

Welcome

Thank you for your interest in a position at Slough and Eton. This is a great school and I am delighted to have the opportunity to write to you about what we do here.

Your interest in our school comes at an exciting time. In the summers of 2017 and 2018 we celebrated excellent GCSE and Post-16 examination results and have a great team of staff focused on ensuring the young people in our care have the best of experiences. We are not a school which focuses on external judgement and are proud to provide great teaching, learning and experiences for students of all ages and abilities.

As Headteacher I am determined to ensure we have a happy staff body and we encourage all students to follow one simple message: work hard, be nice, no excuses. We have high expectations of our students in terms of their conduct, attendance, presentation and crucially their work ethic. Great teaching and learning is my top priority.

As Headteacher I work closely with staff to constantly review our practice wherever we need to so that everything we do has the greatest impact on students' progress and achievement, adds value to their school experience and makes a positive difference to the wellbeing of all members of staff.

As you would expect we have a number of key priorities which everyone is working to promote. This year a key focus area for us is to further raise the achievement of boys, especially those who come to us with high prior attainment. We are also determined to ensure as many students as possible experience visits to places which will enrich their cultural capital. If you joined us you'd be contributing towards our work in these areas.

We are proud of the training opportunities offered to our staff. We partner with Reading and Brunel universities and offer a full range of bespoke in-house training for teaching and support staff. We are a Talk for Writing school and members of the local Independent State Schools Partnership with Eton College. This generates a range of opportunities for staff and students across both organisations. We have worked closely with Ross McGill (Teacher Toolkit) over last year and are beginning a coaching programme for teachers this term with our team of 12 trained coaches.

Much of our school has been refurbished over the last 10 years and we have plans to complete the rest over the next two years. We believe that staff and students should have the opportunity to work in the best possible accommodation and that their school should have a fresh, welcoming and engaging feel to it wherever you go.

Finally, and most importantly, our young people are fantastic to work with. Many are driven to work hard at school and achieve the very best qualifications that they can and aspire to university. They are great ambassadors for the local area and proud of the school they attend. Of course we have systems to support those who need it and also have a specialist resource base on site for students with speech, language and communication needs or multiple learning difficulties. These students achieve well and are fully included members of the school community.

If you are interested in finding out more about our school then please do come and visit us. I would be delighted to show you around, along with some students and give you the opportunity to talk informally with some staff about what it is like to work at the school.

I look forward to hearing from you and hope Slough and Eton could contribute to the next stage of your career and you to our continued success.

Best wishes
Peter Collins
Headteacher
