There are many roads through life, some lead us down difficult paths while some lead us to success. The 1998-1999 school year has led students and faculty on many paths, including those to state tournaments, conventions and meetings.

For some, the road led to the United States as FHS hosted three foreign exchange students. Anna Oestmann and Florian Lange, both from Germany, and Maria Cazares, who came from Ecuador. "It's a totally different system here; I like multiple choice questions," Oestmann said.

German tests consist of mostly essay questions. Though there are many roads to follow, all found one place in common to stop,

Flandreau High School.

Cheering plays vital role...

Whether its on the sidelines or behind the scenes, cheerleaders play a vital role in the success of a team. Their high spirits and loud cheers bring energy back to a tired team.

Cheerleading is a great way to get involved, make friends and have a great time. Sophomore Billi Jean Cottier said, "It gives me something to do instead of being lazy." Cheerleading is also a way to become involved.

A cheerleader needs endurance, strength, and an awesome amount of dependability. Endurance is needed for the lengthy practices of learning cheers, dances, and being able to stay up late to make posters for the FHS athletes.

Physical strength is needed for stunts that involve lifting and supporting fellow cheerleaders while strength of mind is also needed for crowd control and being able to get along with others as role models for future FHS students and their peers.

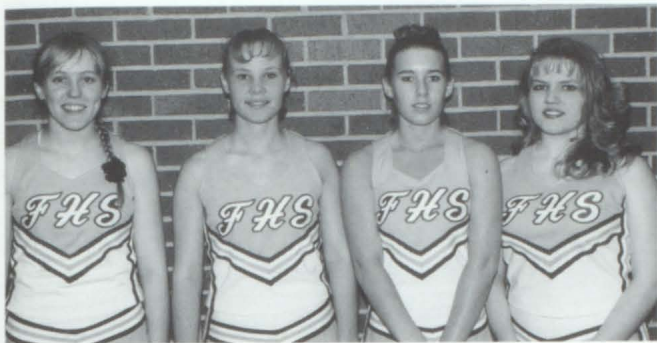

Dependability plays a great role in cheerleading for the lifts, such as the full extension in which a cheerleader is held strait above two other cheerleaders' heads.

"I like cheerleading because its a lot of fun and because I love to cheer on the players and I enjoy being involved in sports," states Junior Erika Rorvik.

It is obvious to anyone that the cheerleaders have fun and are appreciated. If you just watch the crowds' reactions to the cheers and listen to their reply, you can tell that cheerleading is a great sport and our girls are proud to be a part of it.

The advisor of the squads this year is Amy Pierson.

A season of surprises...

The 1998 Flandreau Flier football weason was an exciting one. With the addition of a new head coach it was hard to know what to expect. The new coach, Chris Long, would have to prove himself worthy to the players and to the fans. This didn't take long after pulling off a 27-15 victory in the season opener against the long-time Flandreau rival, Madison. This got things started for the Fliers. Their next two games would be losses but also learning experiences. They played West Central, who has remained undefeated for the last three years, and Tri-Valley, who some say was lost due to a bad call by the referee. The next six games resulted in wins for the Fliers, including a homecoming shutout over Howard, and a first round playoff win over Madison. Hopes were high for the Dome but were shattered by a second round playoff loss to Sisseton to leave the Fliers with an overall record of 7-3.

Senior fullback Brandon Jacobs led the team in overall rushing with 232 carries for 1677 yards. Senior quarterback Dustin Headrick came in second with 99 carries for 579 yards. Headrick also led the team in passing with 63 out of 135 completions for 706 yards passing and five touchdown passes.

The presence of a strong upperclass led the team to a successful year, but the underclassmen should not be forgotten. Eight sophomores lettered and earned some valuable game experience for future years. Bart Bauske summed it up as saying, "We were successful because of our strong senior class and underclassmen filling crucial positions."

Injuries don't hold girls back...

The 1998 girls basketball team got off to a slow start. With a three game losing streak, the season didn't look too bright. Senior Jenny Johnson commented, "The first three losses we had surprised me. After that, I didn't know how the season would go. We all were trying to figure out what we needed to do differently to turn things around." The team eventually bounced back with a seven game winning streak. The streak was ended by West Central during a conference game. The girls endured many highs and lows after that point in the season. This year, the team was invited to the Hanson-Anderson Classic in Mitchell where they suffered a loss to Parkston. The team made it through districts, defeating Madison and Sioux Valley. The girls' season ended in a Regional game to Clark with a score of 44-50. Senior Erin Oswald led the team as the single season field goal percentage leader at 56.1%. Senior Charissa Sheppard graduates with a career high 1,246 points. Johnson led the team in free throws shooting 84% at the line.

The two year injury bug suffered by the team made it hard for the girls to focus on some of their goals. "Anytime injuries are involved, the entire basketball team is affected. The team chemistry takes on a different look," said Head Coach Brian Relf. The team overcame many obstacles this season to end with a 12-10 record.

Number of participants high

The cross country team started with a trickle of people but by the season's end it became a waterfall. The most runners in over twenty years participated in cross country, forming an astounding sixteen girl team, the largest girl's A team in the Region and Conference. But even with such a large number of girls, they struggled to place high.

The boys' team on the other hand proved to have more success, winning five varsity meets.

Fall practice started on September 14 in the morning and soon progressed to after school. Every practice started with a half hour of stretching, sit-ups, and running 20-30 minutes. Some days consisted of key workouts, which meant sprinting up large hills or running on tough terrain.

"Running cross country this year was awesome! Whenever I would get discouraged, I would think of Forrest Gump and go the distance," stated sophomore Nora Johnson.

A select few received the honor of running at the State A Cross Country Meet held at the Lakeview Golf Course in Mitchell. Miranda Aadland ran the 4000 meters, coming in 81st of 122 runners. Running the 5000 meter were K.C. Bursheim, 18th; Anthony Hobbie, 27th; Charles Knutson, 52nd; Mike Aadland, 86th; Eric Shafer, 116th; and Andy Lacey, 121st, placing 6th as a team out of 64 groups competing. "The best part of the state meet was when everyone passed me at the finish line," stated Bursheim.

This year's coaching staff consisted of Coach Keyes and assistant Coach Travis Bartels with additional help from student manager Crystal Christensen.

Wrestlers are successful...

The 1998-1999 wrestling season proved to be both a learning and successful season for the Flandreau High School wrestling program.

The team's dual record was 11-19-1 and they finished third in the Central Valley Conference and fifth in both the CVC and district tournament. Flandreau also had seven wrestlers advance to region tournament action in Howard and sent three on to the state tournament in Aberdeen.

The seniors on the team - Niel Bennett, Brandon Jacobs, and captains Blake Doyle and Levi Luttmann - provided leadership all year for a young inexperienced squad. Luttmann led the team in three different statistical categories, and Jacobs led the contingent in takedowns. Both Luttmann and Jacobs advanced to the state tournament.

Juniors Bret Doyle and Jared Weatherly also lent a hand in leadership of the group. Doyle was second on the team in takedowns, and third on the team in escapes.

Sophomores in the troop include Dusty Hoffman, Joe Rydell, Jacob Parsley and Cody Chamblin. Rydell wrestled at 112 pounds and qualified for the state tournament. Hoffman was second on the team in two-point near falls and Parsley led the team in escapes.

The freshmen grapplers-Eric Amdahl and Ernie Claflin-also contributed to the team. Amdahl wrestled a good part of the year at 140 pounds on varsity and Claflin came on the squad late and took the 145 pound slot.

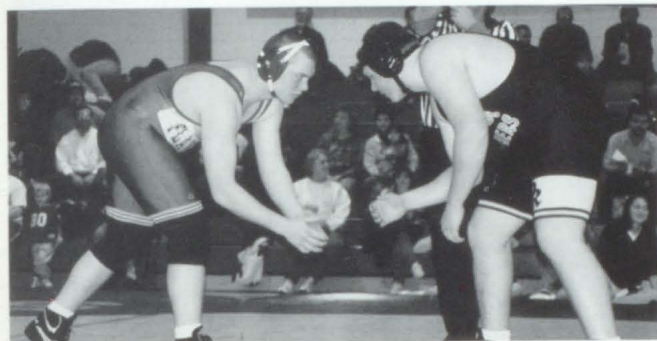

Head Coach for the team this year is Travis Bartels while assisting him is Jim Keyes. Student managers are: Holist Sutton, Logan Rose, Brett Lueck, and Ryan Rydell.

Girls come out ahead...

Fans stagger through the stands, six of FHS's girls stand on the court with one ambition in their mind. They want to win. Yells of support remind them of why they are there. The coaches sit nervously on the bench, jumping for joy when our girls achieve their goal again. The volleyball girls outstanced everyone with their season record of 27 wins out of 37 games. Not only did the girls play well, they had fun on the court and in practice. Freshman Abby Jorgenson said, "I like volleyball because the coaches make it fun."

Sophomore Melissa Adolph adds, "Practice always gives me something to do after school with my friends." Practices consisted of conditioning, drills, scrimmages and other intense workouts.

This past season of volleyball was great for the new coach, Miss Kristi Fischer, too. "Miss Fischer is a great coach. She got really intense during matches and strongly affected how well the season went," states Sophomore Danielle Rosheim. Miss Fischer is a seventh grade English teacher, and has been with the Flandreau teaching staff for two years.

One thing that the members of the FHS volleyball team will remember is that once unfamous cheer "Fliers, Fliers how do you feel? We feel so good, oh we feel so good. Huh."

A successful season indeed...

Three seniors, three juniors, and six sophomores made up the varsity boys basketball team this year while twenty-six others filled the Junior Varsity and C-team rosters.

Coach Weber had this to say about the team: "I was very pleased how they progressed throughout the year. We were much more of a competitive team than people thought we were."

The team started off the season with a loss to Hamlin but came back in the next game with a 62-61 victory over Harrisburg.

The CVC tournament started out with a one-point loss to Sioux Valley in double over-time. However, the team pulled back together for wins in the next two tournament games.

The later half of the season went well with the team winning ten of the next thirteen games, one of which was in district competition. The season ended at the district finals when the team lost to Sioux Valley.

"By far the best thing about this season is that practically nobody, including myself, thought we would be above a 500 team, and we proved them all wrong," states Senior Dustin Headrick.

CVC All-Conference honors went to Seniors Dustin Headrick and Jeremy Johnson. Honorable mention went to Junior Justin Krull and Sophomore Kyle Wiese.

Headrick led the team with overall points scored (241) and in steals (34). Krull led in rebounds (131), with Headrick behind him with 124. Johnson led in assists (63) with Wiese right behind at 62. Head Coach for the boys this year is Mr. Rick Weber.

Golfers hit the links...

An exciting year with many team finishes in the top ranks led to the success of both Flier golf teams.

The beginning of the season brought out 30 prospective golfers. Early practices were held inside until the weather allowed practices to be held outdoors.

Weather conditions weren't always ideal to play in as one meet was cancelled and two were postponed due to storms or rainy weather.

In order to participate in a meet, golfers had to shoot an eighteen-hole qualifying round during practice. Those with the best overall scores went to the next scheduled meet.

Both the girls and the boys team started the season off on a good note by placing well in their first meet. Both teams received first place honors at the Elk Point/Jefferson Dual.

Competition continued to go well with both the boys' and girls' teams placing in the top five at the next six meets.

Region action was held at the Watertown golf course where again, both teams placed in the top five.

Advancing to state competition, held in Yankton, were KC Bursheim, Jeremy Johnson, Shaun Powers, Mike Drennen, Jodi Jensen, Jessica Jewett and Kris Solem. Bursheim placed fifth overall for the boys and was named a member of the All-State team and the North All-Star Golf Team. Jewett placed sixth for the girls and was also named a member of the All-State team.

Head Coach Chris Long wrapped up the season by stating, "It was a tough year with all of the weather difficulties but was very successful. We had high expectations coming in and we didn't accomplish all of our goals but hopefully we had fun."

Track team finishes well...

Once again, students at FHS were glad to be able to participate in an outdoor sport as soon as the weather allowed it.

The 1998-99 Track teams were off and running strong throughout the season, reaching for many individual and team goals.

Five middle schoolers were moved up to fill the girls' team roster while five seniors, two juniors, five sophomores and one freshman took the other places on the team.

The girls team came out strong with all groups and individuals placing within the top six at the first meet of the season at the Dakota Valley invitational.

The team continued its success with fifth place standings at the next two meets. After receiving 12th at the Hamlin Banana Relays, the team came back with a fourth place finish at the Sioux Valley Invitational. The girls polished off the season with sixth place at CVC and a tie for third at the Region meet, sending seven of its members to the State meet.

Three seniors, one junior, eight sophomores and seven freshmen completed the roster for the boys this year. With all groups and individuals placing no lower than the top seven, the boys team also had season-long success. The team placed fourth at the first two meets, which started off the season well, but dipped down to 11th at Hamlin's Banana Relays. However, the team came back to second at Sioux Valley and fourth at both the CVC and Region 2A meet, sending six of its members to the State.

Both teams ended the season with 37 individual letter winners and various awards.

Extra activity offered

High school offers many opportunities for individuals to get involved. Activities such as Oral Interpretation provide competition on a personal level while organizations such as the FFA offer opportunities for teams to excel.

Another popular extra-curricular activity is athletics. Many hours of practice are devoted to preparing for games, meets and matches.

For those whose busy lives do not allow the extra time for practice or for those who choose not to participate in sports for various reasons, there is still an opportunity to be physically active.

Intramural Sports gives students the chance to engage in friendly competition, where their fellow classmates are their teammates as well as their opponents.

To be eligible to participate in Intramural Sports, students can not be involved with any regular season sports during that part of the year.

Those involved met one night a week to enjoy various sports such as basketball and volleyball.

When asked what they like about Intramural Sports, Seniors Jill Wede and Jessica Rydell stated, "Playing just to have fun and there is no pressure from the coaches."

"It (Intramural Sports) keeps us in shape and we have fun doing it," said Senior Wayne Pitzenberger.

The supervisor for Intramural Sports is Mr. Jason Schramm who collected health forms from those who wish to participate.

Two teams are successful

Early hour bus rides, late hour practices, and all other hours in between contributed to a successful season for the 1998-99 oral interp team. Members attended Dakota State University, Milbank, Clear Lake, and McCarty meets.

Throughout the season, members won various awards at competitions. Among the honored was Grant Lacey, who said, "Oral Interp provides me a creative outlet, and the success I've had gives me reason to strive for more."

Although only two participants advanced from region competition, both wrapped up the season with successes at the state meet. Lacey, in humorous, and Angela Lind, in poetry, both won State Superior awards. Mrs. Beaner was also presented a coaching award for having two or more contestants win a top honor.

Another successful team this year was the Quiz Bowl team. CVC Quiz Bowl action took place at McCook Central this year with the FHS team winning first of the eight teams competing.

Forty individuals honored

Twenty-three Seniors and seventeen Juniors were honored May 2 at the 1999 National Honor Society Banquet.

Mistress of ceremonies was Emilee Ellingson, in charge of giving the opening and closing speeches.

Twenty new members were inducted into the National Honor Society with the twenty current ones.

Induction ceremonies were conducted by the current members, who read various roles of membership. Current members also handed out certificates and pins.

Eligibility is based upon leadership, service, character and scholarship. The inductees must also be either a junior or a senior in high school and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average. From this list of criteria, a committee of faculty members choose who will be allowed to enter the society.

Small groups keep busy

Teens On the Road to Chemical Health (TORCH) provides students with an opportunity to get involved with the student body. Members of TORCH helped organize and sponsor many events including Red Ribbon Week, junior high dances and two high school bowling parties. Torch members also helped plan awareness day and served as middle school role models.

Another small group that accomplished a lot this year was the Yearbook staff. A virtually all new staff joined first year advisor Gloria Bauske to put together the 88 page book. The group struggled to acquire the knowledge and skills needed to produce a yearbook while Tracy Burggraff, a graduate of FHS and past editor of the annual offered assistance. "By the end of the year everyone left school for summer while Jill and I were there trying to get the book done. I just want everyone to know that the yearbook is not something we put together overnight," said Elizabeth Becker.

Group learning beneficial

SEEK gives students an opportunity to learn more about things that are not covered in the classroom. Small groups are formed based upon the interests of the individuals involved. These groups then choose the topic that they want to learn about, whether it be astrology, word roots, photography or exotic animals.

Another opportunity for group learning is Odyssey of the Mind.

The OM team competed in the category "O' My Faire

Shakespeare" and was required to write an original play, including original music and a technical element. With everything from a singing and dancing sarsaparilla bottle to a team-built player piano, the OM members had an interesting time. Angela Lind states, "Over three years, our OM team has worked towards compromise and creativity. However this was the only year someone dressed in drag, weeds, or car parts."

FFA has busy Spring

As soon as Spring time rolls around, FFA members trade their books for their boots to participate in various judging competitions.

Those who choose to participate on a judging team must be willing to work hard. Judging at local events leads to participating at the State FFA Convention in Brookings. Moving ahead of the competition were members of the meats team, who received first place and will advance to National competition. Other teams receiving honors at the State Convention were the Floriculture team, who got second place.

The coming of Spring also means preparing for National FFA Week. The annual petting zoo attracted many, including Spafford children and community members. Ag Olympics and the appreciation breakfast were also held during FFA Week.

The advisor for this year is Mr. Josh Burggraff who will be leaving to continue his farming operation.

FHA has successful year

Local, District and State meetings, concessions, fundraisers and selling carnations kept FHA members busy during the school year.

Fundraisers for the year include selling Jad Plastics, Christmas items, calendars, and carnations. FHA members sold over 400 carnations to students, family and friends just in time for Valentine's Day. Local members also sold concessions during basketball games.

Flandreau hosted a District Rally where those attending participated in workshops. Many students presented illustrated talks at the District meeting held at West Central. Students who received superiors advanced to state competition. Mrs. Weatherly and eight students attended the State meeting held in Sioux Falls. All eight received superiors on their illustrated talks presented there.

FHA members wrapped up the year with Awards night where Mrs. Weatherly and President Laura Schmidt handed out awards.

Homecoming: Spirits Run High

Spirits ran high as many FHS students showed pride in their school by participating in the many homecoming activities.

Students began the week with Little Orpheum skits on Monday night. Winning for best class skit were the Sophomores with "Touch Your Knees," featuring a motivational speech from Matt Foley, a character on Saturday Night Live. New to Little Orpheum was a skit performed by the Band. The new addition won best overall skit with "The Twelve Days of Homecoming." Following Little Orpheum were coronation ceremonies. Receiving the crowns this year are Jason Beyer and Dawn Doyle.

"I was shocked when I was chosen, but I'm glad I was because it was a fun and exciting week," stated Beyer.

Performing Arts: Students Act Up

Scatting cats and famous rock singers set the scene for the One-Act and All-School plays.

Students performing in the One-Act Play entitled Cats had quite an experience prancing around on stage in cat costumes and introducing their own characters. Cats was performed twice, once for kids from Spafford and once for the community.

Costumes also played an important part in the All-School musical, Bye, Bye, Birdie, a 1950's-based story focusing on famous rock singer Conrad Birdie and his upcoming entrance into the army. Not only did the girls enjoy wearing poodle skirts, but Brady Olson enjoyed them as well.

"Wearing a poodle skirt was a great experience and I hope to do it again," stated Olson.

Prom: The fun is Hypnotic

Anyone walking into FHS on April 10th could guess by the students' attire what was happening that night. Tuxedos and gowns can mean only one thing--the Junior-Senior prom.

The grand march was held at 8:00 in the high school gym. Chosen as King and Queen are Jeremy Johnson and Jacque Headrick.

Following the grand march, students moved to the community center for a night of music and dancing. This year's prom colors are burgundy, silver and black. The theme song, "I Don't Wanna Miss a Thing" by Aerosmith, also doubled as prom theme.

After the dance, students boarded buses headed to the Sioux Falls YMCA for basketball, volleyball, and hypnotist Nate Grimm.

Graduation: End of the Road

May 23, 1999 brought about an end to 62 seniors' high school years. As time has passed, so have goals and importances in these students' lives. Commencement speaker Cindy Houtman took the class back in time to fourth grade and the lifelines they made then.

From pilots to teachers to farmers, each fourth grader had a goal, Houtman told them. And now, after time has passed, some goals have changed while others pursue the same goal.

Student Body Pres. Darby Landgren and Senior class Pres. Emilee Ellingson also gave their farewell speeches to the senior class. After these, the class walked across the stage to receive the certificate they had worked the past 13 years for.

QUOTE

It was one of the hardest things I've had to do. I missed walking in with my class and am going to miss everybody.

~ Susan Johnson, Senior

UNQUOTE

Faculty members stay busy

Just like most students, teachers lead busy lives. From attending inservices, supervising detention, and creating lesson plans, teachers are kept busy throughout the day.

Preparing school lunches is also a large job. From breakfast to lunch the food service people are kept busy, serving two meals to students in the Middle and High School each day.

No matter what time of day you walk into FHS, it's always found to be clean. This can be contributed to the hard-working Custodial staff.

Thank you to the Faculty of FHS for a successful year.

For the Freshman Class of 2002, the road through high school is just beginning. The many opportunities to get involved were taken advantage of by many of the students, whether it was being a part of sports, plays, Little Orpheum or just hanging around.

Once the initial shock wore off, many of the students were able to keep their school work organized and in one piece.

Popular choices of Freshmen students for their favorite part of the year include: Homecoming, Awareness Day and Career Day.

Class of 2001

Stuck in the middle is where you'll find the Sophomore class of 2001. Without the frustration and confusion of being a freshman, the sophomores just came and went.

Participation in sports, plays and extra-curricular activities kept most busy. Sophomores showed their presence on the courts, in the stands and behind the scenes.

While some made a little extra cash, others found they had little free time.

Though many memories were made during their Sophomore year, most look forward to becoming upperclassmen.

Starting on the last half of the road through high school provides a seemingly unending list of things to do. History/English projects need to be done and planning for the future needs to be started.

"Combined English/History projects are a great learning experience because of the great variety of possible subjects to research," stated Grant Lacey.

Not only did the Juniors research in history, they also did some investigating of the future. Deciding if and which college to go to is a major decision in life, one that won't come without a lot of research.

Class of 1999

To some, its the end of one road in life. To others, its just the beginning of another. Whichever way you look at it, the Senior Class of 1999 will never be forgotten.

Many memories are made throughout high school, whether they come from Homecoming, prom or just time spent roaming the halls.

Some take time off for college visits while some count down the days until Senior Privileges start.

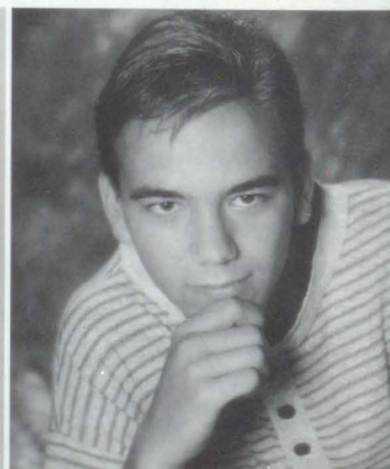

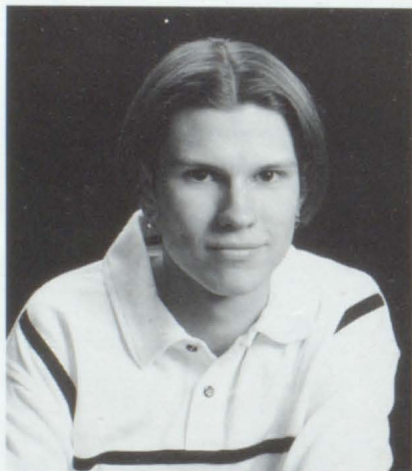

Graduation ceremonies concluded the High School years of the Class of 1999. All will venture out in search of Where the Road Leads.

Colophon

The 1998-1999 Flier was published by Flandreau Public High School and 200 copies were printed by Jostens Publishing. Cost is $30 in the Spring, $33 in Fall. Photography by Elizabeth Becker. There are 88 pages printed on gloss paper. The ink is black, the cover is fineline number 585. Typestyle is 10 pt. for copy and 8 pt. for captions. Headlines and quotes are various styles. The computer program used was Adobe PageMaker 6.5 with the Jostens Yeartech program.

Below: The end of the year brings about the need to clean out lockers, as Sophomore Geriann Iverson does here.

Right: Painting the rock is a tradition of the Senior class. Here they used the school colors to adorn the rock with their class year. The name of each senior was also painted in gold on the black base.

Where the Road Leads

1998-1999

Above: Tests taken and books closed, students and faculty continue thier journey on the road to summer.

The end of the year brings many forks in the road, all leading in different directions. Some travel down similar paths while others journey off on their own. The road may be full of surprises and detours, however, the many memories gathered along the way are kept and never forgotten. Though no one knows what lies ahead, there is always something to look forward to; the time when individual paths must cross again to tell of Where the Road Leads.
