

What is the Math Lab?

It is probably the coolest place at York High School. Ok, we might be a little biased, but we are proud of our lab and would love to have you come and visit us.

Where is it?

It is located in Room A263, and the sign on the door says "Mathematics Resources".

When is it open?

It is open every day before school, every class period during school (yes, during lunch too!), and every day after school except Friday.

How do I get into the Math Lab?

- 1) If it is before school, during lunch, or after school just walk in or however else you might transport yourself.
- 2) If you would like to come during your study hall or from your Freshman Orientation class, get a pass from your math teacher (they are free!).

Why is it the coolest place at York High School?

The Math Lab is a place that you can get help and have access to math teachers, other students, computers, and study tables. We want to see you increase your understanding of mathematical concepts and ideas. The Math Lab is a welcoming community to help you do so. Please come and visit us.
