Who's Doing What in Student Life

Special Events Involve 4-H Members

Crafts night, cake walks, roller skating, hayrides and showing livestock are some events that involve 4-H members. They, also, raise money for various causes such as Easter Seals, the Burn Fund and the Crippled Children's Hospital.

Once a month, evening meetings are held. At these meetings the members give demonstrations, hear committee reports, and guest speakers.

Right is Mrs. Connie Hove presenting Lisa Jespen, Gerianne Headrick, and Jeanine Christensen with an award for 4-H achievement.

Breaks Taken During Day

Breaks from the school day are taken between classes, mornings, or at lunch time. During this time, many students may congregate in the library, which is sometimes used as a student lounge because of the computers, magazines, and books.

Pep rallies are held the last few minutes of the school day before home games. Talks from the coaches, competition between classes, and pep songs by the band highlight these activities.

Top are Scott Delaney and Chad Hahn at the computer in the library. The computer is used during study halls to play different games.

Left are Louis Schreier, Doris Elverud, Cheryl Auren, Jim Eich, and Carol Bisson cheering at a pep rally. Pep rallies are held the last 10 minutes of the day.

Halls Serve Many Purposes

Contrary to popular belief, the halls do more than provide a path to classes and a place to put lockers.

They, also, serve as a "track where every morning the students walk around and around and around before classes begin.

At noon they are used as a student lounge where everyone migrates after their lunch break to discuss the gossip of the day.

Top are Blaine Tirrel, Arron Smith, and others standing in the halls talking.

Middle Right are Tammi Nussbaum and Jeanie Hammer lounging after lunch.

Class Activities Provide Future

Most of the students school time is spent inside the classroom, reading books, taking notes, or studying for tests.

Students might consider this the worst part of school and can't wait until Friday, but inside the classroom is where we do the learning and preparing for the future.

Top is Roger Bennett dissecting a shark in Biology II for a lab.

Left is Mrs. Gladys English casting her vote on election day, while Brad Keith, Jan Emter, and Sonja Bock take charge of the ballot boxes for government class.

Part-time Jobs Held By Many

When school ends at 3:35, many students go to part-time jobs by four o'clock. These jobs vary from dish-washers, waitresses, clerks, mechanics, or aids.

The average pay is about three dollars per hour. This money is used for sparetime activities, such as, dances, gas for riding around, shows, concerts, food, clothes, as well as, saving for college or the future.

Youth Activities Include Church

Students can get involved in a variety of activities every Wednesday night by attending youth group meetings sponsored by local churches.

The various youth groups use their time to plan holiday parties, hay rides, or fund raisers.

Fund raisers consist of pancake feeds and babysitting children in the Sunday School nurseries. With the money raised, the youth attend summer camps and local rallies.

Who's Where in Sports

Eight Returnees; Fifth At Region

Twelve boys competed in cross-country this year, of which eight were returning members. With the experience of the returning eight, the team maintained last year's team standings.

The boys ran in six meets placing fifth in the Conference at Salem and fifth in Regions at Madison. Other standings were second at Elkton, third at Madison and the Indian School, and a fifth at Sioux Valley.

Top is Rick Gullickson who placed 3rd in the Region and 8th at the State meet.

Right is Louis stretching out before running.

Fewer Girls Run; Two Attend State

There were fewer girls competing in cross-country this year including three returning letter winners. Overall seven members participated.

The girls ran in six meets this year. They placed fourth in the Conference meet at Salem and sixth at Regions in Madison. Two attended the State meet.

The other standings were second at Sioux Valley and the Indian School; fourth at Elkton; and, seventh at the Salem Invitational.

Top is Trudy Dappen competing in a meet.

Middle Left is the girls' cross-country team. They are Kris Jenkins, Sandy Berjard, Danelle Crawford, Audrey Jorgenson, Trudy Dappen, Sonja Bock, Marietta McGlone, and Tammy Dappen.

Far Left is Danelle, who placed 65th in State competition.

Left is Kris who went to State also, and placed 30th.

Undefeated Year; First Since 1952.

For the first time since 1952, the varsity football team completed their regular season undefeated. This season, also, included a Big Sioux Conference championship.

Adverse weather conditions were factors in three of the regular season games. Games against the Salem and Indian School teams were played in pouring rain. The Parker game was, also, played in intermittent showers.

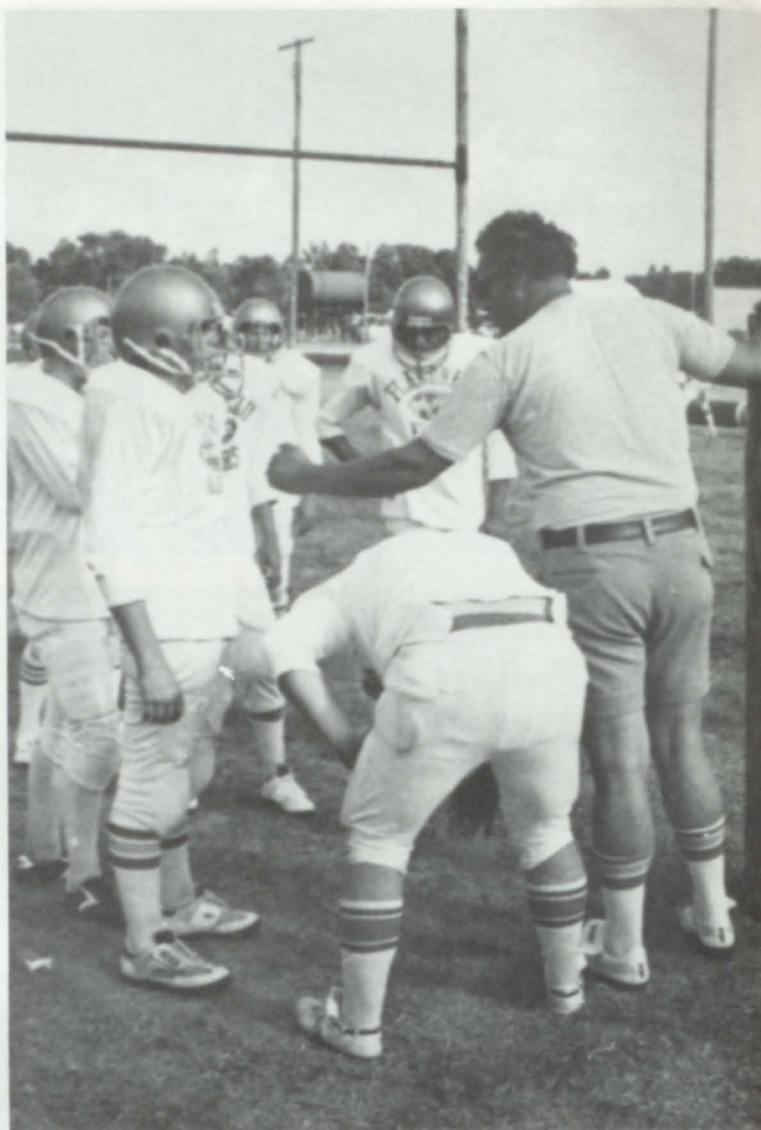

The final conference game against Dell Rapids, which gave the Fliers the championship, found the score tied at half-time. Before T.V. news cameras, the second half proved to be a different story with the Fliers scoring 23 points to the Quarriers 6.

Fliers Enter Playoffs

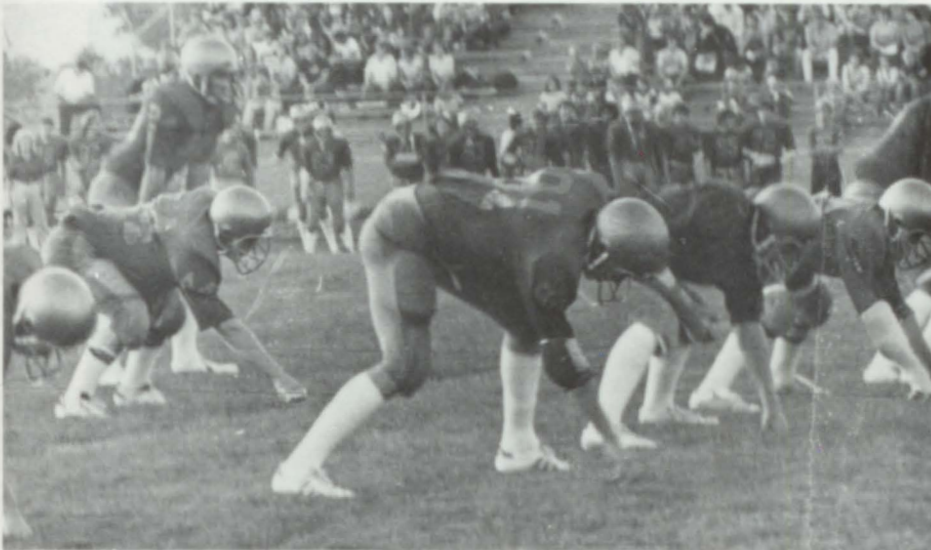

The Fliers lead Region One in playoff points throughout the year. They accumulated 57 points.

The opening round, used for the second year to determine State champions in various classes, found the Fliers entertaining the Beresford Watchdogs.

The Fliers scored sixteen points in the first half while the Watchdogs scored six.

During half time, the weather again made its presence known. When half-time was over, snow covered the field. On the slippery field, the Fliers were able to score one more touchdown while the Watchdogs scored three.

Girls Have Little Experience

The girls' basketball team, having graduated all five starters, had little or not varsity experience to begin the year.

The new coach started practices in August, even before school started.

The team consisted of four freshmen, two sophomores, two juniors, and four seniors.

Weather Hampers Track Season

The girls' track team had twenty-three participants this year with only one senior. They practiced nightly after school and had all kinds of weather to contend with. Snow and rain stunted the amount of practice they had and caused seven out of ten scheduled meets to be attended.

One Attends State Meet

At Region 3A, the relay teams cut several seconds off their previous times, but placed fourth and fifth.

Only one girl went to the State meet to run in the 100 meter hurdles.

The State meet was held on May 27 and 28 with the prelims in Madison and the finals in Sioux Falls.

Weather Conditions Shorten Season

Bad spring weather conditions made for a short track season this year. Snow and cold weather caused three meets to be cancelled.

Only eight of eleven scheduled meets were able to be attended.

Of the eight meets attended, the boys placed first at three of them.

Region Title Lost By Single Point

The boys missed the Regional championship by one point, falling to Sioux Valley 74 to 73. The Region 3A meet was held May 19 in Flandreau.

Six boys went on to the State meet in individual events, as well as, three relay teams.

The prelims were held on May 27, at Madison and Sioux Falls hosted the finals.

Who's in what Curriculum

Career Courses Offered

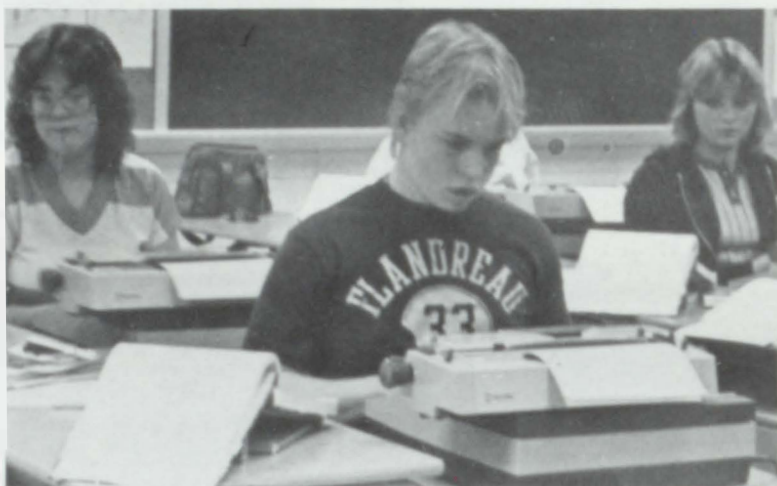

Students in Ag. I-IV took field trips to learn more about ag production and management.

Industrial Arts students held an open house at the end of the year to show their major wood projects.

Home Ec. classes worked on sewing projects, family planning and marriage, as well as, food preparation.

The business students learned the basics of typing, accounting, and shorthand.

Students in Art I-III drew sketches, worked with clay, painted, and did screen painting.

Top is Stacie Cranston babysitting a group of children as part of a Home Ec. project.

Above are Debbie Duffert, Blaine Tirrel, and Sally Peterson concentrating on their assignment for Typing.

Right is Tim Schipper filling the glue bottle in Industrial Arts class.

Required Courses Needed To Graduate

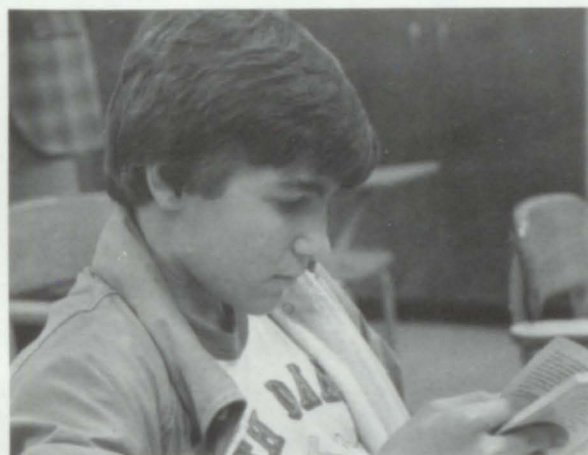

A required curriculum helps students to build credits toward graduation and to meet state requirements.

The English department includes classes in grammar, literature, speech, and a foreign language.

Science classes teach students the use of microscopes, chemicals, and other scientific equipment, as well as, anatomy.

The social sciences give an understanding of national and foreign governments, as well as, a perspective of what life after high school might be like.

Math courses instruct students in the use of numbers, geometrical figures, and equations.

Elective Classes Keep Students Busy

Through concerts, the band and chorus provided entertainment.

The P.E. classes participated in games such as badminton, basketball, football, jacari, volleyball, and other leisure time activities.

Top are Scott Delaney, Kari Anderson, and Tammy Benson playing badminton during PE class

Who's teaching in Faculty

Languages Used In Everyday Life

Lectures, reading, video taping and watching speeches, working to perfect grammar usage, and translating German are a few of the projects covered by the English and Language departments.

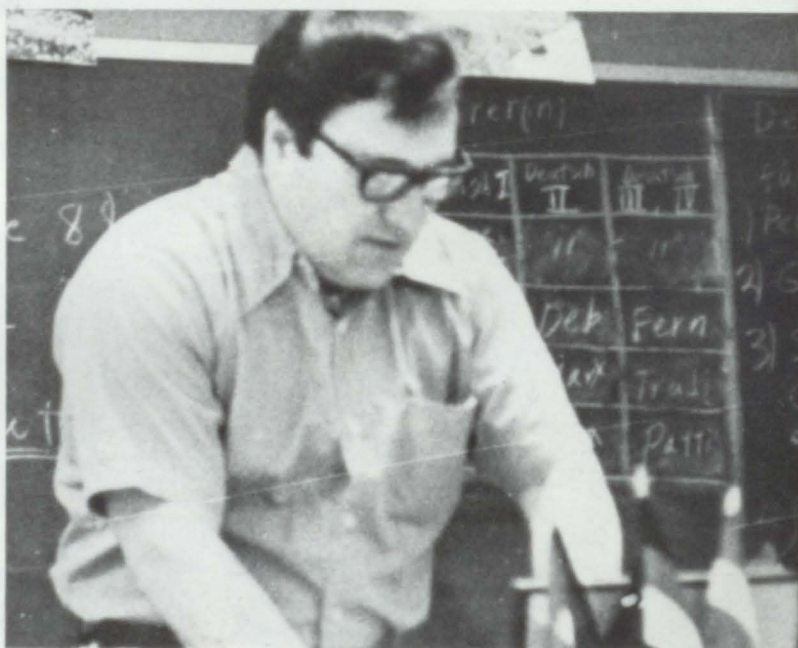

Students attended the Oktoberfest in Sioux Falls at Augustana College to extend their knowledge of the German language and customs. While the English classes used the library as their main source of knowledge. Some students wrote twelve page term papers, while others gave written or oral book reports.

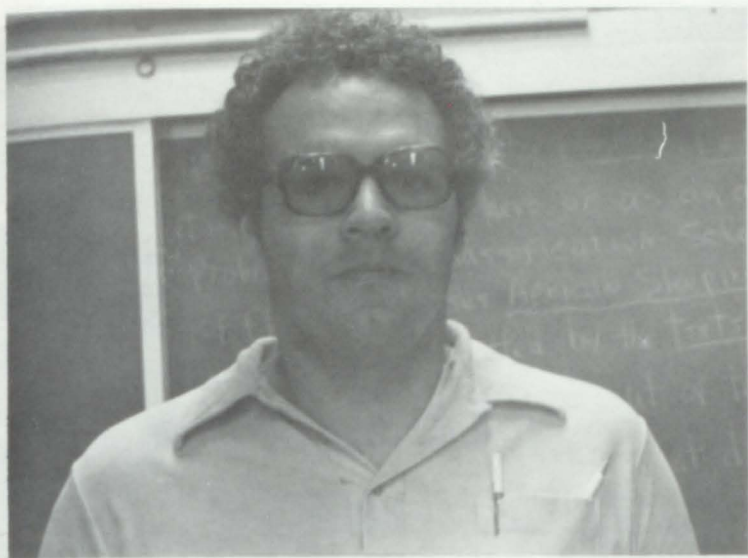

Top is Mrs. Mary James in one of her English classes. She teaches English I and IV

Science, Math Go Hand-In- Hand

Science and math classes depend on one another to provide and build concepts.

Labs, in which students use microscopes and chemicals: field trips, (Biology II visiting the banks of the Sioux river); and, other scientific experimental projects play a part in the science courses.

With the use of figures, students solve not only numeral equations but, also, theorems. A field trip to the Eros Data Center near Sioux Falls gave Algebra II some first-hand education with computers.

Top is Mr. Bruce Porisch, who teaches courses in Biology and Physical Science.

Above is Mr. Erwin Schaefer contemplating a mathematical equation. Mr. Schaefer teaches Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Senior Math.

Social Courses Use Variations

The social sciences found a variety of methods used to present the necessary information with the lecture method the most common.

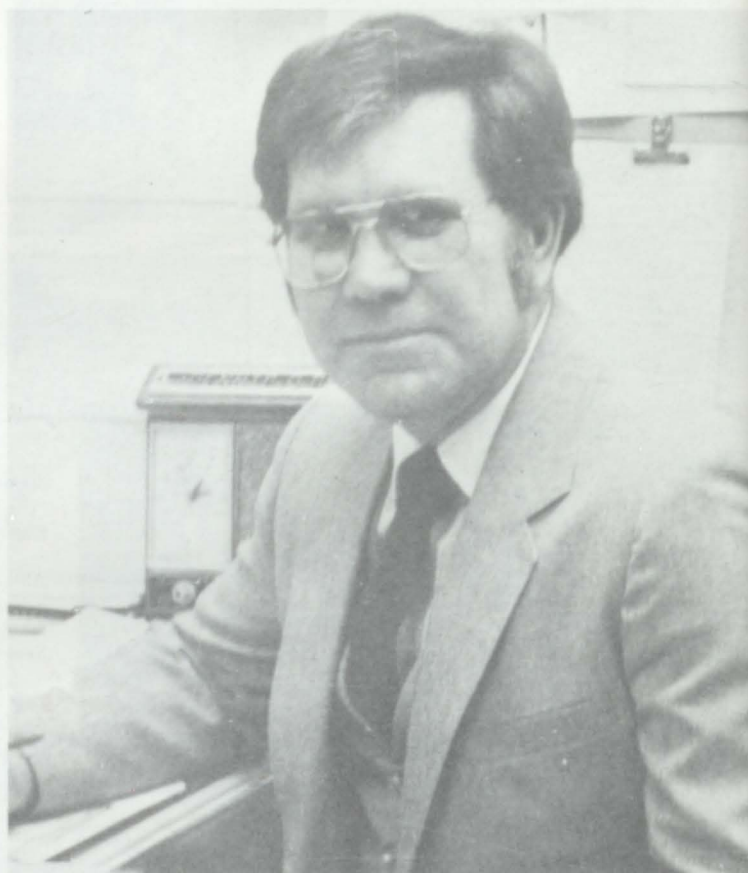

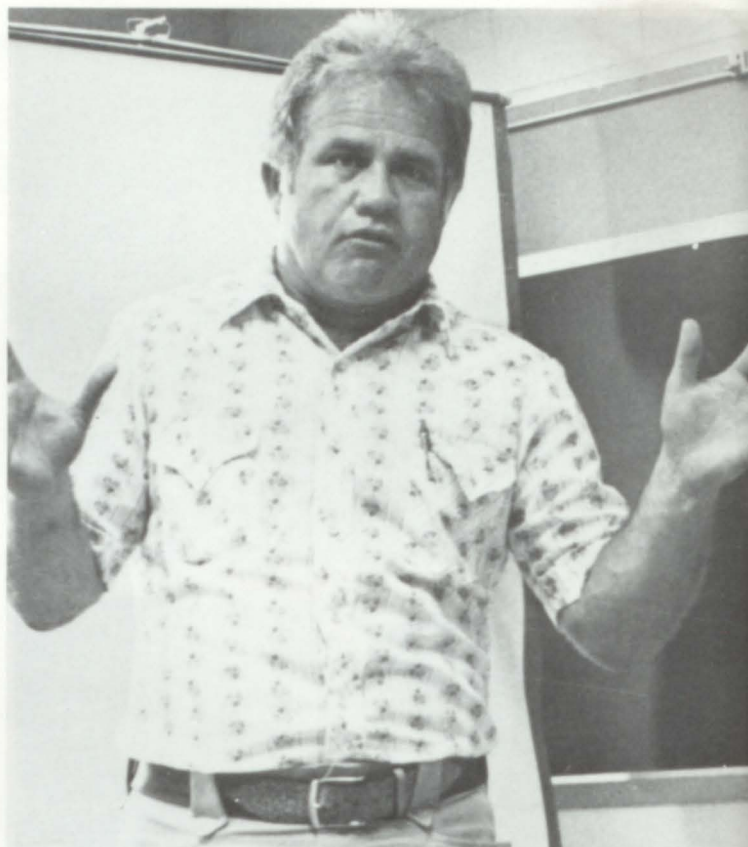

These instructors, also, had their classes watching films, working with maps, taking surveys, doing income tax problems, figuring IQ scores, and watching TV series.

Top is Mr. James McGlone, who teaches World History, Government, and Physical Education

Above is Mr. Roger Graff, who has the courses of U S History, Senior Problems, and Sociology

Left is Mr. Dennis Rhead. He teaches Psychology and Physical Education.

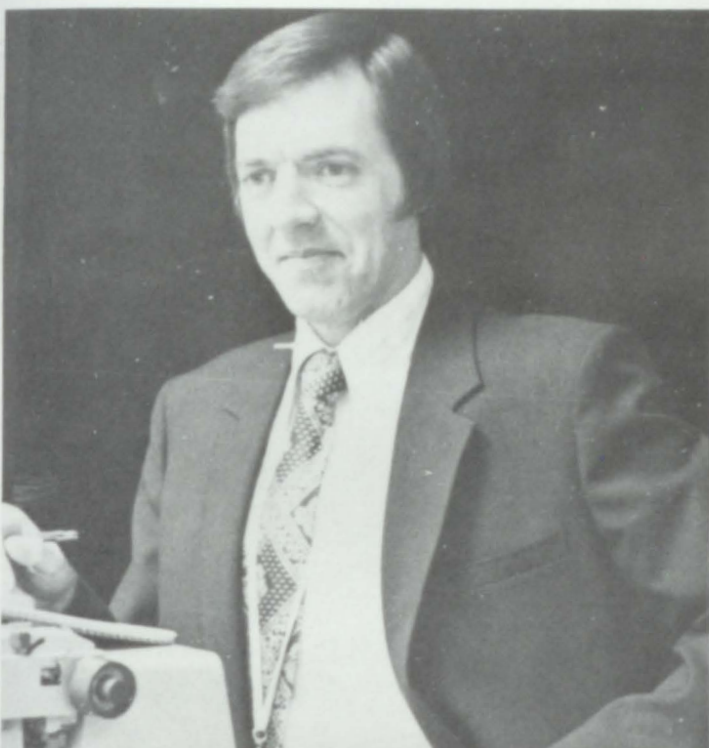

Vocational Classes Offer Choices

Business helps students learn the most accurate and correct way of typing. Shorthand students learn how to take dictation and translate it. You may, also, learn how to keep your records up-to-date and how to fill out a payroll record.

In the career choice classes, you learn everything from where the meal comes from to how it's prepared, as well as, budgeting, and evaluation.

Shop and Industrial Arts teach students how to use the basic tools and machines to work on a wood project. They, also, learn drafting, safety, and wood staining.

Left is Mrs. Linda Sebrasse taking a moment from setting up a schedule for her Home Economics classes for when she will be on maternity leave.

Art, Music

Broaden Abilities

Art, band, and chorus added to FHS's activities by broadening the student's natural abilities.

Art brings out hand-eye coordination and other special abilities of the students.

In band, tryouts were held to determine chair positions. More discipline was, also, brought to the program by the new band teacher.

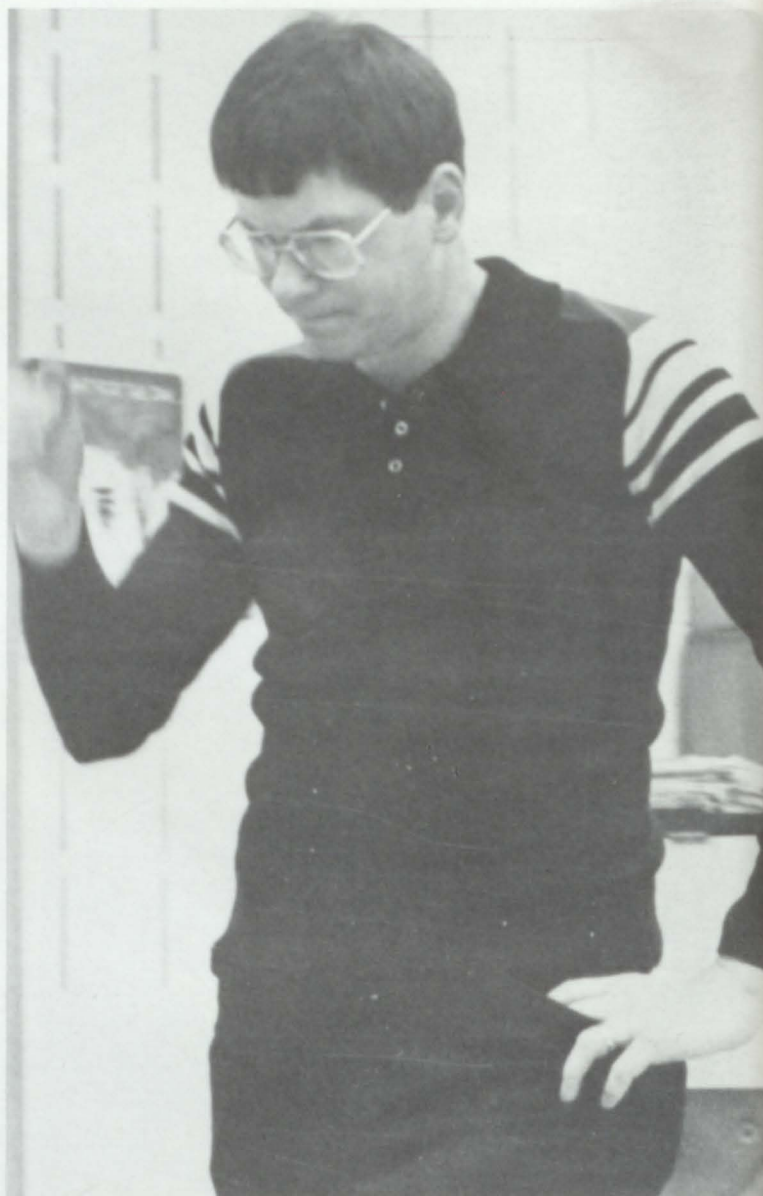

Chorus provided both entertainment and an opportunity to broaden vocal skills. Lessons were given to those who wanted to take them.

Top is Mr. Larry Wilske directing his first-hour chorus class.

Above is Mr. Steve Solem, band director, exiting from a performance by the band. Standing behind him are band members, Chris Leibenathus and Dawn Redwing.

Faculty Helps In Special Areas

The librarian/audio visual director takes care of the visual equipment and tapes most varsity home games. He, also, files magazines, newspapers, and makes sure books are brought back on time.

In the resource room, you will find students who have trouble in certain areas of study. Here they can get extra help to improve these areas.

Physical education courses not only help students learn specific rules about leisure time activities and how to avoid injuries; but allows them to burn up extra energy.

Top is Mrs. Peg Fargen going over some of the rules for the games scheduled for the day in PE.

Middle Left is Mrs. Leigh Gipp taking a short rest from her paper work of the resource room.

Above is Mrs. Sherry Nester speaking to her class on what is to be done for the day.

Job-Training For Multi Trades

The Multi-District director oversaw the programs and made sure the school ran smoothly.

The secretary kept everything in order, handled calls, and callers.

Health Occupations taught caring for the elderly and sick through classroom and on-the-job activities.

Various experiences were provided students in the Model Office program that could be found in the "real" office.

Top is Mr. Robert Andreau, director of the Multi-District.

Middle Right is Mr. Pat Bortnem, who teaches Health Occupations

Right is Model Office instructor, Mr. Les Kor

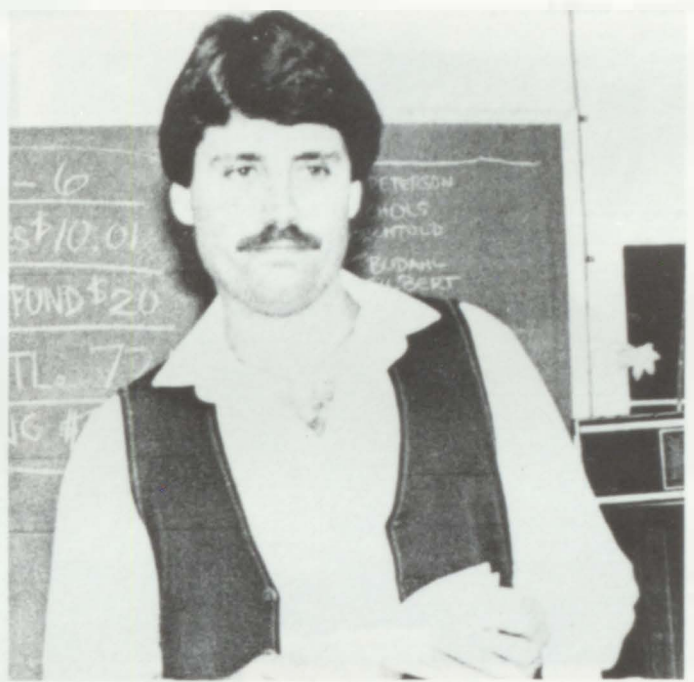

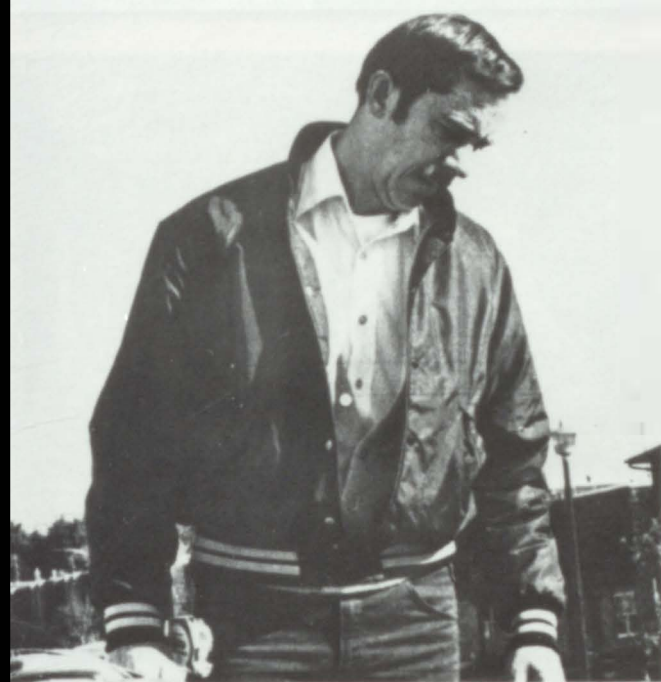

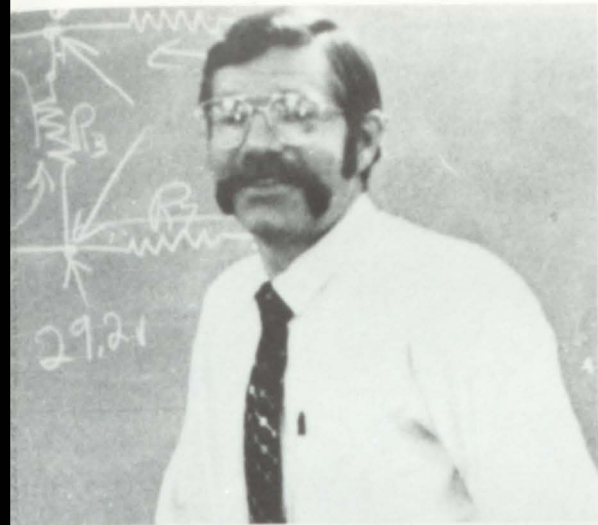

Training In Trades Available

A beginning course in electrical engineering is for students in Electronics.

The actual construction of a house is in store for Building Trades students.

Adding machines, changing display windows, and working for local businesses are among the projects in Sales and Service.

Students get a chance to work on their own cars, as well as others, in Auto Mechanics.

Top is Mr. Chris Davis, teacher of Electronics

Above is Mr. Brad Bonde, instructor for Sales and Service

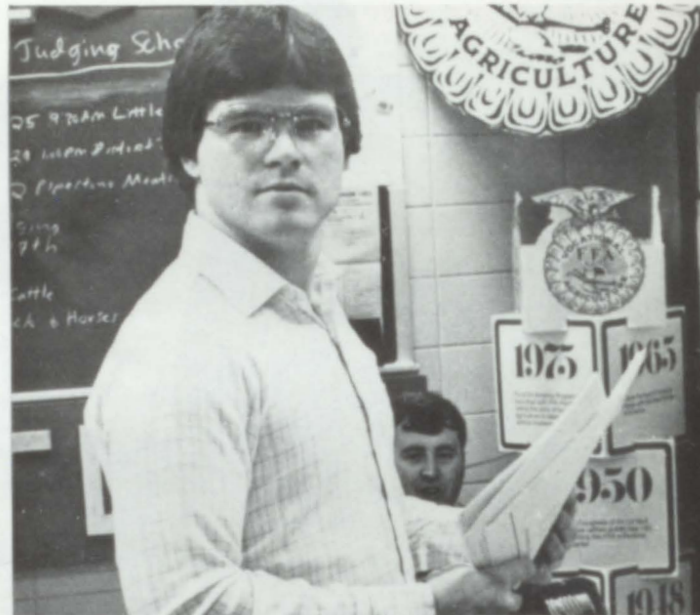

Left is Mr. Marvin Iverson explaining the hows of Auto Mechanics

Practice Teaching To Gain Experience

Several times during the year, students from area colleges, Dakota State at Madison and SDSU at Brookings, come to gain practical teaching experience. These students supervise classes and often extra-curricular activities.

This "practice teaching" is course work for these students in the field of education and continues for twelve weeks.

Cooks-Aids Hold Special Activities

School cooks are busy five days a week throughout the year planning and fixing meals for high school and middle school students. They prepare "special" meals for holidays and in the spring for the graduates.

School Cannot Run Without Personnel

Hours upon hours were spent by the custodians and maintenance personnel keeping the school neat, clean, and the heating and cooling system running properly.

Our bus drivers were those individuals who spent an hour or two of their time to bring the students to and from school. Despite any problems that occurred on the way, these individuals served as babysitters, disciplinarians or coaches.

School Personnel Guide Students

The principal arranged schedules and supervised students and teachers. The secretary's workday included issuing lunch tickets and make-up slips and taking incoming calls.

The guidance counselor helped students in many ways throughout the year with scheduling, personal problems, and college financial aids.

Administration Set Daily Rules

School board members, elected for three year terms, held their meetings on the first Monday of every month to handle items that came up during the month.

The superintendent, hired by the board, was expected to make a report at each meeting. He okayed all purchases for the district and fund raisers.

The business manager wrote out checks for any bills for the school and kept the records.

Who's in what Activities

Chorus Gets Community Involved

Chorus met three mornings a week to prepare for concerts, Community Chorus, Senior Vespers, graduation, and the school musical.

Swing Chorus members were chosen in the fall from chorus members who wanted to try out. The swing chorus met Tuesday and Thursday to prepare their music for various performances throughout the year.

School Musical Highlights Year

This year an all-school play and musical were combined into one presentation. "The Belle of the West" was presented to the public on April 8th.

Members of the cast practiced during chorus class and also as many nights a week as possible.

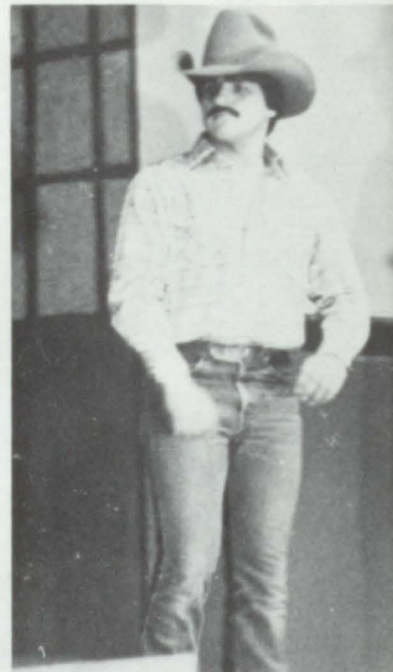

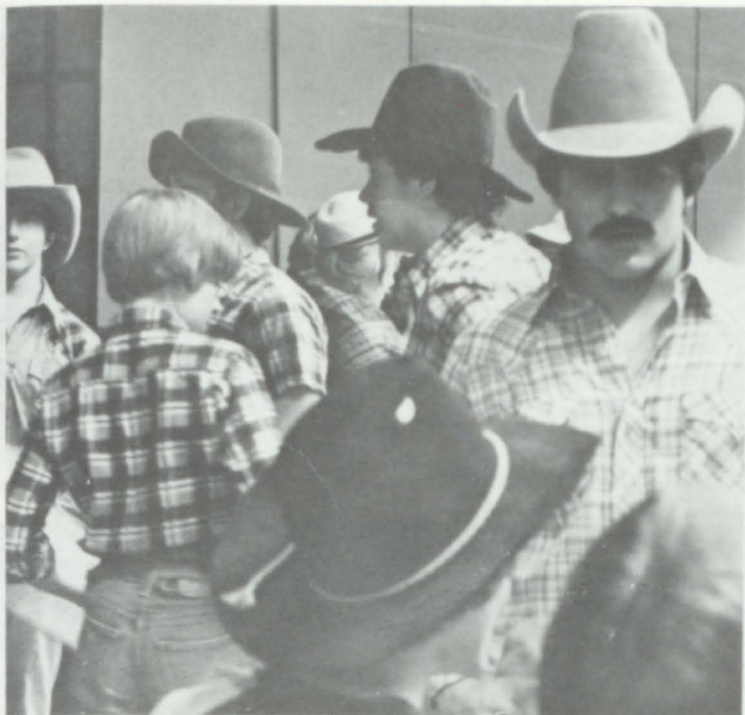

Top are Shawn Cranston and Lisa Jewett doing make-up before the show.

Ida Causes Trouble In Roarin' Creek

The setting for the play was Speedy Summers Hotel in Roarin' Creek, where Speedy was patiently awaiting his new barber. Ida Mae Brown, a city gal, happened to be who he engaged.

All the girls were suspicious of her, thinking she wanted their boyfriends and knew their boyfriends wanted her. But all she wanted was to earn an honest living.

Alan Miller, one of the guys from Roarin' Creek, and Ida were old friends, and when they met again at Speedy's hotel, it was a happy reunion.

Fund Raisers Used To Plan Trip

This year the band's major goal was a trip to Washington, D.C. Money for this trip was raised by selling "Pizza Power Packs," holding dinners and bake sales, and saving and selling aluminum cans.

The band marched in the Homecoming Day parade, Hobo Day parade, performed during halftimes of football games, and presented concerts at Christmas and in the spring.

Staff Attends Two Workshops

During the year, the annual staff attended two year-book workshops.

The first workshops was presented by the American Yearbook Co. Members were shown different page layouts, ideas for themes, and displays of yearbooks from all over the state.

The second workshop was held at SDSU in Brook-ings. This Press Convention was held all day with awards presented in the morning and workshops in the afternoon.

Deadlines Hard To Meet

This year's annual staff started with a large number of twenty-seven members and ended the year with ten.

Deadlines were not easily met because of conflicts with other activities. When possible, meeting nights were Mondays, and if not possible, either Tuesday or after school.

Few Dances Held This Year

School dances were few and far between.

Three dances were held throughout the year. Homecoming, Christmas, and Prom were the occasions for each of them.

These dances were held at Spafford's gym, the high school cafeteria, and the high school gym, respectively. A local band, "US," played for the first two, while "Arron Barron" played for the Prom.

Nine Members; Short Season

Nine individuals interested in Oral Interpretation began their season late in October with District competition in Baltic.

Four people went to State competition, with one person taking a first.

FHS was unable to form a debate team this year but hopes for more interest next year.

FFA'ers Learn Judging Skills

The Future Farmers of America held a pork feed with the slave auction, parent's night, and field trips. Little I, one of the field trips, was an all-day event. Students took a morning tour of the SDSU campus, and the afternoon was filled with judgments of different types.

Conv. Bring Awards

At the State FFA Convention, the FHS Chapter received fourth in the National Chapter award, fifth in Building Our American Communities award, seventh in National Chapter Safety award, and second for the Triple Crown award. (The Triple Crown is a combination of three awards). These awards were received through competition with 78 other Chapters in South Dakota.

Five FFA members, also, received State Farmer Degrees.

Twelve Participate At State Meeting

The Region III meeting was held at Baltic on November 16th. Eleven presentations and one beef cook-off presentation received superiors. These individuals attended the State meeting held at the Howard Johnson hotel in Sioux Falls on April 17, 18, and 19. The beef cook-off contestant received $150 for her superior dish, while eight superiors, three excellents, and one honorable mentions were received.

Other happenings were the FHA-FFA Christmas dance, Senior tea, Awards banquet, FHA week, and designated meetings held once a month.

Cheerleaders Boost Spirit

The varsity cheerleaders were chosen in the spring, while the B team cheerleaders were chosen in the fall after school had started. The cheerleaders were chosen from these who tried out by some of the faculty members.

Two varsity squads were selected to lead the students at pep rallies and games. One squad worked during football and boys' basketball games while the other squad took care of girls' basketball games and wrestling matches.

All squads worked to boost spirits. They held pep rallies, put up posters in the halls, and prepared a skit for Little Orpheum during Homecoming.

Drill Team Does 50's Routine

The drill team entertained at half-times of the home basketball games, as well as at the Districts in Brookings.

The group performed to many popular songs, such as, "Hey Mickey," "Hurst So Good," and "Rock This Town," to which they performed a fifties routine.

The drill team had practices for their performances early in the morning before school and after school.

Homecoming Has Variation

Homecoming week brought many activities. There were the traditional "special" days, such as, holiday, foreign, grub, punk, and purple and gold day. Teachers, as well as students, got involved.

As the week came to an end, there was a parade, the football game, and finally the Homecoming dance.

Little Orpheum Helps Raise Spirit

Little Orpheum, an FHS tradition, was held on Thursday night during Homecoming week. Various groups presented skits to raise spirit for the Homecoming football game. The pep band played and Homecoming King and Queen were, also, chosen.

After Little Orpheum, many of the students attended the bon-fire pep rally at Ahlers'.

Prom Scene Changed From Past Years

For the first time the Prom was held at the high school gym instead of at the Spafford Grade school gym. The juniors decorated two or three hours a night beginning Tuesday until the work was completed.

The class used the colors, white, and blue, as well as silver ornaments, to highlight the gym and emphasize the theme, "This Moment In Time."

Aaron Barron Plays For Prom

At 9:00 p.m. the band, Aaron Barron, began to play for the Junior-Senior Prom and played until 12:00 p.m. The tables were decorated with a dark blue paper and had moonshaped table decorations on them.

This year instead of the usual banquet, the seniors were each given a five-dollar gift certificate to use at Walker's.

Graduation Brings Mixed Emotions

There were mixed feelings among the seniors graduating. Some cried, they were leaving behind old friends; some were glad to be done with school and shouted with joy while passing through the doors. Others didn't quite know how to react.

Vespers was held Sunday, May 15, at 8:00 p.m. while Commencement was held Sunday, May 22, at 2:00 p.m. with a guest speaker, an awards presentation, and diplomas given out.

Nine Graduates Receive Awards

There were twelve awards and scholarships presented at the commencement activities. Students applied for the scholarships and were selected by committees composed of either administrators, faculty, or board members. Other awards were presented to seniors who had been nominated by the faculty.

Nine seniors received these awards including five girls and four boys.

Futures Planned Early

Seniors continued planning for the future by attending Senior Days, held in Dell Rapids, to which surrounding colleges sent representatives to sponsor their schools.

Financial aid meetings were held and applications for college were filled out throughout the year.

Seniors Receive Special Privileges

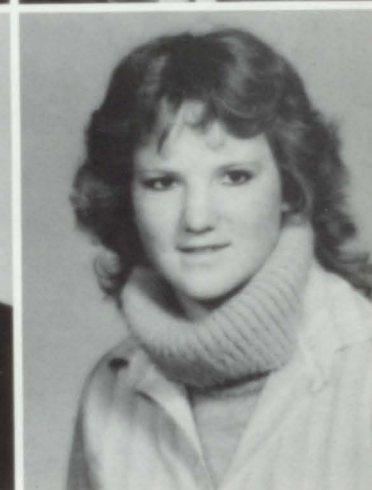

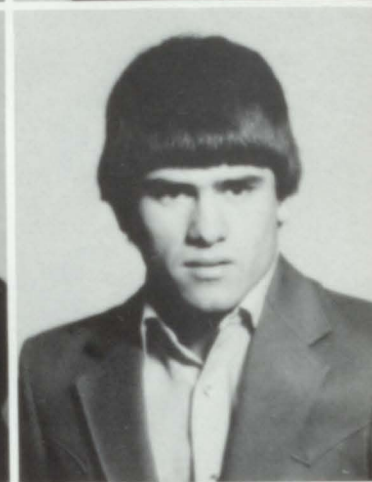

Senior privileges started on March twenty-fourth, and were planned to continue until the end of the year, unless problems appeared. Getting open study halls and out of school a week early were privileges received. Some of the rules set were parental consent, no tardiness, no incompletes or F's, and the responsibility to use this "spare time" wisely.

Painting the school rock and parking lot were also privileges received earlier in the year.

Activities Keep Sophomores Busy

After a year's experience, the sophomores knew the "scenes" in school and were ready to initiate the freshmen, rather than get initiated.

Sophomores participated in Homecoming by presenting a skit at the Little Orpheum and cheering at the football game.

Activities at the end of the year included decorating the gym for Vespers and Graduation and serving punch at the Junior-Senior Prom.

Graduation Day

Today we'll start a new life
And we'll say our last good byes
To all the friends we've grown to love
With whom we've laughed and cried
Remembering the fun and the laughter,
The problems and the fears,
And watching all our memories grow
Throughout our high school years.
The memories of the dances
And the new friends that we've met,
Vacations, teachers, talking
And exams we'd rather forget.
Yes, high school days are precious but brief,
Where all your dreams come true;
It is not the end, but the beginning
Of a life we'll start anew.
