Blazing Into Activities

Top is the all-school play cast of Shane Gerlach, Kym Cecil, Bill Parsley, Mike Nass, Julie McMahon, Linda Svendsen, and Melanie Grafing.

Right are Lorraine Barthel and Shelly Krantz preparing to perform.

Homecoming Features Week Of Activities

The 1983 Homecoming began with a week of scheduled "special days," which included punk day, parent day, freak day, sucker day, and spirit day. Students dressed accordingly on these days.

Little Orpheum, a night filled with skits, Freshmen initiation, and crowning of royalty was held on Thursday, September 16.

Top are Trudy Dappen, Beth Barnes, and Marietta McGlone dressed to bring out the spirit of "punk day."

Right are Wendy Sutton, Trudy Dappen, and Denise Grafing displaying the proper attire and style for "punk day."

Friday Caps Active Week

The marching band got students out of class early on Friday afternoon. The student body then met on main street for a pep rally.

In the football game against Tri-Valley, on Friday evening, the Fliers were defeated 7-6. The high school gym was the setting for the dance with the band "Image" performing.

Members Put In Overtime

The 1983-84 annual staff was smaller than in the past. Meetings were usually held twice a week with average attendance of four at each. Deadlines were met, but only with extra time being put in by these members.

Staff Attends Workshops, Camp

Four students attended a week long summer camp at SDSU in Brookings. Two students were instructed in the aspects of putting together and organizing an annual, while the others worked on basic and advanced photography techniques.

A workshop and Press Convention were attended in October. At these workshops, members were taught techniques.

Three Dances Held

FHS had only three dances this year. Bands performed for two of these, while one was a record dance where students served as disc jockeys.

One of the dances featuring live music was for Homecoming and the other was held in May for the Prom. The records were played for a Valentine dance sponsored by the FHA and FFA organizations.

Top are Julie McMahon and Tracy Peterson, and; across the room, Kathy Gageby and Wendy Bock dancing at the Valentine dance.

Oral Interp. Group Places Sixth, Overall

Debate began in November with the Sioux Forensic League tourneys and the McCarty Invitational being the major meets attended. Overall, the group placed sixth in the SFL conference tourneys.

The forensics season was capped off with the State I.E. and Debate Meet. One individual advanced to the finals and placed fourth in Original Oratory.

Individually, the speakers, according to Coach Swenson, gained tremendous experience. The group always tried to live up to its motto: "If you're going to wing it, don't announce it."

Top are Ms. Gail Swenson, coach, and Steven Vold watching an unseen member give a presentation.

Songs Reflect Themes Of Concerts

Band students practiced seventh hour to prepare for concerts. Each concert had its own theme, which was reflected in the songs played.

The Christmas concert included medleys of traditional Christmas songs.

The "Pops" concert featured the popular song, "Stray Cat Strut." After the concert, a catered dinner was held for the public.

Tunes, such as "Colonel Bogey" and "Send in the Clowns," were presented at the Spring concert. This concert was the final one of the year, and band awards were presented.

Pep Band Entertains Crowd

The pep band played quick paced music or marches to entertain spectators before football and basketball games. They continued this music during half-time presentations.

Practices, for routines performed by the marching band, were held at 7:30 a.m. and again during the band period. Band members performed these routines at Homecoming and on Trojan Days in Madison.

Top is the band performing at their last concert of the year.

Band Students Compete In Instrumental Contest

Sixteen students went to Augustana College in February to compete in the High School Instrumental Music Contest.

These students were assigned various practice times by the director to rehearse their pieces.

Of the sixteen entries, five solo's and ensembles received superiors. The players were judged on tone, intonation, rhythm, balance, and musicianship.

Top are Denise Grafing, Kym Cecil, Lisa Jepsen, and Tammy Benson. They received a first on their trumpet quartet.

Above are Amy Ludeman, Bill Parsley, and Danelle Hove. Danelle and Bill received superior ratings on their solos. Danelle and Amy received a first on a flute duet.

Right are Karol Birnbaum, Dan Heyduk, Dana Wentworth, and Patti Buck, members of the drum ensemble, which received a first rating.

Chosen On Ability

Students in All-State chorus were chosen by the director for their musical abilities. The members and alternates practiced selected songs to prepare for the concert they presented to the public.

Ten ensembles went to the vocal music contest, held at Augustana College in Sioux Falls in March. These students practiced their solos and ensembles at scheduled times weekly. Of these ten entries, a duet and two soloists received superiors.

Top are Kym Cecil and Julie McMahon who received a superior rating on their duet at the vocal contest.

Choral Groups Entertain Public

This year, members of chorus spent their time singing popular songs and preparing for concerts given in December and March.

Sixteen members of the choral group went to Augustana College in Sioux Falls for the vocal contest. They completed their year by getting ready for and presenting on March 30, the all school musical, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Top are the tenor and bass sections of the chorus. They are, fourth row, Todd Olson and Steven Vold. Third row are Mr. Larry Wilske, director; Shane Gerlach, and Bill Parsley. Second row are Eddie Eich and Dan Mutschelknaus. First row are Mike Nass and Russell Golder.

Tryouts Held For Musical

Try-outs for the school musical, a production of the vocal department, were held ten weeks before opening night.

Cast members were judged on voice projection, quality, and interpretation of the character.

Cast, Chorus Presents Musical To Public

"You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" was presented by the vocal and drama departments on Friday, March 30.

The nine main characters, chorus, directors, and accompanist worked for eight weeks to prepare for the final curtain.

Students brought their homework to practice so they could do it when they were not needed on stage. But, there was still time for "gossip."

Top are Julie McMahon, (Snoopy), and Julie Schatz (Peppermint Patty) 'chasing rabbits.'

"Peanuts" Cartoon On Stage

The musical was based on the characters created by Charles Schultz for the "Peanuts" cartoon.

Highlights from the play included Schroder and Lucy at the piano, Charlie Brown at the psychiatrist's booth, a neighborhood baseball game, and Snoopy fighting out his aerial war with the Red Barron.

Top is Kym Cecil, Linus, trying to get "her blanket" away from Melanie Grafing, Lucy.

Business Items, Judging Discussed By Group

During FFA meetings, the members discussed official items of business such as fruit, magazine, and popcorn sales. They, also, discussed upcoming judging schools or conventions that they would be attending.

Those participating in FFA were involved in judging competition, planning for the Valentine's day dance, which was co-sponsored by the FHA, and the banquets held throughout the year.

Mr. DeWayne Siebrasse, supervisor, felt that FFA provided students with leadership skills by having them practice parliamentary procedure, public and extemp speaking, doing interviews, and business salesmanship.

Above are the members of the FFA shown holding their award certificates from the State Convention. Fourth row are Nathan Johnson, Bill Otto, Troy Halvorson, and Chad Hahn. Third row are Tab Peper, Chuck Derdall, Allan Jorgenson, Jason Pulscher, and Scott Reed. Second row are Lorraine Barthel, Kelly Thomas, Mike Leraas, Paul Barthel, and Mr. DeWayne Siebrasse. First row are Amy Doyle, Jennifer Loiseau, Mike Nass, Richard Hagel, Lance Koester, and Jason Gullickson.

Chapter Receives Four Awards

The local FFA Chapter received four awards at the State Convention. These awards included the National FFA Chapter Award, Chapter Award in Building Communities, National FFA Chapter Safety Award, and the Triple Crown Award.

Individuals, also, received awards for judging dairy cattle and livestock and for showmanship.

Events Highlight Year

The FHA year was highlighted by four events. These included the Halloween party, Valentine's Day dance during FHA Week, and the Regional and State meeting.

In October, the Halloween party was held. Members dressed in a variety of costumes ranging from witches to cowboys. Events, such as the three-legged race, spoon relay, and bobbing for apples, were held followed by lunch.

The Valentine's Day dance was held on Friday night at the end of FHA Week. The dance area was decorated with hearts and red and white streamers. Mr. and Mrs. Sweetheart were named later in the evening.

Members received top honors on their Action Activity Events at the Regional and State meetings. These meetings were held in Madison and Sioux Falls with twenty members attending.

Top is Karol Birnbaum presenting a demonstration at the State meeting in Sioux Falls.

Members Learn From Activities

FHA members worked on an Action Activity Event program throughout the year. These activities were designed to teach each member how to do research, organize their thoughts, and present their thoughts orally before a group.

Mrs. Linda Siebrasse, FHA adviser, felt the Action Activity program was necessary in today's society. She, also, felt that FHA, as an organization, helped members realize the importance of involvement and that nothing happens unless they make it happen.

Top are some FHA members at a playground they visited while attending Little "I" in Brookings. They are, back row, Sue Schiefelbein, Shawn Cranston, Sally Peterson, Debbie Duffert, Geriann Headrick, Lisa Jewett, and Karol Birnbaum. Middle row are Mary Eikmeier, Mae Rice, and Lisa Jepsen. Front row are Jolen Hallauer, Wendy Bock, and Nora Solem.

Try-outs Held Early; New Routines Performed

Try-outs for drill team were held in the Fall to give the girls plenty of time to practice before their first performance. The team consisted of sixteen girls with two alternates.

During practices held before and after school, the girls and their advisor worked to make up new routines which they performed at home basketball games. District and Region tournaments were, also, performance sites for the girls.

Cheerleaders

Work To Keep Spirit Up

Keeping the spirit up during all types of sporting events was what the cheerleaders strived to do.

Pep rallies were held during the last few minutes of the school day with various skits being presented.

The cheerleaders made posters to decorate the halls and gym. At special times, Homecoming or tournaments, they, also, decorated the lockers of team members.

Top is Tammy Benson cheering on the football team.

Left are the wrestling and girl's basketball cheerleaders. They are Linda Svendsen, Melanie Grafing, Trudy Dappen, and Lori May.

Prom Held Friday Evening

Different from years past, the Prom was held on a Friday night because of a grade music contest scheduled for Saturday in the high school. The theme chosen by the juniors was "Only Time Will Tell."

In an effort to save money, the juniors cut some corners while decorating for the Prom. The pink and silver metallic streamers used for the ceiling and walls covered only half of the gym. A fountain was purchased from a local merchant, but the juniors built the base themselves.

Other decorations included a gazebo adorned with pink and silver streamers. A white picket gateway, with a silver hourglass in the background, was the entrance to the dance floor.

Top are Tami Zackrisson and Larry Kotan taping down the tablecloths.

Above are Lori May and Melanie Grafig taping the streamers to the floor for the Prom walls.

Right are Bill Parsley and Tammy Caulfield as they put the finishing touches on the tables for the Prom

Gift Certificates Replace Banquet

Again, the junior class did not have a banquet but presented each junior and senior with a five dollar gift certificate to be used at Walker's Dining. These certificates were to be used on the night of the Prom between the hours of 5 and 9 p.m.

At the Prom, students listened and danced to the music of "The Fact." This band was chosen by the juniors and seniors after looking at a list of those bands available.

Top are Eugene Johnson, Brian Green, and Paul Hess putting together the base for the fountain.

Seniors Challenged

Vespers service was held on May 20, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Brent Dahlseng gave the sermon.

Rev. Dahlseng's sermon consisted of a challenge to the seniors. A challenge to be the best they could in whatever they did and to be individuals in whatever they did instead of following the crowd.

Top are Denise Graefing and Dan Mutschelknaus looking over the program before the Vespers service.

Mixed Emotions Shown At Graduation

At the graduation ceremony, mixed emotions were shown by the class of 1984. Some cried because they would never be together with the entire class again, while others were just glad to be out and done with school.

Ceremonies began Sunday afternoon, May 27, at 2:00. The program began with the invocation and a musical selection, "I Believe," by the girls' glee club.

Congressman, Tom Daschle gave the commencement address. His speech conveyed the importance of the seniors pursuing their future goals in South Dakota.

Awards and scholarships were presented by various faculty, school-board, and community members.

After an acknowledgement by class president, Marietta McGlone, principal, Gus Barnes and board president, Gene Gullickson presented the diplomas. The ceremonies concluded with a duet, "Time For Moving On," sung by senior girls, Kym Cecil and Julie McMahon.

Seniors Receive Awards

Five awards and eight scholarships were presented to the seniors at the commencement ceremonies. A total of 17 students were honored.

Students, who maintained a 3.0 grade average, were honored by wearing a medallion presented to them by the Flandreau Education Boosters. These seniors, along with those in the National Honor Society, were recognized on the commencement program, also, with a star in front of their name.

Top are the Wittern and Rusch Scholarship recipients, back row, Todd Olson and Daron Ailts. Front row are Denise Graefing, Lorraine Barthel, Julie McMahon, and Wendy Sutton. Classes Required

The language/ social science classes, often required, offered a range of subjects and topics.

English groups reviewed all areas of grammar as well as literature. German classes promoted the basics and translations of the language.

History, Free Enterprise, and Government classes explored different aspects of life in America. Sociology and Psychology students learned the hows and whys of life around them.

Top are Diane Dietrich, Wendy Sutton, Beth Barnes, Denise Grafing, Julie McMahon, Marietta McGlone and Patti Buck playing Newsquiz in Free Enterprise.

Right is Julie McMahon studying in German class.

Math, Science Express Concepts

There were ten different math/s-science courses available to students.

Math was broken down in five areas, General Math, Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Senior Math, to cover all mathematic concepts.

The science courses were broken down into five areas, also, Physical Science, Chemistry I and II, and Biology I and II, to present and explain scientific data.

Top are Debbie Duffert and Eugene Johnson doing homework in Chemistry I

Vocational Classes Available

Classes offered in the vocational area were in business, home economics, computer literacy, industrial arts, art, and agriculture.

Junior and senior students could, also, attend the multi-district school in Brookings, which offered six courses.

Right is Mrs. Mary James on spirit day.

Social Sciences Look At Human Behavior

Social science teachers, Mr. McGlone, Mr. Fodness, and Mr. Rhead, provided information about governments; reviewed happenings in history; and, looked at human behavior.

Mr. James McGlone found golfing, gardening, and chicken raising as ways of relaxing.

Mr. Roger Fodness golfed or went fishing to "get away from it all."

Mr. Dennis Rhead believed skiing (water and snow) and bow hunting were excellent ways to relax.

Right is Julie Bauer and Mr. Fodness, who teaches Sociology, U.S. History, and Free Enterprise, discussing a class assignment.

Science, Math Stress Facts, Labs, Concepts

Science teachers, Mr. Burns and Mr. Porisch, stressed science facts and labs in their classes. Mrs. Benson and Mr. Schaefer, math instructors, stressed homework and precision in equation solving.

Mr. Keith Burns listened to his collection of "Big Band" records in his free time.

Mr. Bruce Porisch enjoyed hunting and bee keeping to occupy spare time.

Mr. Leroy Benson hunted and jogged to fill his time away from school.

Mr. Erwin Schaefer enjoyed reading during his extra time.

Mr. Burns appears to be demonstrating the technique of bending glass.

Middle Right is Mr. Schaefer explaining cross-country statistics to Brian Green.

Understanding Language, Literature Class Goals

Giving students a better understanding of the English language and literature was what the language arts teachers, Mr. Linder, Mrs. James, and Ms. Swenson, stressed. Computer teacher, Mr. Johnson, stressed knowledge in computer programming.

Mr. Lowell Linder worked with drift wood and researched his family tree when he had extra time.

Mrs. Mary James spent her spare time knitting, sewing, and reading.

Ms. Gail Swenson played the piano and listened to music to spend her time away from school.

Mr. Dale Johnson used reading military history and photography to fill extra hours.

Vocational Teachers Provide Ideas

Vocational arts teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Siebrasse, Mr. Sutton, and Mr. Bergjord, provided activities and investigated career ideas.

Mr. Dewayne Siebrasse found outdoor activities, such as water-skiing and hunting, to be relaxing.

Mrs. Linda Siebrasse enjoyed hobbies, such as water-skiing and golf, during the summer months.

Mr. Clifton Sutton bowled, twice a week in leagues, to relax.

Walleye fishing and bow hunting for deer were some ways Mr. Brian Bergjord spent his spare time.

Middle are the vocational arts instructors. They are Mr. Siebrasse, Agriculture I, II, III, and IV, Mrs. Siebrasse, Home Economics I, II, III, and IV, Mr. Sutton, Typing I and II, Bookkeeping, and Shorthand, and, Mr. Bergjord, Industrial Arts I, II, and III. Mr. Bergjord seems to be giving the group some instructions on how to use a fire extinguisher.

Activity Classes Help Break Everyday Routine

Activities in music and P.E. provided students with an opportunity to get away from routine classroom chores. Mr. Solem, Mr. Wilske, and Ms. Womeldorf all expressed great pride in their groups for their performances in the band, chorus, and basketball.

Mr. Larry Wilske enjoyed bowling and reading as outside interests.

Mr. Steve Solem bow hunted, rode horses, and bowled to fill his spare hours.

Ms. Lynette Womeldorf found playing basketball and softball ways to stay busy in her off hours.

Top is Mr. Solem, band director, helping Lisa Jepsen on her contest piece

Right is Mr. Wilske sorting through some music for the Freshmen Chorus.

Goal Student Improvement

Resource room teacher, Mrs. Gipp and her aide, Mrs. Nester, worked with students who had learning problems. Both enjoyed teaching these students and helping them learn about themselves. Mrs. Hendrickson, art teacher, stressed using creativity when doing art work.

Mrs. Sherri Nester named reading and watching sports events as her favorite past times.

Embroidery and spending time with her family were two of the things Mrs. Leigh Gipp enjoyed doing after the school day ended.

Mrs. Donna Hendrickson enjoyed skiing and swimming in her free time.

Top is Mrs. Nester, resource room aide, helping Darwin Latham and Brian Bunker with their assignment.

Students Gain Teaching Experience

College students from SDSU and USD came to gain their required teaching experiences.

These experiences ranged from agricultural to history classes. They stayed the twelve weeks required and assisted with classes and extra-curricular activities.

Right is Mr. David Peper who student taught in Ag. the second half of the year.

Course Offerings Enlarge High School Program

Students attending the multi-district school in Brookings had a choice of six course offerings. Three of these were Building and Trades, Office Occupations, and Sales and Services.

Mr. Dennis Blocker spent his spare time hunting and camping.

During the past year, Mr. Les Kor served as president of the Vocational Business Teachers Association.

Mr. Brad Bonde spent his past summer doing signs and advertising for various companies in Brookings.

Career Exposure

One Aspect Of Classes

Course offerings in Electronics, Health Occupations, and Auto Services completed the multi-district's curriculum. Students taking one of these classes were exposed to different aspects of these careers.

Mr. Christian Davis enjoyed canoeing and gardening during extra hours.

Mr. Marvin Iverson bowled and rode motorcycles for entertainment.

Football Team Goes 4-5, Does Not Make Playoffs

The 1983 football team suffered through a 4-5 season and did not make the playoffs this year.

Injuries and not having enough experience at key positions were, according to Head Coach McGlone, two reasons why this year's team was not as successful.

Ten Practice X-Country

The cross-country team had six boys and four girls showing up for regular practices. These practices were held after school and consisted of "running the circuit" and lifting weights.

The boy's team placed fifth in the conference and seventh in the region.

During the year, the girls didn't place as a team, but two individuals placed consistently in the top ten.

Basics Stressed In Practice

The junior-varsity basketball team worked on the basics of basketball and used them everyday in practice. Coach Womeldorf credited the girls with working hard to improve even when things weren't going right. The team won six games during the season.

Next year, Coach Womeldorf thinks the height of the team members will play a big part in the inside game as well as rebounding.

Team Defense Concepts Emphasized In Practice

The varsity girl's basketball team ended the season with a 1-17 record. Their team standing in the Big Sioux Conference was last.

Working hard and team defense concepts were two of the main points emphasized by Coach Fodness during practices this year.

Coach Fodness felt that next year a number of girls will be returning with experience which would aid in improving the teams' performance.

Freshmen Win 7 Games

The "B" basketball team, consisting of freshmen, played a twenty-three game schedule this year. Of these games, 16 junior varsity and 7 freshmen, they were able to win seven.

According to Coach Stanforth, the team improved steadily by playing many close games late in the season. He, also, felt that the team showed a strong desire to always do their best.

Team Experiences Year Of Learning, Frustration

The boy's varsity basketball team experienced a year of rebuilding and learning.

With an emphasis on team concepts for offense and defense, Coach Fodness, new to the school system, began practices in November.

Throughout the year, however, the team found themselves involved in close games but never quite able to pull out the win. They closed their season with a 5-14 record.

Individual Improvements Goals Of Coaches

When wrestling practice began this year, the coaches encouraged and pushed each individual to improve his strength, speed, and balance.

Head coach, Brian Bergjord felt that most of the wrestlers willingly worked toward this goal, but that the team was handicapped because the numbers needed to fill all weight classes were not there.

The team finished their dual season at 0-10.

Dedication Key To Success

The varsity volleyball team had a season record of 10-8. Coach Adolph expressed satisfaction with the season and thought they did quite well. She, also, felt that if the girls who participated this year were willing to dedicate themselves and work together, they could have a really successful season next year.

The junior varsity team spent most of their time practicing on the basics. These included the skills of serving, setting, bumping, spiking, blocking and game play.

Weather Plays Havoc With Track Season

The girls competed in five track meets this season. Bad weather caused the postponement of two other scheduled meets.

Because of the weather, Coach Barnes felt the girls didn't get as many good workouts as necessary and, therefore, their performances were hampered throughout the year. Yet, he felt the girls showed improvement and gave their all at the meets.

Snow, Rain Make For Shorter Season

This year's track season was shorter than those of previous years. This was due to the spring weather conditions which caused several meets to be rained or snowed out and eventually cancelled. Coach Barnes, felt the weather caused practices to be slightly easier than in past years.

The team placed among the top seven in the meets they attended, excluding the State Meet. Many members placed in the top three places at these meets. Coach Barnes felt the season went well and the athletes performed to the best of their capabilities.

Two Participate In State Meet

Two seniors participated in the State meet in Madison and Sioux Falls. One ran the 200 meter dash and the other went to pole vault. Neither placed at state, but each had his best time and height of the season. Coach Barnes felt that the improvement was as important and rewarding as placing.

Season Shortened; Team Second In State 'B'

The golf team competed in two duals and one tournament during the year. Three other duals and one tourney were scheduled but had to be canceled because they were snowed, flooded, or frozen out.

Coach McGlone stressed, in practice, being accurate around the greens, the short game, and putting.

In the Regional Tournament at Beresford, the team tied for second but lost in the playoff. Three from this team, however, qualified for the State meet.

The State "B" was held at Yankton on May 21 and 22. The team led the field after the first day of competition but fell to a second place finish at the end of the second day.

A girl's team did not compete as only two girls tried out.

After a day of school, many students occupied a place in the working class by going to a part-time job.

These students used their earned pay for various means of enjoyment and to add to their savings account for college.

Church Has Own Night

Wednesday nights were set aside for church activities held by the student body. No school events were scheduled so that all those who were interested could participate.

The youth groups were involved in various activities including hayrides, roller skating, pancake feeds, and watching films on subjects of interest to them.

4-H Club

Activities Involve All

The Moody County 4-H Clubs participated in many different activities. These included: Cake walks, entering projects in competition, suppers, parties, and roller skating.

A new branch of 4-H was started this year, the 4-H Moody County

Wranglers Club. It consisted of those interested in showing horses and entering them in parades.

The year was topped off by the County Fair, State Fair, and Recognition Banquet. Yearly awards were given at this banquet.

Time Spent In Many Ways

During the day, students had various moments of sparetime. This included before school, between classes, at lunchtime, breaks from studying, and after school. They spent this time doing a variety of things from talking to friends to consulting a teacher.

After school, some students spent free-time with their friends doing an assortment of activities. These included going to concerts, movies, or out to eat. Other students spend their sparetime at home with their families, doing homework or baby-sitting.

Students Listen To Variety Of Music

Students listened to many kinds of music ranging from country to rock. Because of this, you would often see a group of students huddled around a "ghetto blaster" with the volume up high.

Another favorite pastime of students was cruising around town or hanging out at the Trading Post.

Students Need Breaks

Coming to school early, sitting in study halls, walking between classes, and lunchtime gave students time to make plans for the weekend or talk about the latest happenings.

Assemblies, which were usually held in the gymnasium, gave students time away from the daily school routine, also.

New Requirements Limit Electives In Schedules

Because of the changes in college entrance requirements, freshmen students had to plan their schedules around these changes. This left little room for elective classes. The new requirements were four years of English, two years of math, half a year of computer science, and half a year of fine arts.

Top Opposite Page are the senior class officers. Back row are Wayne Ziebarth, secretary; Craig Johanson, treasurer; and Brian Emter, student body president. Front row are Marge McGlone, vice president; Marietta McGlone, president; and, Gordon Jones, student council representative.

Activities Vary For Homecoming

Senior homecoming consisted of a variety of activities: Nominating members of the class as candidates for homecoming royalty; painting the class rock and names on the pavement in the parking lot; preparing a "class car" for the parade; practicing the senior skit "Cinderfella"; and, climaxing the week with the dance in the high school gym on Friday evening.

Books Cause Discussion

With the 1984 graduating class assigned to read George Orwell's 1984, students compared the predicted way of life to the actual way it is. One other assigned reading, Macbeth, was the topic of several out-of-class discussions.

Because many of the seniors have known each other since grade school, they have, often times throughout the year, thought about what will happen to those relationships after graduation. Next year, though, when they go off to college many of the class won't be far apart because a majority of them will be attending SDSU at Brookings.

Left are Troy Scherff, Steve Mengenhauser, Jill Lahr, and Bob Dolan asking "questions of a Pilgrim" during an English panel on Canterbury Tales.

Seniors Plan For Future

Career days were held in October with various schools attending. Students were able to visit three college or vo-tech. centers of their choice to help with future career planning.

Also, throughout the year, students took days off from school and Saturdays to visit various campuses.

Left is the "class rock", a part of the senior homecoming tradition.

Each year the class designs and paints "the rock" located in the southeast corner of the parking lot. They use the class colors and, often times, the class motto to set this "rock" off from the previous year.

Opposite Page is Chuck Derald, FHA/FFA Valentine's Day King, "wearing" some decorations that he received for this honor.

Privileges For Seniors

Privileges were granted on April 4 to those seniors who had no failing grades or incompletes on their third nine week's report cards.

Students with privileges were allowed to leave the school during their study halls and, also, over the lunch hour.

In order to maintain these privileges, one had to abide by all rules as set up by the principal and get to classes on time.

Deadlines Of All Kinds To Meet Before Year's End

Deadlines for scholarships, financial aids, and college admissions were just a few that seniors had to meet by the end of the year. They, also, had to make plans for graduation and senior verspers.

Opposite Page Top are Wendy Sutton and Beth Barnes, who seem to be laughing at a joke that is being told.

Remember back in first grade,
We thought we were so old,
The day that we had show-and-tell
And brought in some "fool's gold."

Remember a few years later,
We thought we were divine.
We teased the "first grade babies,"
At the ripe old age of nine.

Remember back in sixth grade,
We looked at HIM with a sigh
And, dreamed of all the coming days
In the huge new junior high.

Now it's eons later
As graduation day draws near.
We think of bittersweet memories
And remember yesteryear.

Remember the hellos and laughter,
Talk over all our fears,
Reflect on learning and sharing
Before the goodbyes and tears.
