Creative Writing, 4146, 4147

III. Goal Summary Statement

Writing students will demonstrate improvement in writing skills through use of writing portfolios.

IV. Full Goal Description

To be college and career ready, students must be able to express themselves in written form. In addition, they should be able to tap into their creative side, turning private scribbles into public writing that could be shared with others. This class is where the craftsman meets the artist. The goal will allow students and teachers to focus on individual needs and see individual improvement.

V. Connection to DESK Standards

An essential skill is the ability to express ideas clearly in writing. Students in this course will be able to improve their ability to convert feelings into thoughts, and then into words. Students will use writing portfolios to show their progress (W.10).
