

Hugh Little

Hugh Little is a former pupil of the College attending Gordon's from 1964 to 1975. He went on to study Economics at the University of Aberdeen and qualified as a chartered accountant in 1981 at Ernst & Young in Glasgow. Hugh joined Aberdeen Asset Management plc, a global investment group, as their ninth employee in 1987 successfully filling a series of roles and becoming Head of Acquisitions in 2007 before taking early retirement in 2015. Hugh is a Visiting Professor and Governor at the Robert Gordon University, and is also a non-executive director of several companies. His support to the College is being recognised in The Wood Foundation Centre for Science and Technology in naming The Hugh Little Room that recognises his education in memory of his father, also named Hugh Little.
