprising the works of ingenuity, that are turned out during these times. Paintings are painted, things are collected, food is cooked, knowledge is gained by the students doing that what they like. Passing time with hobbies and interests is something that every student does and enjoys.

Jobs Provide Experience, Money

Students at FHS not only work in school, but many also have jobs after school. These jobs may range from working as a waitress, to helping the elderly, or working on the farm.

Many students with jobs work for extra money for clothes, spending money, and other necessary things. Another reason for working is to get experience in a particular field so that after graduation they can get a permanent job in the same or similar area.

Because FHS is located in a rural area, many of the boys are interested in helping on the farms.

Students Have Religious Fellowship

A part from school activities, Wednesday nights are set aside for church related groups. The church groups participate in many activities including: hayrides, potluck suppers, retreats, caroling, and roller skating parties.

The various church groups often work together on fund raising events for the community or charity. They even found time for Bible study and church school.

Halls Site Of Social Life

Believe it or not, students at FHS have some time for relaxtion. Before school walks around the halls give the students time to catch up on the latest gossip and for the romantic interludes.

The three minutes between classes give the students just enough time to get through the mad rush to the lockers are for the late-to-class sprints. When the last bell rings at 3:40 p.m. the halls are flooded with students but are emptied as quickly as they had filled.

Buses Kept Busy

Early in the morning, the buses pick up the rural students and take them to school. After school, they take a ''rowdy'' bunch home. Many things occur on these rides, such as fights, little kids crying, and older students telling the younger ones to be quiet.

The buses, each morning, takes a number of juniors and seniors to Brookings to attend Multi-District. On this ride the students may sleep, eat, play cards, or sing silly songs. Fights may occur, buy usually settle themselves.

The buses also take students to sports activities or other school events. Because of the many activities, the buses are kept busy hauling students to and from these events.

Disco Dances Highlight Events

The Homecoming festivities were topped off by a disco-dance for the students and alumni. It was held at the Spafford gym, site of all high school sponsored dances, after the football game on September 22. Brookings disco furnished the music and the expenses were covered by the admission charged at Little Orpheum and Coronation.

The students at FHS held their Second Annual Dance-a-thon on Nevember 9th and 10th. This dance was held in an effort to raise money to fight Multiple Schlerosis. Twenty-nine couples danced with three couples dancing up to 16 hours. It was held at the Flandreau Armory with Jon Michaels from KELO providing the disco music.

The Christmas dance sponsored by FFA-FHA was held on Saturday evening, December 9th with Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus selected by those attending.

Valentine's Day was celebrated by the student body at a sock hop, sponsored by the FHA.

Lunch Time Gives Energy To Strive On

Dinner, which is served in two shifts, provides students with a mental break each day from their studies. This time is used for more than eating, it seems, as the lunch room hums with the sounds of voices telling stories of last night's events or plans for after school.

This year the cooks added a third choice for meals, besides the regular meal or chef's salade; a fruit plate.

Vocational students, upon returning from Brookings, eat in the last 10 minutes of the meal shift and hurry to their first calss of the afternoon.

Top are Marc Miller, Brad Hammer, Brad Rhead, and Barry Tollefson eating their dinner with some other friends.

Right is Johnna Peters finishing her

A chance to really get involved in what you want to do is something that students can do at FHS.

Through the various activities that students can participate in, they learn new things, help others, and also become closer friends with their fellow students.

The activities at FHS are just what the word implies, ''active.'' There does not seem to be a week that goes by when there isn't a meeting by one group or another planned; and as much as the different groups try to avoid it, sometimes they have to hold two or more meetings on the same night! Activities do play an important role at FHS.

Homecoming Week Full Of Events

Homecoming activities carried on during the week of September 18th. During the week, each day has a certain dress code: Monday, hat and succer day; Tuesday, slop day; Wednesday, white socks and tennis shoes day; Thursday, jersey day: and, Friday, purple and gold day.

Senior students spent several nights painting the school rock and writing their names and nicknames on the parking lot.

On Thursday night, Little Orpheum was held in the school gym, and seven skits were presented by the student body. Homecoming candidates were introduced and King and Queen were crowned. Afterwards, a snake dance and a pep ralley were held on mainstreet.

The week ended on a happy note with the Fliers beating the West Central Trojans, 35-14. After the game, everybody went to the disco dance at the spafford gym.

'79' Royalty Crowned

Before the week of Homecoming, the senior class selects candidates for Homecoming King and Queen by voting for three boys and three girls. These votes are counted and the top five girls and boys become the candidates. During the week of Homecoming, the entire student body votes on who shall become the new King and Queen.

After the skits, on the night of Little Orpheum, the candidates are introduced as they walk up the aisle. This introduction tells who their parents are; the activities the candidates are involved in; and, their future plans.

Once the candidates have reached the stage, the 1978 Royalty gives a brief speech and procedes to crown the new King and Queen.

Freshmen Debaters Work For Experience

Five freshmen took the load of the debating this year to gain experience. Because of this and inclement weather, the teams were unable to attend many of the scheduled tournaments.

The teams did travel to the Silver Bowl Tournament at Sioux Falls Lincoln; the Karl Mundt Tournament at Madison High School; four conference and the District Debate tournament at Sioux Falls; and, the State Debate meet at Huron.

Students Compete In Individual Events

On November 1, seven students competed in the District Oral Interpretation contest at Colman. Two representatives from FHS were chosen to advance to the divisional tournament in Sioux Falls.

FHS was once again an affiliate member of the National Forensics League, an organization which recognizes students active in speech activities. This year there were nine active members.

FHS placed second in the Sioux Forensics League Conference Tournament in overall sweepstakes points. These points were earned over four different meets.

Band Award Winners

All-State tryouts were held on January 20 at Madison High School with seven students trying to seat themselves in the band. One student passed the tryouts and attended the All-State band at Spearfish, S.D. on March 23 and 24.

The Regional band contest was held at Augustana College on a cold, snowy February 7. For many participants the day began at 6:30 with the bus ride down to Augie. Another group followed at 11:00. The ensemble groups received six superior ratings. Six superiors were also given to individual soloists.

Seventeen music students spent their extra time before and after school practicing with the stage band. On March 29, they traveled to Augustana College in Sioux Falls for a band festival. The band did not place, but three individuals won awards.

Band Practices For Performances

During the football season, the marching band could be heard every morning at 7:30 practicing for their three, half-time performances. Also, they marched in the Hobo Day parade at Brookings.

Three concerts were held during the year. The Christmas Concert was a joint effort by the band and chorus. The ''Pops'' Concert was held in March. A chili and pie supper followed. The Spring Concert, was presented in May, had a guest soloist, Dr. Corliss Johnson.

The stage band held a performance in November, along with the ''B'' band and presented part of the program at the ''Pops'' Concert.

The stage band also participated in the Augustana Jazz Festival in March and held a dance in the Japanese Gardens early in May.

FFA Chapter Chosen Number One

Five members of the FFA Chapter attended the National Convention in Kansas City in November.

Throughout the year, the Chapter as involved in various types of judging schools. They also entered speaking contests along with Agri-Business and management courses.

The Chapter sponsored a Building Our South Dakota Communities project. This involved improving the city park and the Lake Campbell resort area.

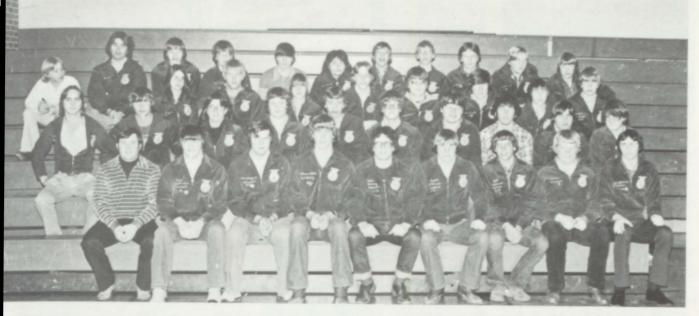

The highlight of the year, however, came in April when members of the Chapter attended the State Convention in Brookings. During this Convention, the Chapter was named the number one Chapter in the state. Several members of its group also won individual awards.

The FFA concluded their year with a potluck supper and an awards night on May 1.

FHA Adds To Activities

This year the FHA Chapter added a new money raising project to their agenda, selling decorative candles. They also made popcorn to sell at the concession stand for football, basketball, and wrestling.

The FHA'ers got into step by sponsoring two dances. The Christmas dance, which was held in December, and a Valentines dance held in February.

They met regularly throughout the year and often closed the evening by challenging the FFA'ers to a volleyball match. They also attended the Regional and State meetings as well as the District VII Leadership meeting where they learned about parliamentary procedures.

Other activities that the FHA group sponsored were: A Parent/Member banquet, Christmas caroling, nationality meeting night, guest night, FHA-FFA social, a style show, and the Senior Tea to honor the senior FHA'ers.

Yearbook Staff Plots School Year

The annual staff met once a week to design this year's yearbook and to write a story of the school year.

The co-editors attended a yearbook camp for one week at the SDSU campus in Brookings in June. They attended this institute to further their knowledge on how to put together a yearbook.

In October the staff attended a Press Convention at SDSU. The staff received an All-State plaque for the 1978 yearbook.

Later in October the staff attended a yearbook Forum held at the Holiday Inn at Brookings. At this Forum, members learned new trends and ideas in yearbook styles.

As a result of getting the first sixteen pages in early, a picture was placed on the end sheets of the annual free of charge.

Small Staff Continues Paper

The High Flier staff, consisting of five members, the year, met Mondays after school to put together a newspaper of school activities. A few of the articles included were: Senior of the week, sports round-up, and news items about the activities of various school organizations.

Some staff members attended the Press Convention in Brookings in October. They accepted a first class rating certificate that the 1977-78 High Flier had won.

During the year, the school paper sometimes did not appear in the local weekly, the Moody County Enterprise. This was because of a poor response by the students, and at times because of bad weather.

Chorus Presents "No, No, Nanette"

The FHS chorus presented this year the new, 1925 musical ''No, No, Nanette.'' This musical took place of a Spring concert and the All-School play.

The chorus began practicing for the presentation in January by choosing the leads and learning the chorus parts. As time went on, the members memorizing their parts and the various dance numbers. Two professional choreographers were hired to help the students with the dance routines.

After a month of daily rehearsals, the musical was presented in the high school gym on Thursday and Friday, April 19 and 20.

Choral Groups Present Concerts

Chorus, which meets three days a week, presented a Concert before the Christmas holidays. They sang a variety of Christmas songs.

On April 19th and 20th the chorus performed a musical play called ''No, No, Nannette.''

The swing choir sang at the Christmas and Pops concerts and at the Junior-Senior Banquet. The girls glee sang for those assembled at graduation.

All-Staters, Soloists Receive Honors

Eight members of the chorus were chosen to represent FHS in the All-State chorus in Rapid City on November 3 and 4.

To be selected the candidates sang, as a quartet, certain selected songs. The winners were then given the All-State music to work up and memorize.

The Regional Vocal contest was held on March 21 at Madison. Two soloists received superior ratings and two an excellent rating. Swing Choir received an excellent rating, also.

''Sports'' is such a small, short word for what it implies at FHS. There is so much more behind that word that it is hard to put it down on paper.

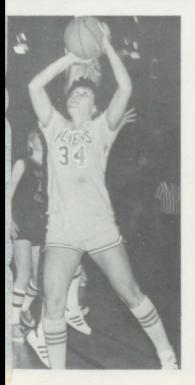

There is a lot of time spent on sports, more time then one realizes. Hour upon hour is spent in practice and training with the coaches and players working towards perfection. Striving to get into both mental and physical shape. This means running drills over and over again to learn the technique and then applying it to an actual play.

But all this time in practice pays off. To pin that opponent, beat the person across the line, or to win makes all that hard work feel like it was nothing. You don't even have to win to feel good about sports. Running a perfect play in practice or running a distance without stopping makes that time spent worthwhile.

Students that are in sports have a certain feeling or ''fever'' for sports. This makes them go out to prove what they can do. Now, in these pages, we will show you what they did.

Girls Work On Distance Running

The girl's cross-country team had eight members during the 1978 season. They participated in seven meets in which they captured two, second places, three, third places; one, fourth place; and one, ninth place.

In the Conference and Regional meets the team received a third and fifth place, respectively.

Volleyball Season Held In February

The volleyball season was held during the month of February with nine matches and the conference meet.

The varsity squad held a record of seven wins and two losses, playing the Indian School, Sioux Valley, while Tri-Valley, and Brookings.

The season was completed when the varsity squad placed second in the Conference Tournament.

The ''B'' squad completed their season with a record of two wins and seven losses.

Girls Place Second In District

The girls' varsity basketball team, under a new coach, played 20 games and finished the season with an 8-12 record.

The Flier team, throughout the year, was hampered by injuries to several key players.

In the Conference Tournament, held at Brandon Valley on November 2-4, the girls played three games. They were defeated in each of these games and wound up in 8th place.

The District Tournament was played at Brookings on November 13-15. The girls won thei first two games, but were defeated in the championship by Sioux Valley.

"B" Team Has Trying Year

The 1978-70 girls' basketball ''B'' squad practiced every night in the gym except on game nights.

The ''B'' team consisting of seven freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior, played 14 games, winning 2 and losing 12.

Girls Set School Records

The girls' track team ran in three invitational meets this year. They placed third at Elk Point and at FHS's meet and fourth at Brandon Valley. The girls also hosted two triangulars.

At the Howard Wood Relays, two entries received fourth place while in the Conference meet, held in Sioux Falls, the team placed fourth.

FHS hosted the Region III meet and the State "A" prelims. In the Region meet, held on Thursday, May 17, eleven girls qualified for State but were unable to place in that meet. Several school records, however, were set during these meets.

Seniors Final Season

Practice for the 1978 season began two weeks before the season opener with Arlington which was played to a 14-14 tie.

In the conference opener against Brandon Valley the Fliers were defeated, 7-28. The following week the Fliers were again unsuccessful against conference opponent, Elk Point, 0-20.

The Homecoming game against conference foe West Central, found the Fliers winning, 35-14.

Away from home, though, losses were suffered by the Fliers against conference foes, Beresford and Canton, 16-36 and 3-26, respectively.

Two home game stands found the Fliers winning over Lennox, 10-6 and Dell Rapids, 20-6, to bring the season to a final record of 3-4-1.

Team Suffers Set-backs

The varsity squad wrestled in eleven duel matches, winning four and losing seven. They entered two invitational tournaments, placing 5th and 6th.

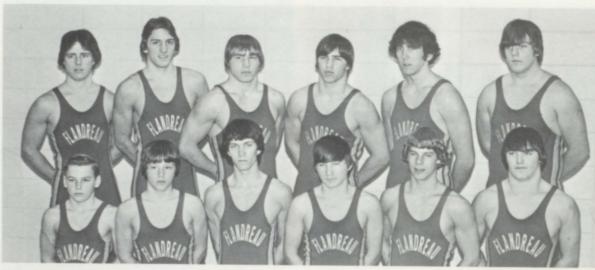

Howard hosted the Districts at which three FHS team members won to advance to Regions at Dell Rapids.

The team suffered more than the usual amount of injuries and illnesses this season, which hindered the team's total output.

Four members of this year's squad were seniors, with eight underclassmen returning for more action next year.

Bottom are the four senior wrestlers. Clock-wise are Todd Dietrich, Joe Greco, Todd Sanderson, and Matt Parsley.

"B" Team Has Frustrating Season

The ''B'' team wrestlers had a disappointing season. They lost each of their ten matches.

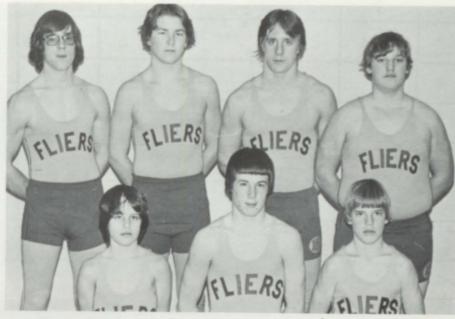

These results were caused partly by the lack of participation and also inexperience. Also, many of the ''B'' team wrestlers were moved up to the ''A'' team during the season because of injuries to varsity wrestlers.

District Loss Ends Season

This year's varsity basketball team had a season record of 6-14 with five of these wins coming against nonconference foes.

In the Big Eight Conference the team placed seventh with an 0-6 record. They fared better in the Conference Tournament in placing sixth by defeating West Central.

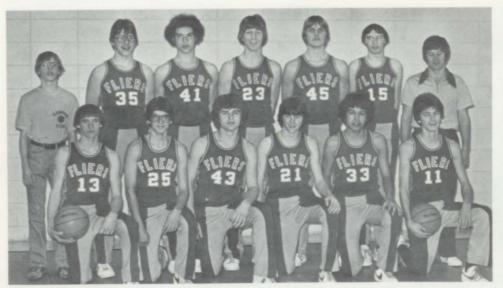

At the District 10 Tournaments held at Brookings, the team lost in first round action to Elkton, the eventual District Champions.

"B" Team Is Young

Thirteen sophomores and juniors saw action this season on the ''B'' boys' basketball team, who closed their season with a record of 3-12.

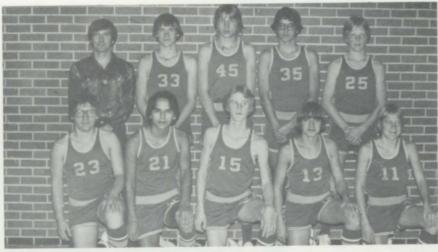

In conference action the team lost their six conference games, but defeated nonconference foes, DeSmet, Hamlin, and Dell Rapids.

Freshmen Have 6-4 Season

Freshmen basketball had a winning season with a record of six wins and four losses. All of their losses were to competition in the ''A'' schools.

These 9th grade boys also won a freshmen tourney held at Arlington.

Golfers Field One Team

The boys' golfing team tied for fourth in the Conference Tourney held at Elk Point, and they placed third at the Region II meet held in Beresford.

The boys golfed at four regular duals and won two out of the four.

FHS didn't have a girls' golf team this year because there weren't enough members participating.

Boys Win Region III

The boys' track team participated in two invitational meets at Elk Point and Flandreau in which they placed second and fourth. They also ran in two other invitationals at Pipestone and Howard Wood in Sioux Falls but did not place as a team.

In the Conference meet held on Augustana College's track, the Fliers placed sixth.

A triangular and a dual meet completed the regular track schedule.

The Fliers hosted the Region III meet which they won with 68 points.

The State Class ''A'' Prelims were held May 25 and hosted by FHS with the finals held at Howard Wood in Sioux Falls the next day. Two FHS entries received a 4th place for a team total of four points.

Cheerleaders Provide Spirit

In the spring of ''78'' four cheerleading squads for varsity sports were chosen. They were selected by a panel of judges consisting of the SDSU cheerleaders, FHS class officers, and the varsity coaches. Each girl had to do two cheers and three jumps. They were judged on their appearance, attitude, and ability, also.

In the fall four girls were chosen to cheer for the boys' 'B' basketball team. They were judged by five teachers and selected the freshman and sophomore classes.

During the year, the squads spent many hours practicing to perfect their routines. They also decorated the athlete's lockers and held pep rallies at which they had cheering contests and performed skits.

Drill Team Performs Own Routines

Seventeen girls were selected for the Flier drill team by six members of the school faculty. The girls performed at the seven home boys' basketball games during halftimes of the varsity games.

The drill team made up their own routines to several songs such as: ''El Cumbanchero,'' ''I've Got Rhythm,'' ''Grease Lightening,'' ''The Horse,'' ''Smoke on the Water,'' and ''The Best Disco in Town.''

The teachers and the classes they teach is what school is all about. During the school day, student's classes seem to be the main topic of conversation. Just walking dwn the hall between classes you will hear students talking about the English test, the government lecture, that chemistry lab, or other assignments.

Some classes are hard, but they can be fun. Discussions on the latest topics, opinions expressed on a certain subject, or projects to be worked on are some things that make up the daily routine.

Not to be forgotten are the teachers who teach them. While some students say they can't wait to graduate, many don't realize that a lot of these teachers will come back again next year to teach the same subject another year to a different group of students.

In the next fifteen pages you will meet the people who make this school. From the teachers to the administrators to all the others associated with the school that help guide these teenagers through their four years of high school.

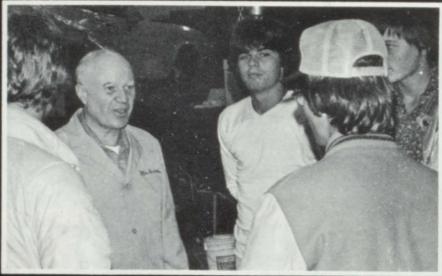

Trades Aid Students

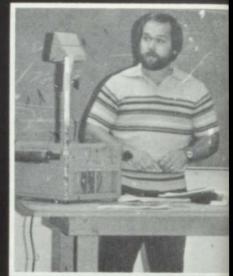

Auto Mechanics familiarizes students with the opportunities in the automobile industy. They learn to identify parts, diagnose electrical and mechanical problems, and learn practical experience by working on cars.

Students in Electronics class start by learning the basics of electricity and electronics. Next the class explores areas such as circuits, radio, television, housewiring, and repair. Class consists of lecture and lab work.

The main objective of Building Trades is to teach the basic skills in the building industry. Students learn this by building two houses. Both rough and finish carpentry are taught, along with electrical wiring and masonry work.

Top are Tom Nelson, Donny Lathem, and Tommy Thomas trying to decide what to do next with this engine.

Jobs Part Of Class

A Model Office Simulation gives students in Business Education experience in operating duplication equipment and electronic calculators. They learn filing, accounting procedures, and business letter writing. Finally, the students receive six weeks of on-the-job-training.

Sales/Service helps students work with invoices, check inventory, cashier techniques, and the display of merchandise. Students obtain jobs for their training and use these jobs as part of the class. Also included are tours, guest speakers, classroom instruction, and running a candy store.

In Health Occupations, the students are taught, actual hospital situations and are able to use this training two days a week at the Brookings Hospital.

Students Expand Basics In Vocations

Students in Typing 1-II and Shorthand work on learning the basics and improving their previously acquired skills.

In the second and last periods of the day students in Bookkeeping learn the basic principles of keeping books or records for small service businesses as well as merchandising businesses.

Home Economics and Independent Living teach the student practical uses of sewing, cooking and budgeting skills which they may use in the future. The classes consists of lectures, exams, and tours.

Top is Mr. Clifton Sutton who teaches Typing, I, II, and Shorthand.

Courses Offer Continuing Education

The Art classes involve students in learning basic design fundamentals and how to apply them. The Fine Arts are studied in Art II along with Art History.

Students in Industrial Arts work with metals, woodworking, drafting, and electricity. An advanced woodworking class is ffered as an extension of the general shop unit. An Industrial Arts program is also offered to the girls.

Vocational Agriculture classes give students experiences in crop production, animal science, agricultural mechanics, and farm management.

Performances Are Many

The vocal department presented Christmas and Spring concerts, a musical, and performed at the Junior-Senior banquet and at Graduation this year.

The ''A'' Band was busy performing in half-time field shows and preparing for similar concerts. Many of the members, also, participated in solo and ensemble contests as well.

The Stage Band rehearsed one or two nights a week. They performed for Homecoming, a November concert, and the Pops and Spring Concert. They, also, participated in the Augustana Jazz Festival in the spring.

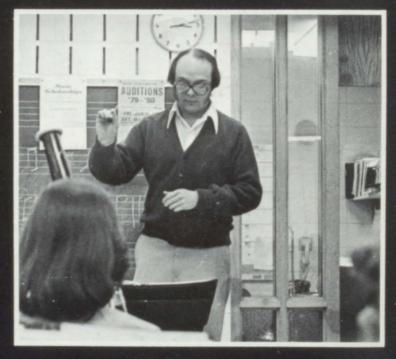

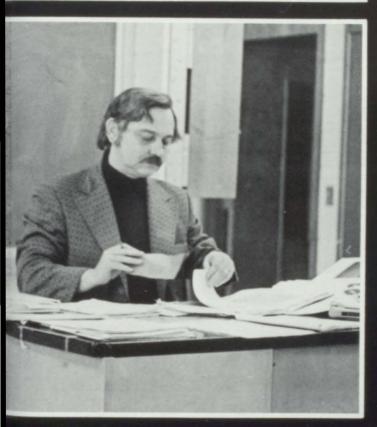

Top is Mr. Gene Gorden, director of the ''A'' band.

Exploring Sciences

The biology department spends time studying animals, plants, ecology, dissecting frogs and white rats, projects of making leaf and insect collections, human anatomy, and physiology.

The chemistry department is involved in the fundamentals of chemistry, qualitative analysis, and organic chemistry.

Physics class studies astronomy, basic physics, and electricity.

In the math department, the students keep busy by working problems in algebric ways.

Physical science classes study metrics, weather, simple machines, and introductory materials of all sciences.

Top is Mr. Herbert Hofer, who teaches Biology I, II, and Physical Science.

Middle is Mr. William Boyd who teaches Algebra I, II, Geometry, Senior Math, and Physical Science

Basics Of English Grammar, Literature

English I is divided into the two basic areas of grammar and an introduction to literature. For those taking English II, speeches and short stories make up the year. Those students taking Speech learn the fundamentals of and the basic types of speeches. Students, also, do charades, pantomine., hold panel discussions, and study parliamentary procedure.

During the second semester, English II classes, deal with reading and comprehension of short stories, literature techniques, writing styles of authors, vocabulary, and the writing of two book reports.

English III consists of a study of famous American authors with grammar, vocabulary, and spelling added at various times throghout the year.

English IV requires that seniors read at least three novels; and do units on satire, the supernatural, and death and dying. Students in this class, also study how to use the library and how to write a letter of application or a research paper.

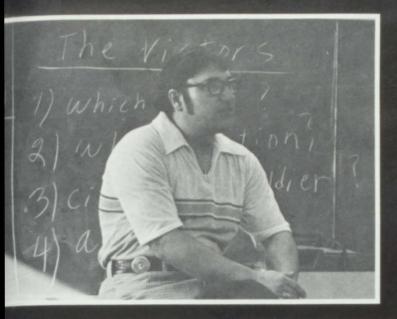

A resource room has been added to the language arts program this year. It is set up to assist those students who have had difficulty in the past with English and reading.

Language Taught

The library provides students and teachers with both resources and reference materials. Visual and audio equipment are also available for their use.

Students in German I study speaking, listening, and writing the language.

Advanced German students attend the Oktoberfest at Augustana, go German Christmas caroling, eat German meals, and do a variety of other activities.

Advanced speech is composed of two units: oral interpretation and drama.

Past, Present Studied

Sophomore students in World History, study the Past through the use of work sheets, movies, lectures and term defiitions.

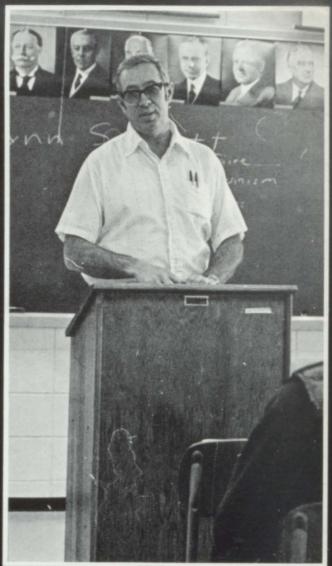

U.S. History is made-up basically of lectures with some time spent on discussions of newsworthy articles.

Senior students are required to take one semester of Government. These students study elections and the results, hold a general school election, and listen to outside speakers.

Economics is geared to give seniors information that will be useful in every day life. Areas studied include: fundamentals of consumerism, banking, labor unions, and business law.

Seniors in Sociology are neouraged to become involved in the class discussions. These discussions help each of them to understand the other's view points about society.

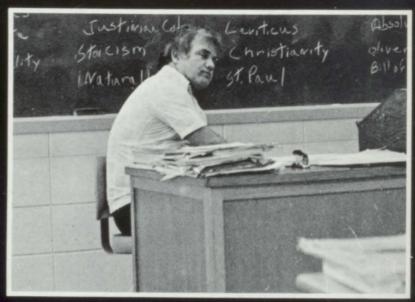

Top is Mr. Eldon ''Gus'' Barnes who teaches U.S. History and Sociology.

Phy. Ed. Provides Variety Of Activities

Girls' physical education classes are geared toward lifetime sports activities. Through the course of the year, students can expect to become involved in a number of activities including: Tennis, badminton, volleyball, archery, tumbling, basketball, wiffleball, cageball, softball, and kickball.

Boys' physical education classes teach a variety of sports: Archery, gymnastics, volleyball, badminton, football, basketball, and golf. Good sportsmenship is also stressed.

Students Learn From Students

During the course of the year, FHS receives two groups of student teachers. This year, we had four teachers from Dakota State College, at Madison and six teachers from South Dakota State University at Brookings.

These teachers usually take over several classes of students and teach over a course of eight to ten weeks under the guidance of their cooperating teachers.

This situation provides the student teacher with some teaching experience and give the high school students a change in atmosphere.

Office Help Handles Paper Work

The business manager of the school district keeps the books, writing checks and takes minutes at all board meetings.

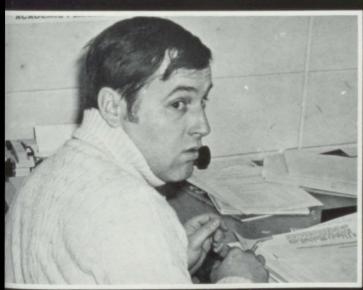

The secretaries in the principal's office issues lunch tickets, answers the phone, and writes out make-up slips or late slips.

The secretary/business manager for the East Central Multi District must keep all school records, write all the checks, and do general office work.

The guidance counselor is in charge of grades 7-12. He deals with vocational planning, individual scheduling, and personal problems.

Those In Charge

The school board, an elected body, sets all policies and regulations that the school district follows. The board is also responsible for hiring or releasing school employees.

The superintendent attends board meetings; prepares school budgets; represents the school in local, state, and federal areas; and, implements the policies of the board.

The director of the Multi-District implements the Multi-District board's policies. He works with his staff to provide quality vocational programs at the Multi-District level.

All Comforts Of Home

The cooks are here bright and early every weekday, to prepare meals for the teachers and the student body.

The daily menu includes the choice of a hot meal, a chef's salad, or a fruit plate.

Meals are paid for by purchasing a meal ticket in the office. For each meal that one eats, our faithful ticket puncher takes a punch from your ticket.

Top are the people who run the kitchen. They are Mrs. Beatrice Smallfield, Mrs. Esther Bendt, Mrs. Wadie Becker, Mrs. Minne Haugen, Mrs. Doris Solem, and Mrs. Rita Emter.

Bus Services Needed

Without our bus drivers, transportation to and from school would be hard to come by. Nine buses deliver rural students to school every day, and return them to their homes at the end of the school day. Buses also take students to the Multi-District in Brookings and to other school activities that are out-of-town. Bus drivers must take both a written and a driving test to qualify for this job.

The school, grounds, football stadium, and field are kept in shape by the custodians. The heating/air-conditioning system is maintained by the maintenance engineer.

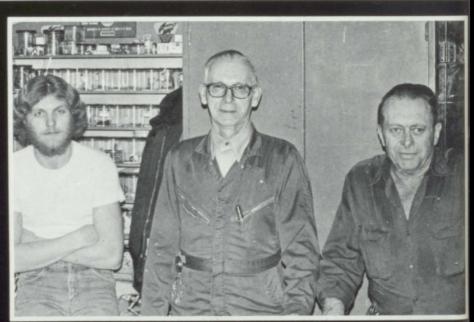

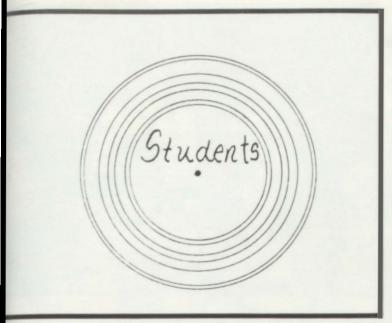

Top is Mr. Jim Fahy handing out milk in the lunch line as Saythong Sengdara and Tom Ernesti pick up their meals.

Students on the following pages give the "fever" to 1979. Football games will still be played and classes attended but never again by this same bunch of students. They are what makes the school year 1978-79 original and different.

It may seem strange, but a class of students is almost like a large family. They feel responsible for each other, they feel they must have unity, and they are always getting together to plan projects or recreational activities for the group. But after the final dance, the final game, and final day of school, this ''family'' will continue to retain the memories of the 1978-79 year.

These pages are dedicated to the students in their own ''families,'' whether it represents the class of '79', '80', '81', or '82'.

Juniors Host Prom

Knights In White Satin was the theme for the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom.

The Banquet, which was held in the high school lunch room, was catered by Blue Mound Inn. This area was decorated with red and black streamers with pictures of a castle, a dragon, and a knight on the walls.

The Prom was decorated with white and blue streamers suspended from the ceiling and down the walls.

A replica of a castle was placed on one side and served as the picture taking area. The band, Kid Death and the Screamers, entertained from the stage.

After the Prom, the local theater showed the movie ''Force Ten From Navroe,'' The bowling alley was open as well as the Methodist church basement, which featured a ''cozy fire.''

To complete the evening, the Junior mothers served breakfast at the K. C. Hall.

Seniors Carry Out Traditions

The senior class of seventy-nine occupied themselves during the year with various activities.

Homecoming week, one of their first activities, turned out to be very enjoyable. The seniors spent most of their spare time painting the ''Rock'' and the parking lot. The week ended with two seniors being crowned at coronation and a rewarding football victory.

An added project this year was the ''Haunted House.'' Many seniors worked on this project which was used to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Baccalaureate and graduation closed out the year as many of the seniors looked forward to the future.

Seniors 'Haunt' House To Raise Money

This year Halloween was celebrated with something new. The senior class decided to ''haunted a house!''

The idea was brought up at a class meeting by the president. The city donated the old jail house and local businesses donated supplies.

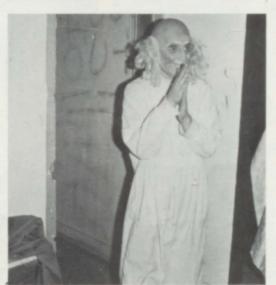

Five weeks before Halloween, the class started this ''ghostly project.'' After hours of work building, painting, and conjuring up ideas, the ''haunted house'' was ready.

During the week of October 23 to November 1, visitors who had paid a $1.50 admission, were shown such things as ''three famous murders,'' ''a mummy,'' ''Dracula and his wife,'' ''the making of Frankenstein,'' and much, much, more!

The hours of work paid off with about $1,800.00 being donated to the March of Dimes. This money was divided equally at the local and national levels.

Graduation, Awards

Senior Vespers were held May 20 at 8:00. Reverend Noel Vold gave the Invocation and the Benediction and Reverend Walter Nelson gave the sermon.

Commencement was held a week later on May 27 at 2:00. Msgr. Jerome Duraczynski gave the Invocation and Benediction. The speaker for the afternoon was Governor William Janklow, a native of Flandreau.

This year senior awards were presented at commencement. In previous years the awards had been given at an Awards night. These awards were given to outstanding seniors in different areas.

Mr. Stanley Hammer, board president, presented the diplomas to the 57 graduating seniors.

Top are seniors who won scholarships. They are Brian Johnson and Johnna Peters, Wittern Scholarship; and, Tracie LaPlante and Blaine Ailts, Alice M. Rusch Scholarship.
