School Board-Decision Makers Policy Setters

The first Monday of each month was set aside for the school board meetings. School board members met to decide on purchases to be made, policies to be set, and any other guidelines to keep the school in order.

LEADERS OF THE PACK...

People doing their thing "behind the scenes" were the principal, secretary and guidance counselor.

The principal was responsible for many tasks such as arrangement of schedules, supervision of students, and evaluation of teachers. Answering the phone, issuing make-up slips, lunch tickets and tardy slips were a few of the duties of the school secretary. The guidance counselor was always available to help students whether in the planning of a career, in the decision to further their education or to help with any personal problems.

It dealt mainly with business math such as calculating interest and other business dealings. Two math courses must be taken to meet graduation requirements.

Two years of lab science are required of students during their stay at FHS. Courses to choose from were: Chemistry, Biology, Physics, and Physical Science. Incoming Freshmen were required to take Physical Science.

KEYBOARDS USEFUL IN SCHOOL CURRICULUM

Typing classes consisted of learning the basic skills and then working up to the more advanced skills needed for the business work place. Computers are now an everyday necessity for the high school student. Computer science courses allow the students to gain valuable knowledge in the operation, programming and abilities of the computer.

The library is an invaluable room from the student's perspective. It contains many periodicals, audio-visual materials, magazines, newspapers and other resource information for any type of research the students may be required to do.

CHEFS PREPARE MEALS

The school cooks provide students and faculty with tasty tidbits from the four basic food groups. It is not an easy task to prepare nutritious meals that students and faculty alike will enjoy. School lunch supervisor, Mrs. Doris Solem, spends many hours planning meals and ordering supplies needed for the kitchen. Each morning the kitchen staff arrives, often before most people are out of bed, to begin preparing the days menu. The cooks serve everything from fresh lettuce salad to cooks choice. The cooks' hot from the oven home made buns are a favorite with everyone.

Greeting students each day with a smile and a kind word is Mrs. Camillus DeNure. Mrs. DeNure's daily task is to punch each students' lunch ticket as they wait in line to pick up their hot noon meal.

People Taken For Granted

Shoveling snow, cutting grass, sweeping floors, fixing broken furniture, repairing leaking pipes and keeping the halls of FHS in tip top order are the responsibilities of the custodians. The jobs of the custodian and the laundry lady are endless and often unrecognized.

The laundry lady spends her time in a small hot steamy laundry room washing and folding towels and uniforms. No matter how uncomfortable the working conditions, she has a smile with every towel she passes out.

The "big limousine" drivers each day safely transport students to school and back home again. These driver posses the patience of a saint, but the strictness of a dictator. School bus drivers operate in adverse conditions from uncooperating weather to unruly students. However tough their job may be at times they are always there with a quick "good morning" and there in the evening with a sincere "good night".

Without these capable men and women, our school could not function as smoothly as it does.

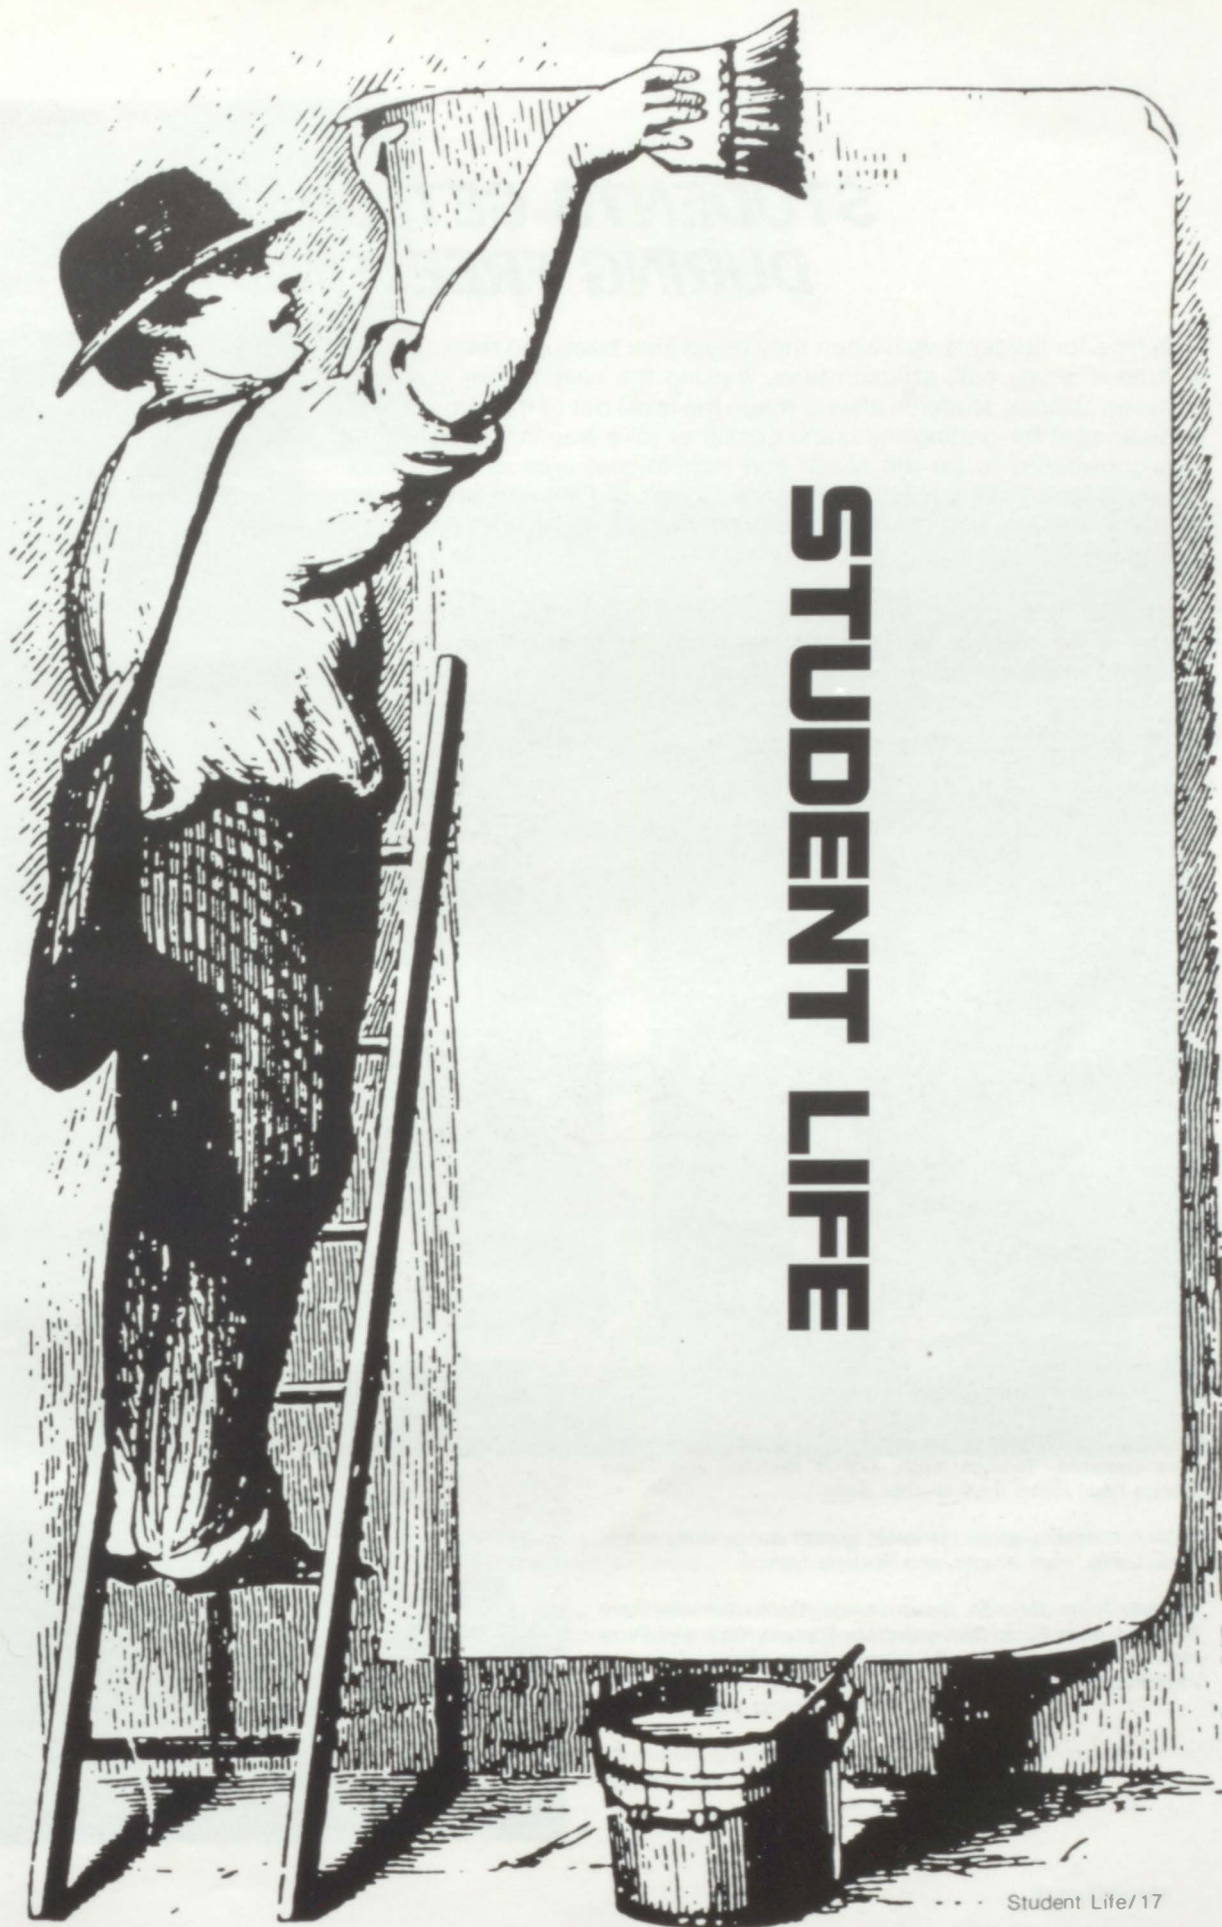

RIGHT: Mrs. Pansy Bachman, the laundry lady, hands out towels with one of her well known smiles.

BELOW: Mr. Roger Ehlers and Mr. Lowell Wilts help keep the school running smoothly.

STUDENTS GET CRAZY DURING FREE TIME

Free time for students was when they could kick back and relax. Whether it be in study hall, at lunch time, walking the halls before school or between classes, students always made the most out of their free time. A popular spot for getting the latest gossip or joke was in the hallway. It was considered to be the social and recreational area of the school. Students logged many miles walking the "loop" of FHS and when weary feet said enough, you could always prop yourself up against a wall and "people watch".

Study hall and lunch hour gave students the opportunity to either eat, study, or do nothing. Without the few moments of free time each day students would go crazy.

TOP RIGHT: Jason Taylor and Terry Tollefson use their study hall time in the most productive manner possible.

Yearning for the Earnings $$$$...

The desire of spending money forces many students out in search of a part-time job. Students are willing to do anything from washing dishes, bagging groceries, waiting tables and working as cashiers. Students earn an average of $3.40 an hour and use this extra money for clothes, movies, munchies, and for gas. School, extra curricular activities and their jobs allow little free time for students. Earning this extra money gives students an economic lesson of the value of a dollar earned.

"The Best of Both Worlds"

On Friday night May 1st the most awaited event of the year was held at the Flandreau Community Center. The Junior-Senior Prom was held in an elegantly decorated hall with the band Ivory sounding out everybody's favorite songs, from the Boss to Bon Jovi to the band's original hits

The Prom is often termed as the social event of the season for high school students. The gentlemen came in their rented tuxedos and the ladies came out dressed in the latest styles.

Before the dance, students had the opportunity to dine at Walker's Fine Foods and Spirits with the Junior class picking up part of the tab. After the meal, student headed to the Community Center for a night of fun and dancing.

Kristi Wentworth and Mike Hammer were crowned Queen and King respectively with the usual pomp and circumstance that takes place.

OKLAHOMA! is OK!

A capacity crowd was present on Tuesday April 7, 1987 at the FHS auditorium for the vocal and drama departments' version of Roger's and Hammersten's OKLAHOMA!.

Oklahoma! was set in the Oklahoma territory during one hot summer. Into the play wanders a jealous Curly, played by Mike Shaeffer, who was trying to win the heart of Laurie, played by Sara Amdahl, from Judd, who was portrayed by Jason Pulscher. Meanwhile, traveling salesman Hauchum, who was being played by Richard Hagel, was trying to win over Ado Annie, portrayed by Sonja Nester, from Will, played by Danny Sutton, while a watchful Aunt Eller, played by Kara Johnston, does her best to protect Laurie from the wooing ways of a traveling salesman.

At the ranch, the ladies carefully prepared and packed their picnic baskets to be auctioned off that evening at the barn dance. As the auction progressed, the bidding became more and more heated as the bidders sought out the basket of the girl they loved. After the auction, the dancing and romancing climaxed at the conclusion of the play when Ado Annie and Will end up together after Judd dies of self inflicted wounds. Curly ended up with Laurie and their new found love ended the play in an outstanding theatrical production.

The Junior class set high goals for themselves this year. They took great strides to achieve the goals in academics, sports, band, chorus, and many other activities. The Junior class presented a skit entitled "Sports Illustrated" and the Junior football players did their rap. Although they did not take first place, they had a great time on stage.

Magazine and candy sales helped to support the fund raising for prom. The top twenty seven magazine salespeople were treated to a "night out" at Walker's Fine Foods and Spirits. In May, the juniors were challenged with the task of decorating for prom.

The Making of a Night to Remember

On the Monday before Prom, the Junior class started planning and making preparations to decorate for the dance. They diligently worked hanging streamers, setting up tables, blowing up balloons and preparing the picture taking area. The Junior class was under the expert guidance of class advisors Mrs. Donna Hendrickson and Mr. Keith Burns. Their week of hard labor culminated on Friday May 1st for the debutante ball of the year, The Best of Both Worlds.

Yoga was a very important part of football training. It prepared the athletes both mentally and physically for the upcoming game. "It is a very disciplined form of stretching and mentally prepares the athlete to perform at his best," quotes coach McGlone.

Grapplers Go To State

Tenacity and skill were two things the FHS wrestling team learned under the guidance of first year Head Coach Dan Schutt and Assistant Coach Tobin Dailey. By devoting many hours and working hard on their moves, the wrestling team put their knowledge to use on the mat for a successful season.

During the regular season of take downs and reversals, the grapplers finished their dual season in a tie for the Big Sioux Conference crown sharing a 4-1 Conference record with Tri-Valley. The only conference loss for the Fliers in dual meets was to the Dell Rapids Warriors.

The FHS wrestling team scored 99 points in the Big Sioux Conference meet to finish 4th. Two wrestlers, Mike Leraas-185 lb and Jim Thomas-heavy weight were runners up in their weight divisions. Four Fliers finished 3rd. They were Cory Scofield-105 lbs., Robbie Delaney-132 lbs., Brock Vardsveen-195 lbs., and Mike May-167 lbs.

The top four finishers in each division advanced from District 3 "B" held at Howard to Region II B at Parker. At the Region II B, six of seven FHS wrestlers qualified for the State B Tournament held in Watertown. At state the Fliers qualified for the State B Tournament held in Watertown. # Making the Hoops Count

Returning to the 1986-87 Flier basketball squad were nine letterman. They included Danny Jewett, Jason Crouch, Aaron Schultz, Jim Schaap, Mike Hammer, Mike Ketcham, J.C. Smith and Shawn Delaney. Experience was a valuable asset due to the number of many returning players. Additions to the letter winners were Brian Johnson, David Sutton, and Mike Jewett. This was the second year for the new three class divisions of boy's basketball. The Fliers were in the Class A division.

The Fliers captured the Big Sioux Conference Basketball Tournament title with style. The team won the opening game against Dell Rapids 85-81. From there the Fliers stopped Tri-Valley in the second game 58-48. The Fliers then squeaked by Beresford to win the championship with a score of 59-58.

Going into District tournament play, the FHS Roundballers had a conference record of 5-1 with Tri-Valley being the only conference team defeating the Fliers. Districts were held in Watertown where the Fliers met tough competition. FHS went home from the District III A tournament with 3rd place and no challenge game was played.

During the regular season the girls' team came home with three championship crowns by winning the Elk Point Invitational, the Dell Rapids Invitational, and the Sioux Valley Invitational. The girls captured the Big Sioux Conference Crown for the 3rd year in a row and went on to place second at Regions. The girls' team sent several members to the State meet in Sioux Falls where they scored 10 points. The 400 meter relay team consisting of Kathy Gageby, Carol Svendsen, Amy Schultz, and Karisa Voorhees placed second. The 800 meter relay team consisting of Kathy Gageby, Roberta Iverson, Amy Schultz, and Karisa Voorhees placed 5th. The boys' team came out on top at the Elk Point Invitational, Flandreau Invitational, and placed second in the Big Sioux Conference. Qualifying for State on the boys' team were Aaron Schultz in the 200 meter and Jason Pulscher in the shot put. The seniors on the boys' team performed good throughout the season. The Senior boys included Aaron Schultz and Jason Pulscher, Mike Hammer in the jumping and pole vault events, and Darwin Latham in the sprinting events.

This was a young team but with the firm foundation that was built this year, there are great expectations for the coming year.

Golfers Make Putters Flutter

For the first time in three years the Big Sioux River cooperated by not flooding the Flan-dreau Park Golf Course. This allowed FHS the opportunity to host a quad with Dells Rapids St. Marys, Dell Rapids Public and Beresford, a conference meet and also regions.

FHS hosted the Regional Golf Meet on May 11, 1987. The boys team won the Regional title with Scott Ekern, Terry Tollefson, J.C. Smith, and Travis Johnson going to the State meet held in Mitchell on May 18 & 19, 1987. # FEW STUDENTS ON ANNUAL STAFF

At the end of the 1986 school, longtime annual advisor, Mr. Cliff Sutton, resigned from that position. After 18 years of meeting deadlines and with little student involvement the past few years, it was time for Mr. Sutton to pass the job on to someone else.

However, as the summer progressed, no one came forward to take on the responsibility for the position. Rumors of not having an annual were soon in the air.

This is when two members of the community, Lowell Johnson and Alan Carson, decided to come forth and take on the job.

When school opened in the fall, initial response to put the yearbook together was tremendous. For the first few meetings, 30 to 40 students attended. This may have been because this was a test year for the annual. If there wasn't more student involvement to help with the yearbook, then there wasn't to be one.

After the first couple of meetings, things settled down to a group of five to seven. This group met every Monday evening at 6:30 or as often as they could to get the job done.

During the yearbook meetings, page layouts were drawn out, body copy was written, pictures were picked out and then printed and any film that was shot during the day was developed and readied for the contact book.

The purpose of the yearbook was to be a vehicle to preserve a year in the students' high school life. It is a memory book. Students lived with their friends day after day during the school year and had built strong friendships. But after 10, 15, 25, 30, years have gone by after graduation, these friendships have drifted apart. The yearbook has kept these friendships alive over the years and then becomes a prized possession.

Students had to be active on the annual staff to keep the yearbook going year after year. It may not have seemed important to you as a student then, but as the decades past, the mind's memory has faded but the printed word and picture has lasted forever.

Spending most of their time in the dark (the dark-room that is) were the yearbook photographers. You could see them during the school day taking photos of hall activities, teachers in action and some not in action, or lunchroom antics. After they finished with the film in their camera, they retreated to the darkroom where they worked the magic of photography.

MAYTAG REPAIRMEN AREN'T THE ONLY LONELY PEOPLE

An annual advisor's job was one of long hours and hard work but the reward was great when the yearbook came back in the fall with its 92 pages bound in a hard cover.

This was the first year of being co-advisors for Mr. Alan Carson and Mr. Lowell Johnson. It was an interesting and learning experience for each of them. With the help of their editor, Amy Petersen, and members of the yearbook staff during the school year, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Carson were able to wrap up the yearbook project in July.

STUDENTS IN 4-H

Students active in 4-H were involved in many projects such as the Country fair, the South Dakota State Fair and Moody County Achievement Days parade. The various 4-H club members met once a month for their meetings which included club business, demonstrations given by members and special speakers and with lunch being served following the meeting. During the late fall and winter months the clubs put on various fun activities such as hay rides and roller skating parties where members invited guests. During the Moody County Achievement Days in August, club members entered their projects they had been working on all year. The different entry divisions included arts & crafts, livestock, clothing, gardening, photography, electricity and insect collecting. Anyone receiving a purple or blue ribbon advanced to the South Dakota State Fair in Huron.

CHURCH YOUTH ARE ACTIVE

Wednesday night was the traditional church night. It was the one night during the week that no school activities were planned so that the students could attend the church of their choice.

The church youth groups meeting at the various churches spent their Wednesday evenings in a time of fellowship and learning. Discussions covered religious topics including the Bible and how it related to students, family and the world. Other discussions covered the topics of everyday temptations and vices such as sex, drugs and alcohol, and rock music.

The Latch Key Project held in May worked with children who were home alone after school with their parents still at work. The FHA worked with young children and taught them what to do in emergencies, how to make nutritious snacks and they taught the children emergency phone numbers.

FHA members also sold magazines to members of the community to raise money to send the chapters officers to the State Convention of the Future Homemakers of America.

Members also participated in Action Activity Events where they presented speeches on different topics. Students participating were judged and awarded 1st, 2nd, or 3rd place.

A Mary Kay Cosmetics consultant came to the classroom and talked to students about skin care and other health related topics concerning people of their age bracket.

FFA RECEIVES STATE AWARDS

The Flandreau chapter of the Future Farmers of America had a busy year. Many activities and projects were planned and carried out during the year. One major project for the FFA group members was the construction of a lunch stand at the livestock arena at the Moody County Fair grounds under the B.O.A.R.S.D.C. Project (Building Our America Rural South Dakota Community Project). The new stand will be a welcome addition at the fair grounds. The group also built picnic tables and sold them as a fund raiser. Selling popcorn during home sporting events was another means of fund raising. FFA members largest fund raiser was fruit sales in the fall. This year's top salespeople were from the freshman class, Warren Raguse; sophomore, Brock Vardsveen; junior class, Keith Hobbie; and the senior class had a tie between Amy Doyle and Paul Barthel. The members of the Flandreau chapter also showed livestock at local fairs and the South Dakota State Fair.

Future Farmers of America Officers for 1986-87 were, President, Amy Doyle; Vice President, Jennifer Loiseau; Secretary, Roberta Iverson; Treasurer, Lance Koester; Reporter, Scott Reed; Sentinel, Paul Barthel; Student Advisor, Lisa Duncan.

The Flandreau chapter performed well at the State Convention held at Brookings. Gold Emblem winners were Amy Doyle, 1st place in sheep showmanship; Jim Thomas 1st place in beef showmanship. Silver Emblem winners were Roberta Iverson in cattle showmanship; Jerrie Thomas in dairy foods judging; and Lance Koester in livestock judging. Bronze Emblem winners were Jason Gullickson in livestock judging and Amy Doyle in quarter horse judging. The livestock judging team of Jason Gullickson, Lance Koester and Keith Hobbie received a Silver Emblem by earning 16th place. Jennifer Loiseau

Keith Hobbie received the state's Computers in Agriculture Award for his studies on computers in agriculture. Paul Barthel earned a $750.00 scholarship to any South Dakota state college for his participation in the Ag Day Quiz.

COLORADO

In March the Flandreau High School band traveled to Colorado Springs, Colorado to perform in concert competition. The band spent many hours working on fund raising events to raise the $10,000 necessary to cover travel expenses to Colorado and back. The group sold pizzas and cheese door to door to members of the community. As a fund raiser, the band hosted a dinner after a concert. The stage band performed at a New Year's Eve dance held at the Community Center. Other members of the band worked at the dance selling set ups and admission tickets. After many hours of hard work, the band members boarded a charter bus and a mini van for the long trip to Colorado. Once there, the band performed for the judges after only a few practice sessions but the band was unable to place in the tough competition. They were able to spend some time sight seeing and they toured the Denver Mint. The road home to Flandreau was a long and tiring one as the bus and mini van traveled through a major winter storm on icy and snow packed roads. All the hard work and effort put into the trip will make it one that members of the FHS band will always remember.

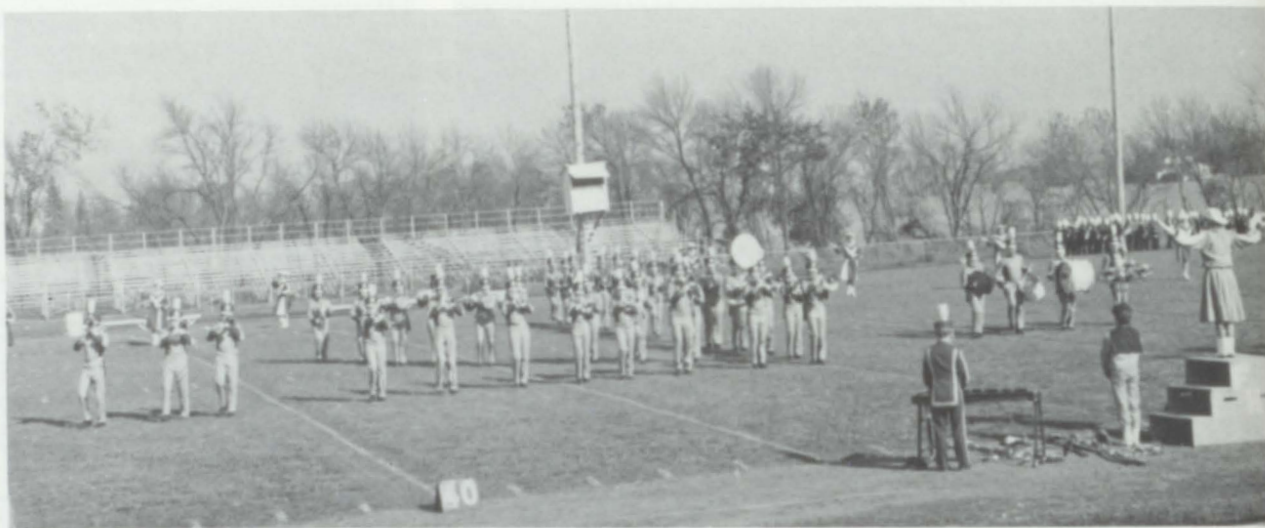

As the early morning fog drifted above the Big Sioux River, people could hear the echoing sounds of music. This only meant that the FHS band was out on the cold and damp football field practicing for one of their upcoming field marching performances. The band also provided entertainment and team support during home football and basketball games and wrestling matches.

The band marched in South Dakota State University's Hobo Day Parade in Brookings and in Dakota State College's Trojan Days Parade in Madison. While in Madison, the band performed in a field marching competition for bands that participated in the parade.

Band leader, Mr. Solem and the members of the FHS band performed their annual Christmas and Pops Concerts and ended a busy year with their grand finale performance, the Spring Concert.

GROUPS ENTERTAIN

The All-State Chorus Concert was held at the Sioux Falls Arena with guest conductor, Eph Ehly, from the University of Missouri-Kansas City. The chorus practiced all day Friday and Saturday and presented their concert to the public Saturday night.

The members and alternates of the FHS vocal department participating in the All-State Chorus Concert are Danny Sutton, Brett Ketcham, Danelle Hove, Richard Hagel, Amy Ludeman, Sonja Nester, alternate Jill Jorgenson, Sam Amdahl, alternate Audra Lind, and Sara Amdahl. Not pictured is alternate Russell Hotkamp.

Other small groups that entertained were the Swing Choir and Stage Band. The Swing Choir, under the direction of Mr. Larry Wilske, was a selected group of individuals from the mixed chorus. They put their up tempo songs together with dance routines and movements and performed their routines at concerts, contests and special gatherings.

The Stage Band was also a selected group of students from the entire FHS band. These members were chosen by band director Mr. Steve Solem. The members usually were the players that sat in the first and second chairs for their particular instrument. The Stage Band performed at concerts, FHS's Little Orpheum and a New Year's Eve bash at the Flandreau Community Center.

SING, SING A SONG

The FHS chorus began the school year with the various tryouts for Swing choir and All-State chorus. Once these positions were filled, the chorus began preparing for their Christmas concert. An early start was needed as there was much to do. The group worked on several different dance routines and many different vocal numbers. This hard work paid off because on December 8th the Christmas concert was performed for the community and was well received.

With the songs of Christmas still in the students' minds, the chorus department began working on the all school musical titled, "Oklahoma". While getting ready for the musical, the chorus had to also prepare for contests at Augustana College in Sioux Falls. Members of the chorus performed solos, duets, and trios at the contests. On Tuesday, April 7th, the musical was presented to the general public for a one time showing.

FINALLY- "ON THE TOP"

For the seniors the 1987 school year was one filled with happy memories. The sharing of special moments when each and every senior "lets loose and gets crazy" are what the good times are all about. Throughout their high school year, students look forward to being "on the top."

It was a time for seniors to enjoy every moment possible of their last year at Flandreau High School. The moments, filled with both fun and fellowship, are treasured within the heart of every graduate. The good times of the seniors' year will be remembered forever.

Senior priviledges started at the beginning of the last nine weeks of the school year. These priviledges meant that the seniors had the responsibility of coming to class on time. They also had the option of whether or not to leave school during a study hall or lunch break. Many of the seniors spent this time driving around with one another or just going home to watch television. The last day of school for the seniors was May 21, 1987, one week before the rest of the student body was finished.

Graduation! The day the seniors have been waiting for through their school years happened on May 24, 1987. It seems like only yesterday, the senior class took their first nap in kindergarten. Their grade school years passed by quickly. Classes were skipped, friendships were made and broken, students were up to their usual hyjinks, teachers patience were tried but through all this, the learning aquired began to shape and form the individualness of each senior.

The graduating class is looking towards a bright and successful future. The memories shared by the class will be re-counted many times during the decades ahead. What is ahead of the graduating class is unknown, but whatever it is, it will prove to be the best of times.
