

Keefe Regional Tech Drama Club to present 'Charlotte's Web'

Posted Feb 2, 2016 at 8:50 AM

Updated Feb 2, 2016 at 8:50 AM

FRAMINGHAM — The Keefe Regional Technical High School Drama Club will present its production of "Charlotte's Web," based on the book by E.B. White and adapted by Joseph Robinette, at 7 p.m. Feb. 12 and 2 p.m. Feb. 13 in the auditorium of the high school, 750 Winter St., Framingham.

Established in 2009, the Keefe Tech Drama Club is co-advised this year by English teacher Valerie Rector and science teacher Erin Bengiovanni and is open to students in all grade levels. The club rehearses three days a week from October through February, with full week rehearsals during the last two weeks before the performance.

"We are very excited about this year's production of 'Charlotte's Web.' It is such a classic and well-loved book and our cast and crew were really able to embrace it as their own story to tell. They have gone above and beyond in preparing the sets and rehearsing their scenes to make this performance their best yet," said Rector.

This year's cast and crew members include Makayla Hicks, Eric Lundberg and Jessica Rackauskis, of Ashland; Darah Case-Kane, Paula Castro, LeeAnn Conzo, Kateline Copithorne, Liberty Cornett, Erin Dowdy, Nick Forristall, Renee Galvin, Kevin Guzman, Simone McHugh, Sean McGillicuddy, Brianna Medina, Alex Nieves-Sanchez, Nathan Nieves, Stephanie Rigot, Marcela Silva and Caroline Soares, of Framingham; Kayla Coburn, Madison Foster, Ella Rivas and Chris Rossini, of Holliston; and Tessa Beatrice and Nicole Dunajski, of Natick.

This year's show is produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company of Woodstock, Illinois. The performance is open to the public and tickets will be available at the door at the cost of $5 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and children ages 12 and younger.

For more information, visit keefetech.org or call 508-416-2100.