

TEEN LIVING

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course helps students to understand human and career literacy that ties to university courses of study in human services. Skill development will focus on career selection and preparation and the development of interpersonal skills. Students will analyze school, personal experiences and academic achievement as it relates to the world of family, careers and community.

STRANDS

Gain skills to help them deal with young adult transitions into adult life and college/career success

Connect the impact of family relationships and the role teenagers have in the family

Investigate the present and future impact peers/friends have on individuals, families, careers, and communities

Understand and importance and impact of healthy opposite gender relationships in families, careers, and communities

SKILL CERTIFICATION PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: Test #305

Create a road map of life that analyzes the influence of personal values and goals related to college/career pathways

Demonstrate the correct usage of I-Messages in each of the following environments: family, career and community

Conduct a career research and pathway planning for a career of choice based upon self-assessment results

Reflect on the role and impact of personal attitudes and behaviors on family relationships

Practice using two appropriate refusal skills in each of the following environments: family, career, and community

Practice using two appropriate refusal skills in each of the following environments: family, career, and community

Actively participate in an experience involving the practice of appropriate social interactions in the family, career and/or community setting

DAVIS ESSENTIAL SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

Participate in an activity that simulates the demands and responsibilities of parenting