- Sharing Norms
 - Be accurate when sharing information.
 - Be positive!
 - Share information appropriately.
 - Be clear and concise when sharing information (Written preferred?)
- What is our role? (How is this different from SIT?)
 - Made up of teachers and a principal.
 - More creative.
- Where have we been?
 - Data- reading and math scores have been dismal at best
 - Perceptions-community often has a negative perception sometimes without evidence
 - Students-students without goals and without unrealized “passions”
 - Staff-high turnover in the past
- Where are we now? Reflections in their own words instead of what the teacher wants, teaching those soft skills, “Adulting 101”
 - Data
 - Perceptions
 - Students
 - Staff
- Where are we going?
 - What are our goals? Short term? Long term? (upper school - where is it going?)
 - What will we do with the 10th graders as they transition to the 11th grade
 - Boston College-Coming to help create measures for skills that EOCs don't measure (Thursday and Friday)
 - Meegan Coding project in Brazil-storytelling at the end of the month 28th
 - Post Industrial is about the process
 - We need a way to talk about our relationship with Apple
 - Can't measure passion?
 - Play leads to passion and passion leads to purpose
