Davis School District
Computers for Kids

In the interest of helping students to succeed and making the most of the taxpayer's investment in our schools, Davis School District is refurbishing computers that would be sold as salvage and making them available to students who would not otherwise have access to a computer in their home. While these systems are certainly not state-of-the-art, they will meet the needs for most students at home. We have a limited number of these computers and, therefore, wish to award them to the students who have the greatest need and would make the best use of the gift.

The computers are complete systems. They include a CPU with CD-ROM, keyboard, mouse, speakers, modem, and monitor. The original operating system is installed, along with some personal productivity shareware. You could expect to receive a Pentium III with at least 128 Meg RAM running Windows 98. The systems have been thoroughly tested and are in good working condition, but are not warranted by either Davis School District or the manufacturer.

To be considered for one of these systems, complete the following application and return it to your principal.
