

Hands

Clean Hands

By Virginia Reist

There are usually many papers to work on at school. At school it is important to have clean and dry papers.

One thing that can help is to keep my hands clean and dry. Clean hands help keep my papers clean. Dry hand help keep my papers dry. My teacher likes clean and dry papers. They are nice to touch.

I will try to keep my hands clean and dry. I will try to keep my papers clean and dry. My teacher likes it when my hands are clean and my papers are clean and dry.

Using My Hands at School

By Amber Seely

My name is _____ and I go to _____ Elementary almost every day. I am in the 6th grade.

When I am at school, I use my hands for many things. I use my hands to write, to do work, and to play at recess.

When I am not using my hands to work or play, I can put my hands on my desk. I can put my hands in my pockets, or I can keep my hands at my sides.

It is important to follow the rules about touching. One thing to remember is to keep my hands to my self. People like it when I keep my hands to myself.

Others will like it if I use my hands the right way.

What to do With My Hands

There are many things that people can do with their hands. When I am at school, my hands can help me learn.

I use my hands for holding a pencil, pen or scissors. I can use the P.E. equipment with my hands while I am at gym or at recess. There are many other things to do with my hands.

When I am not using my hands for learning or playing, I could put my hands in my pockets, I could keep my hands on my desk or I could squeeze the stress ball the teacher gave me.

Sometimes when I sit on the floor I can put my hands on my legs or fold my arms.

It is important to use my hands the right way. When I use my hands in the right way, the other students will want to be around me.

Where to Keep My Hands at School

My name is _____ and I go to _____ School almost every day. I am in the _____ grade. At school I learn about science, math, social studies and reading. I also go to recess, PE and art.

When I am at school, I use my hands for things like holding a pencil, pen or scissors. When I am not using my hands for learning or playing, I could put my hands on my desk. Students keep their hands on their desks or at their sides.

Remembering to keep my hands at my sides or on my desk is good to do. I will try to keep my hands at my sides when I am walking down the hall or standing. I will try to keep my hands on my desk or on the table when I'm sitting in the classroom. If I am sitting on the floor, I will try to keep my hands resting on my legs below my knees.