Linda Green Miller Class of 1960

Linda Green Miller, Ed.D., is a respected nurse educator. A 1960 graduate of Theodore Roosevelt High School, Linda married and supported her husband through completion of his Ph.D. After the birth of their third child, Linda returned to school. Balancing the demands of home and school, Linda earned her LPN at Henry Ford Community College in 1973, her BSN at the University of South Carolina in 1981, and her MSN in 1984 and Ed.D. in 1990 from the University of Virginia.

Linda served as Director of Obstetrics at Barge Memorial Hospital in Greenville, South Carolina. Primary responsibilities included staff development inservice and parent education. A pre-natal development clinic was organized under Linda's leadership. Linda joined the staff of Lynchburg General Hospital as Hospice Coordinator/Director. Linda developed and coordinated the Hospice volunteer training program to benefit the citizens of the City of Lynchburg. In 1982, Linda joined the faculty at Liberty University, and in 1986 became the founding chair of the BSN Nursing Program.

Throughout her career, Linda has served on various church and civic committees to promote life-long learning and wellness. Linda is an administrative board member of the South American Mission, and has traveled to Peru to assess health care of Indians. She is also past district president of the Virginia Nurses Association.

Linda has been the recipient of many honors, including the Akers Award for outstanding nursing. In 1993, Linda received the Most Outstanding Alumnus Award from the University of South Carolina's School of Nursing. In 1994, the University of South Carolina presented Linda with the prestigious Founder's Day Service Award.

Linda and her husband, David, have three married children and three grandchildren. They reside in Jacksonville, Florida, where Linda teaches at Jacksonville University.
