

Student Plagiarism Checklist Northridge High School

Plagiarism- The practice of taking someone else's work or ideas and passing them off as one's own.

Refer to this checklist to make sure that you do not plagiarize. Before you hand in your project, read each item and double check to make sure you have followed the guideline. Once you have completed the checklist, sign the statement at the bottom, and hand in this checklist with your project.

HAVE YOU...

Circle Answer

1) correctly paraphrased/summarized and included accurate citations to indicate the information you have taken from another person's work? • Used your own words? • Used only words you understand? 2) used a FEW direct quotations and cite the source? • Carefully selected the quotes to make important points? • Did you explain why you are including the quotation? 3) included a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Copying someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is disho
Used your own words? Used only words you understand? Carefully selected the quotes to make important points? Used quotation marks or block quotations to indicate direct quotations? Did you explain why you are including the quotation? Juil you explain why you are including the quotation? Juil you explain why you are including the quotation? PES N/A Did you explain why you are including the quotation? Juil you explain why you are including the quotation? PES N/A Did you explain why you are including the quotation? N/A Did you explain why you are including the quotation? PES N/A Did you explain why you are including the quotation? PES N/A Did you explain why you are including the quotation? PES N/A PES N/A PES N/A N/A PES N/A PES N/A PES N/A N/A PES N/A PES N/A N/A PES N/A
2) used a FEW direct quotations and cite the source? • Carefully selected the quotes to make important points? • Used quotation marks or block quotations to indicate direct quotations? • Did you explain why you are including the quotation? 3) included a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	·	YES	N/A
Carefully selected the quotes to make important points? Used quotation marks or block quotations to indicate direct quotations? Did you explain why you are including the quotation? This is caled a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? Followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? Solution: This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. Column and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". Solution: N/A This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". N/A Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. Copying a pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? Copying someone else's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. Copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)
Used quotation marks or block quotations to indicate direct quotations? Did you explain why you are including the quotation? 3) included a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)
Oused quotation marks or plock quotations to indicate direct quotations? Obly you explain why you are including the quotation? 3) included a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? ofollowed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) oincluded a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) of This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? of Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! of This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? of Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. of Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? of This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	YES	N/A
3) included a reference for every image, diagram, or figure that you are borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	·		, borrowing from another source, even if you modified it? 4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)
4) included a reference list of all the works that you have cited? • followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)		YES	N/A
• followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? 5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	• • • included a Works Cited/Bibliography page? saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 5) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? YES N/A 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	•
5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced? (digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	 followed the appropriate citation format for this project? (MLA, APA, etc) 	VFS	N/A
(digital articles, bookmarked webpages, print resources etc) • This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)		1.23	14//
 This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	5) saved copies of the original sources that you have referenced?		N/A
• This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or information that has the wrong reference source. 6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)		VFS
6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder? 7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	 This is to prevent you from including information without a citation or 	1 23	14//
7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes that you have correctly cited)? • Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! • This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	information that has the wrong reference source.
 that you have correctly cited)? Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	6) saved copy(s) of your rough draft(s) to your OneDrive English homework folder?	YES	N/A
 Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM! This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	7) avoided copying and pasting text from another source (other than direct quotes
 This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U". 8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	that you have correctly cited)?	YES	N/A
8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own? • Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. • Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	 Copying & pasting text without citing it or substituting a few words is PLAGIARISM!
 Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 3) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	 This is academic misconduct and punishable by loss of points, credit, or a citizenship "U".
 Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.) 	8) avoided using another student's work or submitted someone else's work as your own?
9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	 Copying someone else's work is PLAGIARISM and has serious consequences. 	YES	N/A for this current assignment? • This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	 Allowing someone else to copy your work is COLLUSION. 		·
• This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work, is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	9) avoided copying a previous assignment, or parts of a previous assignment to submit is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	for this current assignment?
is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)	• This is called SELF-PLAGIARISM! ("recycling" your own work, but representing it as new work,	Yes	N/A is plagiarizing yourself, because it is not a new creation for the current assignment, and it is		·
Source: http://answers.gpc.edu/faq/78977	dishonest, unless authorized by your instructor. This is still being debated in the academic world.)
	Source: http://answers.gpc.edu/faq/78977

 $This plagiarism \ checklist \ is \ a \ modified \ version \ of \ a \ document \ found \ at: \ \underline{https://academicintegrity.curtin.edu.au/local/docs/StudentChecklist.pdf}.$

READ THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT. PRINT YOUR NAME-- SIGN AND DATE. Your assignment will not be accepted if this checklist is not complete.

During the completion of this research project, I have not plagiarized or engaged in academic misconduct of any kind. I realize that plagiarizing or academic misconduct of any kind may result in the loss of all credit for this assignment, a failing grade in the class for the term, or possibly, harsher academic penalties based on the Northridge High School Academic Honor Code (NHS PolicesManual, p.6, 2015-2016).

Name (Print):	_ Signature:
Period: Teacher:	Date: