From the President's Desk

As Totino-Grace High School celebrates our 50th anniversary, I can't help but look back to where we've been and how far we've come. In September 1966, 175 freshmen were enthusiastically welcomed for the first day of school by our founding principal Sister Mary Mark Tacheny and superintendent Brother William Koutsky. For each of the next three years, another class of students was added. The school cost just over $2.2 million to build and tuition was $180 per year for our first students.

Archbishop Grace High School opened with four Christian Brothers and six School Sisters of Notre Dame joining together to oversee the administration of the school. At one point, these numbers eventually grew to 11 Brothers and 18 Sisters living on campus. The Brothers have had a presence on campus until 2015 when Brother Milton Barker officially retired and he, along with Brother Kevin Brutcher, moved off campus.

From our inception, school leaders embraced the model of Christ, our Church, and our founders' charisms by purposefully creating a welcoming environment rooted in respect and love. Totino-Grace is more than just an academically rigorous high school. In the classroom and beyond, students make lasting friendships, enrich their faith, and become lifelong learners.

Ours is a remarkable story of how generations of families, educators and board members have continually sacrificed, challenged and supported one another to provide the best for our students. A stable legacy has endured:

- A sense that every student matters
- A sense that a rigorous education is a leg up to a good life
- A sense that serving others is incumbent as members of the human race
- A sense that God has a purpose for each of us

In the years ahead, Totino-Grace will remain dedicated to offering a comprehensive, challenging, supportive and doctrinally sound academic program for all learners, one that stimulates their intellectual curiosity, develops their creative and enterprising capacities, and strengthens their union with Christ and His Church. We will also continue to emphasize science, technology, engineering, mathematics and the fine and performing arts; and also provide an array of co-curricular offerings that include service and mission work. Just as important, we will welcome a more academically, culturally and economically diverse student body -- one that will require greater financial support.

This year, our celebration recognizes and honors all the hard work, discipline, and talent represented in the Totino-Grace community over the past 50 years. I recall a simple expression, "together and by association," which describes a promise to make a difference in young people's lives through relationships and education. As a Catholic school, helping students to develop a meaningful relationship with God is the center of our mission. That was the focus of Archbishop Grace High School in 1966, and that is the focus of Totino-Grace High School today.

Live, Jesus, in our hearts. Forever!

Totino-Grace High School History

In the late 1950s, the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis sought to expand the number of Catholic high schools in the Twin Cities. At this time, Monsignor Joseph Lapinski, pastor of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Columbia Heights, purchased land in Fridley in the hope that the Archdiocese would soon build a new high school to serve Catholic families in the surrounding area. In 1965, the Archdiocese invited the Christian Brothers and the School Sisters of Notre Dame to join together to oversee the administration of the new school. Named in honor of Archbishop Thomas L. Grace, an early Minnesota bishop who was a pioneer in education, Archbishop Grace High School opened in September 1966 with 175 freshmen. For each of the next three years, another class of students was added.

In 1980, in honor of the generous benefaction of Jim and Rose Totino, entrepreneurs in the frozen pizza business, the name of the school was augmented to Totino-Grace High School. At the time, Jim and Rose's gift of $1 million was the largest ever given to a Catholic high school in the nation. Their profound commitment to Catholic education funded facility expansion and established the school's endowment, which remains the foundation of our student financial aid program.

In 1997, Totino-Grace's long association with the Christian Brothers and its support of the Lasallian educational mission led Totino-Grace to declare itself a Lasallian school. Totino-Grace continues to be part of a worldwide network of over 975 Lasallian schools across 80 nations. Lasallian educators believe that to touch the hearts and minds of the children entrusted to them is the greatest miracle of them all.

From the beginning, the Brothers and Sisters welcomed the presence of lay teachers and staff as their colleagues in every area of school operations. This partnership provided a continuity of spirit and tradition that endures as one of the school's hallmarks. Today, a lay Board of Directors is responsible for school operations.

LEARNING

Totino-Grace is dedicated to offering a comprehensive, challenging, and supportive academic curriculum for all learners, one that stimulates students' intellectual curiosity and develops their creative and enterprising capacities. This commitment has led to the development of a number of innovative programs and enhanced learning experiences, including: Kathleen Murphy Scholars Program, Experiential Engineering Education Institute, Learning Lab, and the Totino-Grace Boarding Program.

Technology innovation has long been a priority. Since the early years, a variety of tools have enhanced classroom teaching and learning. Today, 1:1 personal learning devices enable students and teachers to collaborate, create, critically problem solve, and communicate as never before. Totino-Grace believes effective teaching is relational and inspirational. Our small classes are impactful in affording teachers the means to challenge, encourage, and support our students to become the best possible versions of themselves.

FAITH

As an Archdiocesan Catholic high school, Totino-Grace wants our students to know God and understand His purpose for each of them. The Religion Department curriculum is designed to provide students with a moral compass as they embark on life's journey. Totino-Grace provides students with opportunities to pray, celebrate the Sacraments, and learn about our faith through retreats, mission trips, and various service endeavors. Lasallian education and formation for students, faculty, and staff is a priority and our faith-based ministries inspire students to grow in their relationship with Christ and live the Gospel.

SERVICE

Totino-Grace is committed to providing a variety of service experiences that benefit both the school and greater communities. By serving meals and packaging food, tutoring nearby grade school students, offering hospitality at senior living homes, and building houses with Habitat for Humanity, Totino-Grace students make a difference. Our outreach and mission trips are also important enrichment--if not life-changing--opportunities for students to invest in the well-being of others. Student groups have traveled locally, across the country, and even internationally to serve communities and people in need.

COMMUNITY

From our inception, school leaders embraced the model of Christ, our Church, and our founders' charisms by purposefully creating a welcoming environment rooted in a sense of belonging, respect, and love. At Totino-Grace, we both teach and live these principles. Totino-Grace is more than just an academically rigorous high school. In the classroom and beyond, students make lasting friendships, enrich their faith, and become lifelong learners.

LEGACY

The Lasallian expression "together and by association" describes a promise to make a difference in young people's lives through relationships and education, and that is what generations of faculty, staff, alumni, parents, and friends have accomplished. Totino-Grace has been blessed with a community dedicated to giving back through time, talent, and treasure. The desire is for future Eagles to also enjoy the same sense of belonging, academic preparation, personal challenge, and faith development our school has long been known for. We are grateful for this enduring community-wide philanthropic support.

CAROLYN RENSTROM PUGH

I was the first of four to attend Grace High School and my two sons and two daughters attended Totino-Grace. My parents wanted their children to attend a Catholic high school and with the opening of a new school, it was a great opportunity.

No matter how long a timespan between reunions or activities, the first class that entered the halls of Grace High School has a special bond unlike other classes. Our relationships with each other as well as with the staff were unique; we grew together. Grace provided an environment that encouraged learning, believing in ourselves and not being afraid of challenges.

ANTHONY MCDONALD

I grew up in Northeast Minneapolis and attended St. Charles Borromeo School. My parents believed strongly in a Catholic education so my two brothers, three sisters, and I attended Grace High School. My two sons and daughter also graduated from TG. The impact that the faculty and staff had on me as a young man is something that I will be forever grateful for. Two of my favorite teachers were Mr. Bud Pappé and Mr. Mike Shimek. Class was enjoyable and all students felt important. Mr. Dave Nigon, my favorite coach, taught me so much more than just football. He instilled the importance of commitment, class and leadership without losing focus on your Christian faith. Certainly some of the defining community events from my high school years were winning two consecutive football championships in '77 and '78 – we never lost a game. Those state championships really brought the school together and put Grace High School on the map.

I received my undergraduate and MBA degrees from the University of St. Thomas. For over 20 years, I ran a small company, Best Vendors, in Minneapolis and most recently have taken on the assignment of CEO of Eurest, the largest food source company in North America. While my children were attending TG, my wife and I spent a significant amount of time on campus, attending their co-curricular events, the Winter Place Gala and other activities.

Although the faculty and staff change, the captive “soul” of Totino-Grace still resonates; I don’t believe that will ever change. Totino-Grace is a place and community where your child can grow and thrive as a young man or woman. They will not only benefit from the fine academic programs and strong co-curricular programs that TG has to offer, but – most importantly – their hearts and souls will be cared for, nurtured and developed in the spirit of Jesus Christ for four important years of their development. It’s a big check to write, but the best check I wrote each year my children attended TG.

Carolyn and Don Pugh

I started college but changed direction and started working. I am now retired after 37 years with Century Link Communications. I returned to school to complete my bachelor’s degree at St. Mary’s University and am currently working on a Master of Arts degree in servant leadership. At this time, I am serving in Haiti as a two-year missionary with Healing Haiti. I am an education advocate working with the staff at the school and we are preparing to open a second school this year.

My experience as a student and parent was very rewarding and memorable. Totino-Grace truly is a community that supports the family and well-being of each student.

PATRICIA FLYNN

I went to St. Odilia and wanted to continue my Catholic education in high school. My parents chose Grace High School for my older sister and I followed. French was my favorite class. Mr. Ed Cepress was a great mentor and very patient with all of his students. He led a class trip to France that gave us the opportunity to really experience the language and culture. This began my love for traveling and experiencing different cultures. While in high school, I was a member of the National Honor Society, a sports editor for the school newspaper, played softball and volleyball, and volunteered at church.

Mr. Greg Balego coached me in softball and was a great mentor. He taught me the importance of persistence and effort that has stayed with me throughout the years. In addition, my basic law teacher, Mr. Tom Nieszner, really pushed me to achieve in his class and prepared me the most for college with a greater appreciation of the law as a field to pursue. Mr. Ned Thompson gave me great encouragement and confidence to succeed in anything I set my mind to.

I majored in social work at the College of St. Benedict, and after I graduated, I felt the call to give back. For one and a half years I volunteered with Volunteer in Education and Social Services, a Catholic organization where I served 24/7 as a caseworker/counselor at a half-way house for women. Later, I went back to school and received a Juris Doctorate degree. My most memorable opportunity working for the federal government has been working at the White House as an Assistant to the Associate Counsel to the President.

I continue to travel the country and the world in my current job with the Department of Homeland Security, including countries throughout Europe, South America and Asia. I also continue to volunteer at my church, in its faith formation programs and serving as a Eucharistic Minister and lector.

Living in Texas doesn't afford me the opportunity to visit often, but I was recently on campus with my husband and was amazed to see how the school has grown. Grace High School prepared me to be a successful, caring, faith-filled individual with a strong Catholic life. This school provides the foundation a student needs with great programs, opportunities, and a faith journey.

ANTHONY LAPANTA

I am the oldest of four in my family to attend TG and my youngest child (of four) is a freshman this year. My favorite course was a public speaking class with Mr. Dennis Cooney. I remember forgetting about a speech I was supposed to give that included visual aids. Luckily, I was reminded with enough time to call home and get my golf clubs dropped off at school. I gave the speech on golf and made the whole thing up as I went along. Mr. Cooney approached me later in the day and rather than letting me have it for not being prepared, he told me how much he enjoyed the speech and asked if I would deliver it to another class. The experience probably served me well in my current line of work.

After I graduated from St. John's University, I jumped into a sports broadcasting career and currently work for Fox Sports North. My main role is the television play-by-play announcer for the Minnesota Wild and host of the Twins Live pregame and postgame shows. I have also done radio play-by-play for the Twins, television play-by-play for Gopher hockey, as well as state high school tournaments for many years on both television and radio. I continue to enjoy my connections to athletics at TG and am in my ninth year on the football program staff as a head coach of the freshman team and varsity defensive assistant.

JEREMY CARROLL

My mother, Paulette Gacek Carroll '77, attended Grace High School as did most of her brothers and sisters. I have 19 uncles, aunts, cousins, and siblings who are graduates. In our family, TG is just where you go after eighth grade. I would classify myself as a professional socializer and started this at a young age. I had many favorite classes and always had a great time. I would summarize my experience as an education rooted in faith and balanced with real world adventures. Totino-Grace celebrates community in a way that makes everyone feel involved. The classes on faith were the most impactful on my life. I often refer to Mr. Mike Shimek's lesson on buckets. How full is your bucket? Are you filling my bucket or dipping your ladle in to fill your own? We're all better when our buckets are full!

After high school I worked at my grandfather's printing business, acquiring a passion for entrepreneurship and making a difference. I found my sweet spot in sales and over-delivering to clients. When the company was sold in 2005, I was retained by the new management and relocated to New York City. After four years, I took the leap from the security of a high paying job to start Latitude with my wife, Krista. Our new venture was about answering the call to do something greater, leveraging the power of business to fund causes that help elevate people out of poverty. We invest 50% of Latitude's profits in non-profit organizations across the globe.

I love being back on campus and seeing the kids and teachers. The place is electric and I can feel it in my heart when I walk through the doors. I've had a chance to speak to a couple of classes on social enterprise and absolutely enjoy engaging with the community at TG. My Totino-Grace years were a foundation that empowered me with the ability to connect and grow in community with family and friends to fully embrace my talents to serve to the best of my ability.

My wife and I have children with a wide variety of abilities academically, athletically, and socially; all have thrived at Totino-Grace. The faculty and staff do a tremendous job of connecting with all students and creating an environment where everyone feels important and welcome. Possibly the most impactful personal Totino-Grace experience I have had was a few years ago when we lost my dad. My mom was working for the school at the time and the faculty and staff were incredible in their support of her. One of the most moving moments was when the entire football team took a break from their Prep Bowl preparation and filled the church en masse for the funeral. Totino-Grace is a special place. You won't find a more inclusive community or a more connected faculty and staff who have a positive impact on the development of their students.

MARISSA MURLOWSKI SKAJA

A Catholic education is of utmost importance to our family, and to date, twenty members of the Murlowski family have attended TG; the next generation will enter in the very near future. The staff and teachers were all fantastic and really took a special interest in each student. They always had extra time to help out and give advice even if it wasn't related to the class they were teaching. TG is a community that teaches excellence in academics, social skills, and faith. I learned to work hard and play hard at TG. It was great to be able to excel in academics but also partake in all of the social events such as Friday football games, dances, and spending time with friends. I had such a special group of friends in high school and many of us are still close nearly 20 years later.

I graduated from the University of St. Thomas with a degree in business marketing and pursued a career in real estate. I have been working in this industry since 2003 and am now a licensed real estate broker and licensed general contractor. I work for Downtown Resource Group in Minneapolis as a residential realtor. We work with buyers, sellers, and developers, selling existing homes and new construction, and specialize in the urban market of Minneapolis and St. Paul. I am very fortunate to be able to work with my sister, cousin and uncle as well!

Totino-Grace allowed me to grow as an individual and I felt confident and prepared academically and socially for college and the real world. TG is a great, well-rounded community that teaches excellence in academics and allows a person to integrate the Catholic faith into their daily lives.

MAAME-YAA AFORO

I attended grade school at Epiphany and heard about Totino-Grace at an admissions event. I shadowed for a day and was convinced to attend high school at TG. I have used skills gained from every activity I participated in during high school, including campus ministry, speech, soccer, basketball, track and field, softball, and American Legion Auxillary Girls State and Girls Nation. I gained valuable organizational and leadership skills as student body president that I use in my business dealings every day, and my experiences in the arts informed my pursuit of a career in entertainment. Mr. Voss was my favorite teacher and his leadership, along with my participation in show choir and theater, helped me gain confidence and appreciation for my talent that still fuels me today.

Following graduation, I attended Spelman College, a historically black college, in Atlanta, Georgia. I majored in political science and during my

BENJAMIN CATTOOR

I was the second of four in my family to graduate from Totino-Grace. Coming from a public junior high school, I was impressed by the level of acceptance and respect of everyone in my class and felt it was okay to be smart and athletic. The patience of teachers like Mrs. Sweet and the way coaches like Mr. Champion pushed us to work extremely hard are a few of the ways teachers impacted me. Certainly one of the defining community events I remember from high school was winning the 2002 State Hockey Tournament.

I attended the University of St. Thomas after TG, worked as a bean counter at McGlasrey & Pullen and held a few other roles before starting my company, Foodsby, four years ago. It took a few years before I would argue we made it relevant but we have grown to six markets with more than 40 employees, including a few Totino-Grace graduates. I would consider the venture more successful than I could have imagined and we aren't done growing.

Looking back on my high school experience, I don't know that I appreciated my experience until I left. My time at TG gave me four years of a few trials and a whole lot of successes – capped off with some entertaining stories to boot. Totino-Grace allows teenagers to be teenagers and provides the level of engaged education that doesn't stop at the classroom. In addition, the school allows families to get involved in their child's life and education, integrating home and school into one. I look forward to sending my own children to Totino-Grace.

college summers I worked for Representative Keith Ellison in Washington, DC and at the US Department of Energy. My love for film was sparked while making a documentary in Ghana my junior year of college and I began doing freelance work on productions in Atlanta. Immediately after college, I worked for the United States Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Development as a press staffer. I eventually moved to Los Angeles, working for Pilgrim Films and Television, a reality show production company, and as an assistant to film writer and director Gina Prince-Bythewood. Simultaneously, I completed the improv program at the Groundlings School and Theater and perform improv around LA regularly in addition to my work as a freelance actress, writer, and producer. I am currently the assistant to director Seth Gordon for his new Netflix show Atypical.

My classmates and I shared a sense of comradery and school spirit that has created many lifelong friendships and I'm happy to say I am still in touch with all of my close friends from high school. My experiences during those years helped me gain the confidence to recognize I am a leader, and I would encourage all students to go and do as much as they can while at TG!

ASHLEY KIDD

My parents blessed me with the opportunity to choose whichever high school I wanted to attend. I fell in love with TG the day students came to my grade school and showed us a video about the TG community. As a singer, I was immediately drawn to the music program and show choir. When I visited the campus in eighth grade for a football game, an overwhelming sense of excitement hit me. I knew then and there I was being called to Totino-Grace. My love and passion for music was solidified at TG and I was heavily involved in theater and show choir in addition to participating in Lasallian Youth, student ministry, National Honor Society, and track and field.

I graduated from the University of Minnesota with a music degree and am currently a professional singer, working for the Archdiocese as a classical singer. I am going back to school for my masters in nursing to become a certified nurse midwife.

The class of 2010 was filled with students that possessed incredibly diverse talents. Artists, athletes, musicians, academics, and everyone in between seemed to find their own niche. To this day, my four years at TG remain some of the happiest of my life and it still feels like home. I learned so much about my faith and it helped me come into my own. I loved the rigor, the community atmosphere, and how we began each class with prayer. Totino-Grace truly gave me the skills I needed to become a faithful, successful adult.

CHRISTOPHER GOSCH

In order to decide between Irondale High School and Totino-Grace, I shadowed a current student. After witnessing the atmosphere of the community (and having a few of the cookies), I quickly decided that TG was the place for me. In hindsight, I'm very happy to say that it is one of the best decisions I have made. I think my class had an outstanding sense of community. We were incredibly inclusive and supportive of everyone. This mentality helped our class succeed in many different pursuits. Some of our best community events were commonplace events, like football games and Masses which helped us experience life together.

I enjoyed managing the football team during my junior and senior years, participating in the men's chorus, and was a member of the knowledge bowl and math team. I have pursued my interest in math and science through my degree program in Aerospace Engineering and Mechanics and Astrophysics, as well as my work with a high altitude ballooning research group, and a student group which builds and flies high power rockets. These pursuits, in conjunction with my studies at the University of Minnesota, have in turn led me to land a job in the defense industry where I get to work on cutting edge technical challenges every day. I can honestly say that I have my dream job, in no small part due to the influence TG has had on my life.

Recently, I spoke to the Engineering Institute students about my experiences and am very happy to see the growth of the E3 program at TG. It's an excellent opportunity for students to explore their interest in STEM fields. Totino-Grace's academically rigorous programs, extremely welcoming environment, and support from faculty and staff help all students grow emotionally, as well as in knowledge and faith, and leave students well prepared for anything they want to do once they graduate. I am eternally thankful for the experiences I had at TG, as they helped me to grow into the person I am today.

Clysdale Family

Matt and Diane Clysdale are dedicated members of the Totino-Grace community committed to the success of the school through their ongoing support. The couple has been involved in the life of the school in many ways as current parents. Their children include Totino-Grace graduates Nick '11, Amy '14 and Emily '14; current junior Marie '18; and their youngest, Charlie, will be a member of the class of 2021.

1974, when Greg Balego and Dave Anderson presented at a school fair held at St. Mark's School in St. Paul. We like to think Greg and Dave were a little off their turf, yet Cathy came home so excited, she declared she was going to Grace. My parents had to ask where it was located."

Diane shared, "Matt has said Totino-Grace is a 'tap on the shoulder kind of place,' meaning the teachers and over there with the distance runners.' I've been a life-long runner ever since."

Diane has volunteered at TG for many years in addition to membership in clubs supporting their children's co-curricular endeavors. Matt is a new member of the Board of Directors and serves on the Advancement Committee of the Board. He has also served on the Live Auction Committee for the Winter Place Gala.

As dedicated, long-time members of our community, the Clysdales have been most enthusiastic about the four pillars that inspire our core values: Learning, Faith, Community and Service. Diane comments, "Our kids have had so many great opportunities for service and mission trips; quite honestly we are envious. We see the profound changes in them when they return. As parents, we are grateful to immerse them in this wonderful community."

When asked why they decided to commit to consistent support of the school through financial giving, Matt explains, "We like what goes on here. The feeling you get when you come through those doors. Seeing the faces of the great folks that make this the place it is each day for these kids. When a place becomes a part of you, it's pretty easy to think about paying our blessings back in this way."

Matt '83 and Diane Clysdale and their children Nick '11, Amy '14, Emily '14, Marie '18 and Charlie '21

Matt, a 1983 graduate, comes from a large, Catholic, St. Paul family of seven kids; six of whom attended Grace and Totino-Grace: Cathy '78, David '79, Stephen '81, Peter '87 and Christopher '90. He recalls, "No one had heard of Grace High School until Cathy discovered it, in what must have been staff seem to have an inherent knack for getting kids involved." Matt adds, "We have such confidence that every kid finds a way here. I trust it's not as blunt as when Mr. Bernie Litecky tapped me on the shoulder and said, 'You're not a sprinter. See how that guy there is built? He's a sprinter. Go

TOTINO-GRACE HIGH SCHOOL ANNUAL REPORT

From the Board of Directors Co-Chair

As a parent of a former and current student, it is a special privilege to serve as Co-Chairperson of the Board of Directors of Totino-Grace High School. It is an honor to work with an extraordinary group of people who are committed to building on the legacies of our founders, St. John Baptist de La Salle and Blessed Theresa Gerhardinger.

Our role as board directors revolves around protecting the mission and culture of the school and ensuring its ongoing viability. Many of us have noted the very strong sense of community that is Totino-Grace. This is an exciting year at the school as we celebrate our 50th year in Lasallian education. It gives us a wonderful opportunity to celebrate our founding, reflect on our successes, revel in the sense of community we've built over the last five decades, and imagine the next 50 years at Totino-Grace High School.

The Totino-Grace board of directors and the Administrative Team are guided by a community-based strategic plan which outlines our mission, vision, core values, and strategic priorities. I am personally inspired by the vision for Totino-Grace, which is to be an innovative, vibrant, Catholic Lasallian high school known for academic rigor and relevance. We strive to enrich student-teacher relationships and provide dynamic experiential learning opportunities that inspire all students to reach their academic, faith, and personal goals. An important aspect of our vision is to also ensure financial stability and vitality that provides accessibility and transformative success for our students and school community.

My thanks to all who have brought Totino-Grace to where we are today in our 50th year and to all who will support us now and into the future. I know you share my pride in, excitement for, and commitment toward the coming year and for the ongoing success of our school and community.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve.

How Collective Giving Impacts Our School Community

Totino-Grace embraces a special group of students who are forever united in the Lasallian ideals on which we were founded. With a commitment to academic excellence, the value of the human spirit, and a diligent sense of social responsibility, we remain committed to forming the character of young men and women who will make a difference in society. At this juncture in our history, however, we recognize the need to address two issues that challenge us in fulfilling our educational mission:

- Remaining accessible to families faced with the ever increasing cost of Catholic education
- Investing in our faculty, facilities, and co-curricular opportunities at Totino-Grace

We are confident that you and other members of the Totino-Grace community will continue to have a positive and far reaching impact on our school. The funds being raised to help us meet these challenges will enable Totino-Grace to remain one of the strongest Catholic high schools in the Twin-Cities.

Totino-Grace has had a remarkable 50 years. It is imperative that we continue to take a strong leadership role in providing quality, faith-centered education for young men and women in the 21st century. We hope you will be inspired to become a vital part of this effort to ensure a promising future for Totino-Grace.

SHARE YOUR MEMORIES

To help celebrate Totino-Grace High School's 50th year, we invite members of our community to share how Archbishop Grace/Totino-Grace has impacted their lives. Below is a submission from Brother Kevin Brutcher, FSC, former Vice President for Faith Formation, who retired in 2002.

BROTHER KEVIN BRUTCHER

"After having worked in eight different schools around the country, I can honestly say that my experience at Archbishop Grace and Totino-Grace was a wonderful, caring, and an enjoyable community to be a part of. The community spirit was great and people went out of their way for others. One fantastic example of this was during Snow Days and the Fall Auction - so many parents, teachers, staff, and alumni were involved to raise money for the school and its projects. Another thing that touched my life occurred in 1992; I went into kidney failure and was put on dialysis three times a week. Theresa Mickley had drivers to take me to the hospital and then pick me up. I am ever so grateful for this. The students were great to work with and the numbers grew through the years. I am grateful to all my colleagues."

SOCIAL SNAPSHOT A LOOK AT WHAT YOU MAY HAVE MISSED

In preparation for our 50th Anniversary, staff and volunteers sorted through the Totino-Grace archives to pull important photos and memorabilia for the year. As we did this, we came across some great pieces, including a copy of a 1970 diploma, old uniforms, and one of our previous logos that hung on the front of the school building. On August 5 we shared photos of some of these items on the Totino-Grace Alumni Facebook page. The post reached 3,240 people and received 53 likes.
