By Erica Rorvik

Once again, the Flandreau Flier Cheerleaders have been busy.

To kick off the new year, many of the cheerleaders went to Cheer Camps during the summer to learn new stunts, cheers, chants and dance routines. Some

went to a one-day

camp at South Dakota State University while five cheerleaders went to Augustana for the NCA cheer camp. NCA stands for the National Cheerleaders Association. The Flier cheerleaders received a "spirit stick" while there. This is an honor bestowed on cheerleading teams that show qualities of enthusiasm, dedication and good attitude.

Later on in the year, the cheerleaders held their own cheer camp for grades 1-4 and

5-6. The girls who attended the Flier camp performed at the halftime of a Boys Basketball game. As a final highlight for the year, the cheerleaders were able to perform at the Boys Basketball parents' night with extra class. They performed two dance routines intermixed with several cheers, chants and a huge stunt while lasers and lights sur-rounded them with the pumping of music. Teresa Johnson is the advisor.

It's a Guy Thing

By Mitch Fargen

Football players had an up and down season. They faced a tough schedule.

Coach Long stated at the beginning of the year, "The potential to have a quality football team is there, but we have some large shoes to fill in key positions. We'll be relatively inexperienced on offense but we should improve game to game. We'll just have to wait and see!"

On offense, Junior Josh Waxdahl carried the ball 184 times for 870 yards and caught the ball two times for twenty-six yards, scoring 64 points. Kyle Wiese, also a junior, had 36 receptions for 455 yards, scoring 24 points. Nate Gould, junior, caught 18 passes for 163 yards and Junior brady Olson caught 17 passes for 137 yards. Total offensive gain was 2,352 yards, 1743 yards rushing and 614 yards passing.

"The season

didn't go as I hoped, but we

live on and learn

~Nick LeBrun, 11

On defense, Senior Lance Iott led the way with 135 tackles with Junior Nick LeBrun following at 74 and Justin Krull, senior, with 73. Wiese led the team with two interceptions. Juniors Mitch Fargen, Collin Jacobs and nathan LaLonde all accounted for one.

"I am happy to be part of the 1999 football team and to participate in their upcoming season," said Freshman Austin Hobbie. Krull kicked 24 times for an average of 55.9 yards per kick. Olson punted 26 times for an average of 34.2 yards per punt. The quarterback postion was shared by two players this year. Senior Mike Holmoe threw for 48 completions and had a total of 547 yards and three touchdown passes. Sophomore Brandon Carr threw for 31 completions and had a total of 326 yards and two touchdown passes.

Though the three wins earned this year by the team were well deserved, none came for the Fliers on Homecomming night. The team started out the contest with the Madison Bulldogs on a field flooded with white. The first measurable snowfall of the season started early that morning and continued on through the day. By gametime three inches had fallen. Whether you blame it on the weather, the refs or just a streak of bad luck, the game was lost that night 2-0 on a Madison safety. LeBrun summed up the year and stated, "The season didn't go as I hoped, but we live on and learn from it."

Beadership

By Jeremy Anderson The 1999 Girls Basketball team had an up and down season. The team had only two Seniors and eight Juniors. They started off winning their first two games. Their first game was to Milbank with a score of 48 to 46. Their second game they played was against Elkton and had a score of 48 to 23. Mona Zephier quoted about the season, "It may not have ended how we wanted it to, but we learned a lot more about ourselves."

When Homecoming came around they played against the West Central and lost to them by 44 to 53. The game the girls played against the Flandreau Indian School was won 100 to 51. The team went into overtime three times in their season; they won two of them and lost one. This year the team was invited to the Hanson-Anderson Classic in Mitchell where they suffered a loss in overtime to Clark.

The FHS Varsity Boys Basketball team started out the 1999-2000 season with three sophomores, eight juniors and one senior making up the roster.

The first game of the season took place in the Flandreau High School Gymnasium against Canton. The game was the first win for Flandreau. In the Central Valley Conference Tournament the Fliers took third place after winning the first game against Garretson, losing the second against Tri-Valley and winning the third against Sioux Valley.

Head Coach Rick

Weber had this to say of the team, "Our youth and inexperience showed at times through the season, but we had great senior leadership from Justin Krull throughout the year." A few select members received honors for their performance through the season. Justin Krull made the All-Conference team while Brett Erickson and Kyle Wiese made the Honorable Mention All-Conference Team. Erickson also made the Brookings All Register Team and created a new school record for making eighty-nine percent of Success on the Links

By Mr. Chris Long

The Flandreau Fliers completed a very successful golf season in which both the boys and girls teams brought home hardware from the State Golf meet.

The girls finished sixth at State, which was held at the Watertown Municipal Golf Course and the boys grabbed eigth place honors golfing at Prairie Winds Country Club in Watertown. Sophomore Jessica Jewett wrapped up her fourth State tournament with a seventeenth place finish and Senior Mark Heinemann capped his senior season with a ninteenth place finish.

Others attending the state meet for the girls were Seniors Becci Hoffman and Amy Powers and Junior Kris Solem.

the regular season, the Flandreau girls earned four titles with wins at the Huskie Invite, Jesse James Invite, Flandreau Invite and the Dell Rapids Invite.

"I was very pleased with our performance this year," said Head Coach Chris

Long. "We played well at the State Tournament and that's what your goal is every year."

With topics ranging from frogs chasing flies to recovering alcoholic mothers, the 1999-2000 Oral Interpretation Team has something to talk about. Hours of practicing, cutting down pieces, and lots of long bus rides were hardships of this year's season, but in the end it all paid off for those who advanced to the Regional competion, especially for Senior Sara Headrick, who was the lone student from Flandreau to advance to the State Meet. Headrick won a State Superior Award for her poetry piece.

Members attended meets in Milbank, Deuel, Sioux Falls Lincoln, Madison, Watertown and Brookings. They also had a local competition to see who would advance to Regions.

"Oral Interp was fun and challenging and making it to Regions my first year in Interp was a great experience," says Freshman Courtney Jones.

To be in Interp, members have to choose pieces at the beginning of the year, make cuts to keep the piece within the time limit (5-10 minutes) and practice with Coach Amy Smith so they can be "the best that they can be." Members choose pieces that reflect a point they wish to get across, ranging from serious to humorous.

They then present this peice at various competitions and receive crituques from judges at each contest.

Total CHAO

By Dusty Hoffmann

This year the Desktop Publishing class accomplished many things. First they published a bi-weekly page called the Co-Pilot in the Enterprise. They also put together a bi-weekly newsletter that was distributed throughout the school. Publishing the yearbook was also on their to do list. Heading up each of the projects was Advisor Ms. Amy Smith.

The Co-Pilot staff worked very hard on all their stories for the newspaper. Cal McKeown and Ashley Blum were the editors for the page. Picture editors were Nick Cottier and Kyle Wiese.

"This class is very interesting and very amussing at times," Junior Nate Gould said about the class.

The Free Flier was a new addition to the class this year. It featured things like the school lunches, birthdays, feature stories, fashion updates and a puzzle that could be turned in for a prize if you were the first one to have done correctly. Junior Ashley Blum served as the editor for this publication.

The yearbook was a new addition for the class this year. Usually it was done as an after school activity and people had to volunteer to help put it together. It takes a lot of hard work and time to put out the yearbook. Junior Jill Burggraff returns to the job as editor.

"We have a lot of fun and I like the class," Jeremy Anderson said.

Dennis Johnson, Junior "It (Desktop) is fun because we get to work on the Co-Pilot and we get to see what we've done."

By Jill Burggraff From land judging to leadership contests, it wasn't uncommon to find FFA members up and out of the classroom doing what they do best -- heading for success.

It all began in November when various members competed in the District Leadership contests. Many awards were won and two members were chosen to serve as District officers: Jill Burggraff-Vice Pres. and Stephanie Kontz-Secretary.

Once again FFA members held a successful FFA Week full of activities. A new addition this year was the option of dressing up each day to certain themes such as Hillbilly Day and John Deere Green Day. An animal nursery was held in the shop with a variety of animals. Concluding the week was the annual Community Breakfast prepared and served by FFA members.

The final highlight of the year was getting to compete at the State FFA Convention, something members had been practicing almost two months for. Teams competed in a variety of judging contests to identify meats, dairy products and plants while others worked to grade the quality of livestock. Chapter President Andrea Klein was also elected to serve as the State FFA Secretary for the upcoming year.

Advising the chapter this year is Ms. Sally Nielson.

Big Change

By LeAnn Janssen Throughout this year many changes have taken place. A change that was new to all officers and members was the name change; it changed from FHA to FCCLA. Family Career and Community Leaders of America is what it stands for and gives a better description of what it mainly focuses on.

Before some of our meetings we had a supper where some brought a dish to share. At Christmas time a supper was held and also a party where everyone brought presents to share while a story was read.

As an organization, we have had many projects in our hands. They include: fundraisers; concessions; local, district and state meetings and collecting pop tabs, where we received an award at districts for collecting twenty-three pounds.

During FCCLA week many events took place. As always we sold carnations to students and faculty while we held a new event called penny wars.

At the district meeting, illustrated talks were presented and workshops were held. The people who were awarded superiors then adavanced to state in Sioux Falls.

As the year came to a close, the officers, members and many others were honored for their help throughout the year. Advisor is Mrs. Janelle Weatherly.

LeAnn Janssen, Senior "Being president took a lot of work getting to the position because I served as Secretary & Vice President first, but it was worth it."

The Peer Helpers are students from each grade that were selected by their peers as people they would be willing to talk to if a problem arises. Students selected were trained in the summer and have hosted various events throughout the year. The Peer Helpers served each advisory group a breakfast treat. Students also attended a Youth Summitt in Sioux Falls that focused on problems facing teenagers today.

Special Enrichment Experiences for Kids, better known as SEEK, has accomplished many things this year. There are a total of 20 high school kids in SEEK classes. They do many different things, such as prepare for quiz bowls. They attended two total quiz bowls, one in Dell Rapids where they received first and third out of seventeen and the CVC Quiz Bowl in Sioux Valley where they placed first. They also attended a Science Bowl.

Each Spring appointed groups of faculty members go through a selection process to choose the Juniors and Seniors who will be inducted into the National Honor Society. Students are judged in the areas of scholarship, service, character and leadership. The annual banquet was held on March 26, 2000 at the Flandreau Community Center. Mr. JC Wade, the guest speaker, stressed the importance of reading. Mistress of Ceremonies was Senior Sara Headrick. Inductees must be either a Junior or Senior and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average.

Freshmen get best all-around skit? Class floats in the parade this year? Three inches of snow on Friday? Fliers lose the football game 2-0 on a safety? A purple and gold goat in the parade?

Many surprises came this year during Homecoming week. Little Orpheum featured the newcomers (the freshmen, with the help of class advisor Chris Long) and their Best-All-Around skit entitled "Freshmen Follies." The Sophomore class followed up with the trophy for Best Class Skit. Chosen for King and Queen are Sunshine Garcia and Justin Krull.

This year most classes participated in the parade with a float. Those helping from each class worked hard on their floats. The sophomore float featured something unique--a purple a gold goat owned by Dusty Schoeberl. The junior float held many enthusiastic Fliers while the seniors had a "2000" atop their float with a sign reading "What do Fliers eat? Bulldog meat!" Senior Jennifer Ryan stated, "It was the first year having the float and made my senior year more memorable."

Later that night, after the cold, snowy parade, the football team went up against the Madison Bulldogs. Madison defeated the Fliers 2-0 on a safety. Junior football player Kyle Wiese said, "I have one comment, anytime you lose by two points from your opponent scoring on your offense...something's wrong.

"The best part was when Erica (Rorvik) was doing her granny voice (for The Lottery) because she sounded just like one." ~Josh Pulscher, Freshman

By Abby Anderson

This was a controversial and unbelievable year for the One-Act and All-School Plays. Students in the One-Act Play performed "The Lottery". The thirty minute scene took place in a small town where each family was required to draw a slip of paper from a box. The one that drew the slip with the mark on it was stoned by the other townspeople. The One-Act Play was performed once for the public and also in Madison for the region contest.

The All-School Musical was more of a fairytale. It was called "Into the Woods," which included the stories of Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, Jack and the Beanstalk and other tales. The set crew had quite a time making the set, but it turned out really well.

Charla Burggraff, a set crew member, had this to say about the play, "The best part of the play was on the last night of performing when Josh Reinfeld, the prince, jumped on Emma Pulscher, the baker's wife, during their kissing scene."

"Into the Woods" was performed once for middle school students and twice for the community.

ht of fairytales

By Shawna Duncan

Once upon a time there was a crowd of very beautiful women being escorted by equally handsome men. It was an extraordinary affair with gowns, tuxes and flowers. As the men escorted their ladies one by one down the runway, cameras were flashing and people were cheering. Of all the gorgeous couples, one was to be crowned King and Queen. Josh Reinfeld and Sara Headrick were honored with this glorious award. After the crowning, the couples proceeded to yet another hall where they danced the night away. Everyone was laughing and talking and just having a great time. The punch pourers, Sophomores Darin Dahlmeier and Sarah Stenberg, quenched the dancers' thirsts.

Following the very exhausting dance, the fairytale-like characters went home and soon returned to the hall with blue jeans and t-shirts. At first, I couldn't figure out why anyone would want to go from princess to peasant. It wasn't long before someone filled me in. All the people had returned to participate in bouncy boxing, human fooseball and the human flytrap, all very active games impossible to do in gowns and tuxes. Then the hypnotist entered and the crowd went wild. This guy manipulated the minds of the victims so they listened to their shoes like they were radios and played on the lunchroom floor as if it were a sandbox. So all in all it was a fun evening.

LAST DANCE Seniors Clay Scofield and Missy Thompson get in one last dance

They took their seats on the reserved fold out chairs at the front and were welcomed by School Board President David Johnson. Then they listened to the sobering song of It's Hard to Say Goodbye to Yesterday sung by Seniors Zac Bolin, Darrel Bonrud, Travis Deutscher, Drew Headrick and Josh Reinfeld. Melissa Thompson also read a tear-jerking poem that she wrote called Facing Graduation. Flandreau School Superintendant Dr. Froke introduced the Commencement Speaker Mr. Roger Fodness, who presented a list of "The Top 10 things a Graduate does NOT want to hear on Graduation Day." Student Body President Cal McKeown spoke to his peers about the excitement he and his family had been feeling about graduating and the changes that are to come in the future. The choir sang Remember Me This Way before High School Principal Mr. Gary Markuson handed each graduate their diploma. The ceremony ended with The Rose sung by Senior Emily Pulscher and her older sister Jessie, during which roses were presented to parents of the graduating class. Three Faculty members say Farewell

By Jill Burggraff

No more pencils, no more books. For three faculty members, the time has come to close up the desk drawers and put away the pencil sharpeners. A total of 96 years were spent here at FHS between Secretary Mrs. Emadelle Rupe, English I & IV instructor Mr. Lowell Linder and Mr. Cliff Sutton, who taught Keyboarding and Business classes.

Mrs. Emadelle Rupe has served as the familiar face in the office for the past thirty-four years, performing invaluable tasks and directing traffic to different areas of the school.

For the past twenty-eight years Mr. Lowell Linder has been passing out his words of wisdom in the English IV department. Subjects in the senior level class included studying British literature.

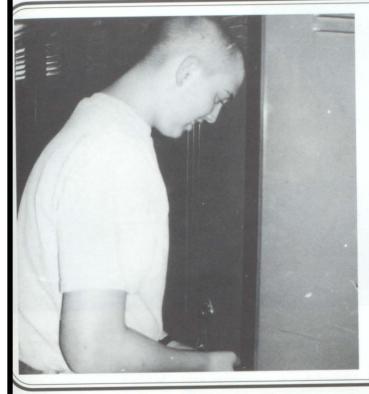

Providing instruction in Keyboarding and Business areas is Mr. Cliff Sutton. He has been a part of the faculty at FHS for thirty-four years.
