Our Campus Master Plan

Many of our parents and students will remember the process Southridge followed last year to design our Campus Master Plan. For those readers new to our school, the Southridge community was invited to participate in meeting one of our school's strategic priorities – to develop a long-term vision for our campus. Working closely with architects Simon Richards and Les Andrew, our teachers, staff, parents, students and alumni helped our Campus Master Plan Committee inform the plan's development by providing excellent insights and valuable feedback. Both Simon and Les have years of experience designing campuses and buildings for the world of education – and independent schools in particular.

Over the course of one full year (from May 2014 to May 2015), our community held many sessions with Simon and Les as we worked together to outline how the future of our school's campus would look. Keep in mind that the point of our campus planning process was to outline, not design, the buildings that would be built, the renovations that would be undertaken and internal movements that would take place as we envision the future physical configuration of our campus over the next twenty to thirty years.

Of particular note were the open house events that Southridge hosted for parents, students, faculty, staff and alumni. In true Southridge fashion, the planning committee undertook a highly collaborative, discussion-based approach to gathering feedback and input into the development of our plan. Simon and Les were extremely complimentary of our school community, and they frequently told me how much they enjoyed the way our various constituent groups engaged in the open house process.

Those parents who participated in the open houses will likely recall that the Campus Master Plan Committee presented three versions of how our campus might look in the future. Although sometimes referred to as "options" or "choices" by some people – mostly students, the fact is that the feedback provided through the consultative open house process was not intended to conclude in a vote on the "options". In keeping with the governance responsibilities of the Board of Governors, the Campus Master Plan Committee worked with Simon and Les to assess the feedback, revise the plan if necessary and present a final version of the plan to the Board for approval.

I am very happy to let you know that the Board's recent discussion at its September meeting, has led me to share with you that a final version of the plan has been approved and accepted by our governors. In the end, the approved Campus Master Plan is a combination of all three versions, and its development was highly influenced by the feedback the school received from its constituent groups. In addition, there is flexibility built into the plan so that the school will not be overly committed to a particular direction for the next three decades – especially as the needs of our school, and the landscape of education in general, progress and evolve.

The next step with our Campus Master Plan will not be to build anything immediately; rather it will be to identify its phases of development and suggest a phasing timeline for the Board to consider. This, too, will be an elaborate process that will likely take the remainder of the school year to complete. I look forward to sharing the progress of the Campus Master Plan Phasing Committee's work with you over the course of the school year. If you would like to see a copy of the Campus Master Plan you can do so by clicking here and logging onto the Parents' Portal.

Have a wonderful week!

Talk doesn't cook rice

Chinese proverb

Tangible Signs of Making a Difference

At Southridge, we know that our students have an inclination to make a difference, but we need to guide and help facilitate their initiative and energy. Therefore, we have two service coordinators: Ms. Jo-Ann Murchie for our PYP students and Madame Anne Boyle for our MYP students. There are many meetings and consultations before our students get to implement a service or action in our school. This helps encourage good planning, patience, persistence, foresight and hopefully a greater balance to our community. We know that we have to tangibly teach students the steps in service, and not just talk about making a difference.

When students present at an assembly, you are witnessing the culmination many 'behind the scene' meetings to ensure that the students are knowledgeable and communicating well. As the Chinese Proverb states: 'Talk doesn't cook rice'— rather deliberate steps in a recipe coupled with some energy do the trick. Creating an environment where students are supported in making a difference is what we strive to do, each and every day.

Have a great week,

Remembrance Day Ceremonies

Although Remembrance Day is a time to reflect, mourn and remember—it is also a time to celebrate being a Canadian. Canada has always answered the call to stand up for freedom and human rights. Our commitment to these values is being shown again in Afghanistan, and Canadians, all of us, are proud of the work our brave soldiers are doing to help those less fortunate than us. Our troops are making a difference in a very tangible way, in the countries where they are serving.

In the 20 years of Southridge, Remembrance Day has always been honoured and respected. Our MYP students all write Remembrance Day selections and the top pieces are read at the next few assemblies. May the Canadian heroes who lie beneath the poppies in Flanders fields, and in other places, rest in peace knowing that their lives are being honoured, remembered, but mainly that our young people are thriving in this free country of peace bought by the sacrifice of others.

On Tuesday, November 10 our grade 3 – 12 students will be attending the full school Remembrance Day assembly in our senior school gym at 10:15-11:15 a.m. Our PYP students will have their own age appropriate ceremony at the same time. Please join us as we honour those whom have sacrificed for our freedom.

No School on Remembrance Day- November 11th

To honour those who sacrificed for our freedom, there will be no school on November 11th. School will resume on Thursday, November 12th at the regular time with NO late start.

AR Reading Cut Off Date—Friday, November 27th - Grade 3-7

Just a reminder to all students in grade three to seven that the last day for writing AR tests that count towards term one is on Friday, November 27th. It is helpful to know that this deadline is looming in order to avoid a last minute rush on test-writing. Ideally, students set realistic goals in consultation with their teachers, and the AR goal is manageable and attainable; we are just supporting good reading habits. However, we are mindful that lives get busy, and knowledge of deadlines is very helpful.

Collaboration – A personal reflection from last week

Collaboration is likely a word that you have heard being linked to education lately. It certainly isn't a new concept, but its importance as a skill to be developed in students has increased. It is one of the 4 C's along with Critical Thinking, Communication and Creativity. Each one of these are vital skills for people to possess to be successful in the workplace regardless of profession or chosen field. You will find it in our Senior School Educational Program (SSEP) and in the new Ministry of BC Curriculum it is identified as one of the Core Competencies. For the most part our focus in developing lies with the students. Creating opportunities and experiences to develop this key skill is a foundational element in the Harkness philosophy of learning. It is also prevalent in experiential education as often this occurs with 'doing' an activity with others. However, in order to help facilitate this important skill, as a teacher developing it in oneself is incredibly important.

At most faculty meetings in the Senior School we have built in opportunities to collaborate, whether it is discussing a reading or sharing a best practice. Realizing how much others – colleagues or experts – have to offer in our own learning is an incredibly important insight to gain. While some people have a natural affinity to share or interact with others everyone needs to practice these skills to improve. More recently the ability to collaborate with other educators has widened with technology. For example, there are many blogs, twitter feeds and just the ease to connect through social media in general that has made learning from others a positive experience. I have a number of colleagues that I connect with in different provinces and countries, asking them questions and opinions about a myriad of topics to gain further insight from their experiences and skill.

Mostly, the collaboration happens within the walls of the school – albeit with a wider view if we can be online with someone globally. Last week I was fortunate to be able to go beyond the walls of Southridge and travel with 3 other teachers to visit three different schools that are employing the Harkness philosophy of discussion-based learning. We set up time to observe classes being taught and perhaps more importantly time to meet with teachers and administrators to discuss successes and challenges they face in maximizing student learning. We gained an incredible amount of insight not only about these schools, but also in our own effectiveness as a school.

Our trip away provided me with two other interesting pieces of knowledge. As much as we were thinking that the meetings and observations would provide us with important feedback, we learned that our presence at these schools provided our hosts with feedback as well. Our own experiences from Southridge helped these schools to look at their own practices and be able to see opportunities in which they could grow. The other learning point was that while away and travelling with these three colleagues the amount of meaningful conversation that occurred helped to raise the learning to an even richer level. We were able to discuss how a certain practice might work here or if there were any overarching themes we were gleaned from a particular visit. I came away with a respect and appreciation of my colleagues here at Southridge and at the other schools. It was a very worthwhile experience and one that helped me to understand the importance of providing opportunities for collaborative learning – for faculty and students.

Ballarat shines in foreign eyes

NOTE: This article was published in a local paper in Ballarat, Australia.

I wanted to take the opportunity to share my thoughts on my student exchange with Ballarat Grammar school in Ballarat. My name is Evanee Verma and I am 14 years old and a student at Southridge School in Surrey, British Columbia, Canada. Through our schools student exchange program I had the choice to visit other schools throughout the world and I chose Ballarat, as I felt I would experience a more authentic and memorable experience rather than a tourist perspective. I have been very fortunate to have been paired up with the A'Speculo family as they have been wonderful in inviting me into their family. The Ballarat Grammar community is accepting of all cultures and does a wonderful job of making everyone feel welcome. The teachers were always pleasant and ready to answer our questions. The three electives I chose were painting and drawing, VCE band performance, and agriculture. I thoroughly enjoyed agriculture as it was very different compared to my home. I loved spending time with the unique animals and I must have taken 3,000 photos of the beautiful Australian landscape.

In painting and drawing, we looked at photos of people from a different perspectives then drew these perspectives with charcoal. Along with taking an art as an elective, art theory is also included. I thoroughly enjoyed art theory as we analyzed shapes and the symbolism in war art. I appreciated the VCE band performance course at Ballarat Grammar because the music was exciting and made me look forward to coming to band class. The teachers seamlessly let me into the program and made me feel welcome and a part of the band. My school, Southridge School, believes that by attending a different school in a different country, students can begin to appreciate not only cultural differences, but also the similarities that young people share no matter where they live. I found that the environment in Ballarat Grammar was inclusive as the teachers and students were very warm and welcoming. I was inspired by how the citizens of Ballarat always greeted one another with a smile and a g'day. As your paper previously reported Anglicare was an example of the many service opportunities that Ballarat Grammar offers. Like my school, Southridge, Ballarat

Grammar also believes in giving back to the community and making the world a better place.

In conclusion, I believe that Ballarat Grammar and Southridge School are both alike as they both have highly promote service throughout their schools. I also have a deep appreciation for the people, animals, and spectacular landscapes of Australia especially the sunsets.

University Counselling Update

This cycle of Portfolio 12 classes has been the first of two application workshops. All Grads were required to begin one of their Canadian university applications and open up accounts with the Ontario Universities Application Centre (OUAC) or with ApplyBC or ApplyAlberta or other. During the workshop, students were made aware that applying to universities is a multi-step process. Once applications are received, universities will then provide further instructions about supplemental essays and when and how to send marks for evaluation. We spent part of the class discussing the ways in which universities receive marks through self-reporting, sending Southridge transcript or Ministry of Education transcripts. The majority of offers are made between mid-March and mid-May.

Beginning November 5th, Grads will be meeting for the 2nd of five structured individual appointments with Ms. Livingston and Mr. Weaver. We will be reviewing the action items set during meeting #1, discussing the progress of their applications and any questions they have regarding the timing and how to send marks to their universities.

Please note for updates regarding university information sessions both at Southridge and externally, please check the Parent Portal of LMS for bulletins and activities.

University Essays Workshops

To assist students with questions about writing the supplemental essays required for admission, the University Counselling Office is running three essay workshops. The first one was last Wednesday and focussed primarily on students applying for early admission to US colleges.

The second workshop is this Wednesday, November 4th from 3 to 4pm in Room 236.
The third workshop is on Monday, November 16th from 3 to 4pm in the Library.

be missed - from dressing in your finest and most mysterious attire, to dancing the night away, the Masquerade Ball is the place to see and be seen (once everyone's masks have been removed!)

The evening begins with delectable appetizers and smooth jazz stylings from our own Jazz Studies 10 music students and Steve's Cuba Combo. "Collective You" will once again be snapping glamorous black and white photos of all the guests and the silent auction tables will be open and ready for business. And, don't forget to buy a raffle ticket for the stunning diamond and sapphire ring prize – a sure way to make some lucky winner smile that evening!

Chef Dan Olson of Railtown Catering will once again be creating a sumptuous dinner buffet, followed by a medley of tasty dessert treats. The dinner portion of the evening wouldn't be complete without the always popular live auction and our esteemed MC and auctioneer, Alastair Abel, will have you bidding high and often on a dazzling array of eclectic and unique auction items.

Then it's time to be thoroughly entertained by "Dueling Pianos". These masters of music are ready to take your requests, as you dance the night away to all your favourites tunes ...they know them all! Starting to feel a little peckish, we've got that covered too with on site food trucks at 11pm.

But, the real reason to attend the Southridge Masquerade Ball is to help fund the ongoing opportunities and experiences that our students are so fortunate to enjoy. We are all here because of the remarkable sacrifice and dedication of those families who came before us, and now we have the chance to make our contributions.

Tickets are still available but they are going fast...click here to order yours today!

Come one, come all to the Masquerade Ball!

Get your tickets: The Masquerade Ball is just around the corner and we need you there to make the party complete! The evening promises to be an amazing event filled with great friends, fabulous music and entertainment, delicious food and one-of-a-kind auction items. Tickets are selling fast, so to avoid disappointment, click here to buy your ticket now.

Donation items: The deadline to donate an item or service to the live or silent auction is MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9th. The more items we have, the more money we can raise for the school, so click here for your donation form.

Friends of Southridge, 2016 – this time it is personal

"I have some bad news." We never want to get that phone call, and sadly, I have had that message twice in last two weeks. Heart and kidney disease were the two problems for my family but not cancer, never cancer until now.

I was one of eight children, and although I live on the west coast of Canada and they are in Ireland, we have always remained a tightly knit family. My pain is their pain, and we experienced great sadness when one of my brothers died 20 years ago, but we supported each other and his young family.

We have been called once again to support each other as my oldest brother has just been diagnosed with colon cancer, and less than one week later, his daughter, my niece also got the same devastating news that she has breast cancer. Father and daughter, brother and niece facing the challenge together.

We are not called the "fighting Irish" for no reason, and I know they will deal with this head on. When I spoke to my brother, I was reminded of Serena and her mantra, "Breeding Optimism", as he is not prepared to let this disease rob him of his future. My niece is her father's daughter, tenacious and feisty, and I know they will be arm and arm in battle together.

Last year, the Friends of Southridge team had the hardest ride of their lives as it was during the freak storm at the end of August, but they did it. They also raised a tremendous amount of money, and many of you supported them. Thank you! I did not participate as I was in Ireland but this year, I have two great reasons; my brother and my niece. This year, my ride will be for them.

Grad 2016 Purdy's Chocolate Holiday Fundraiser

Dear Students & Parents,

With the holidays just around the corner, the Southridge Grad Committee is excited to announce our annual Purdy's Chocolate fundraiser. Pre-order all of your chocolate gifts for friends and co-workers or have some boxes at home for when friends and family come to visit during the holidays!

In addition to supporting our grads with this fundraising opportunity, there are prizes for ordering chocolates!!!

Online Draws – order your chocolates online and you are eligible to win a Sweet Traditions Gift Basket!!

There are two options for ordering:

1. Order Forms – Send your order form to the senior school, attention to Heather Mosher along with a cheque for the amount of your purchase payable to Southridge School (memo: Grad Committee)
2. Order Online – go to <http://www.purdysgpp.com> and click on “Sign in as Group Member”. The Southridge Grad group number is “24019”. It will ask you then to fill in your personal information, create a personal password and then you can order your chocolates (and see an online catalogue).

Please get your orders in by NOVEMBER 20st, 2016. All orders will be delivered to the school on December 11th and will be ready for pick-up after school in the cafeteria.

We greatly appreciate your support!!
