Overview

• It's not enough to have a racial equity policy – with implementation comes accountability.

• What is the role of Superintendent and Board in implementation?

• How do budgets reflect a policy implementation line item?

• Share/describe the resistance/push back the district received and how they dealt with it.

• How has student voice played a role in your district’s work with policy implementation?

Racial Equity Policy

• Passed in July 2013
• Work had been in place since Fall 2010
• Built on previous cultural competency work
• Necessity to isolate race
• From the boardroom to the boiler room
• Differing levels of transformation and engagement
Policy Purpose

• Respectful learning environments where races, cultures and languages are indicators of opportunity, rather than academic disparity.

• Eliminate racial predictability and disproportionality by:
  • increasing achievement for all students and
  • narrowing the gaps between the highest and lowest performing students.
Engagement - Policy

“SPPS employees will develop and implement equitable practices for and with our students, their families and other community members including:

1. Intentionally seeking and including students’ multiple racial perspectives in the development and implementation of culturally responsive teaching and learning practices and curriculum;

2. Engaging family and community members with staff and students, district-wide and at school and program sites, in the development and implementation of culturally appropriate and effective partnerships between home and school;

3. Inviting and including community members to bring multiple cultural perspectives to examining and solving issues that arise.”

What Do I Do In SPPS?
Racial Equity Policy 101.00
This policy confronts the institutional racism that results in predictably lower academic achievement for students of color than for their white peers. Eliminating our district’s institutional racism will increase achievement, including on-time graduation, for all students, while narrowing the gaps between the highest- and lowest-performing students.
