Arts and Literary Club Make Bowls for Charity

The Elementary / Middle School Arts and Literary Club created clay bowls for the 2018, Arcadia University's 25th Annual Empty Bowl Dinner held on November 12, 2018.

From the Springfield Patch:

“Held at Arcadia University's historic Grey Towers Castle, attendees will get to choose from an array of ceramic bowls, handcrafted by our students, local schools, and even renowned artists!

After picking your bowl, fill it up! Enjoy a wide variety of delicious soups, breads, and desserts donated by local area restaurants.

After the event, your bowl is taken home to serve as a reminder that for many people around the world, an empty bowl is the reality of their mealtime.

Our purpose for the event is to bring awareness to hunger and homelessness both locally and globally. This year's proceeds will benefit the Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network, a local agency that provides temporary shelter and food to homeless families, and Rise Against Hunger, an international program which provides crisis response, nutritious meals, and empowerment initiatives to those affected by natural disasters and those in impoverished areas.”

Halloween Fun!

This year's Halloween Parade took place on October 31, 2018. Each class' section was represented by various themes. Teachers even got in on the Halloween fun, dressing up as Disney characters! The parade was judged, and candy was passed out along the parade route.

Fall Poetry

Fall Haiku and musings from the Arts and Literary Club

You see the leaves there
Their color they're colorful
Then winter comes near

They're naked oh bare
Snowflakes are falling in the air
They're white in your hair

By: Emanuel Davies Jr. 6th grade

I like the fall leaves
That come off the big brown trees
I really love them

By: Sahaarah Mitchell 6th grade

Leaves fall from the trees
Big turkeys at the table
Birds migrating now

By: Prince Matthews 4th grade

The last winter leaves
Are green yellow and orange
Turkeys are coming
The cold is coming... Leave fall
The leaves lose colors

By: Hamza Logan 4th grade

Fall is cold and pretty
Coldness of fall can make you sad
Fall in the air cares

By: Celise Purnell 4th grade

Blossom
Pretty flower fall
See lots of leaves together
Love, live, together

Fall Night Colors
The leaves are bright cool
The night breeze is always cool
When I see you too

Both By: Abigail Green 4th grade

Leaves are colorful
They will come out in the fall
The colors will change

By: Alana Grubbs 4th grade

The leaves are changing
I like to paint fall pictures
That makes me pretty

By: Veronika Banks 4th grade

Leaves are colorful
They will come out in the fall
Leaves are everywhere

By: Aniya White 4th grade

Fall Poems Continued

Fall is beautiful
Fall breeze is just so awesome
Can you feel the breeze?

By: Rapheal Harvey 4th grade

Fall is now coming
Leaves on trees falling right now
Everybody's down

By: Shuaib Conteh 4th grade

Teachers are like trees
Different, strong, and firm.
Some are bendy, some are completely mystical.
Regardless of what they are, they are rough on the outside.
But, they can show you many things you never thought of.

By: Danielle Ashley 8th grade

The starry fall night
Very warm with a cool breeze
Oh how I love it

By: Shuaib Conteh 4th grade

Be thankful for every Thing because when You're doing bad somebody
Is doing worse
Thank everyone.

By: Rapheal Harvey 4th grade

You can crunch fall leaves
Fall leaves make a pile to crunch?
Fall is so cool, right?

Fall is coming now
Trees are releasing their leaves
Winter is coming

Fall is bad to me
People are allergic to mold
Fall is bad to them

Fall is so fun now
You can get sick in the fall
You can get ring-worm

Thankfulness Tree

The Arts and Literary Club made a Thankfulness Tree, and hung it on the 2nd floor by the reading area.

The leaves on the tree were tracings of the students' hands, with what they are thankful for on each finger.

6th Grade Book Battle

The 6th Grade Class took top honors in this year's Book Battle at the Philadelphia Free Library on October 30, 2018.

The book that students were quizzed on was: The Skin I'm In by: Sharon Flake

See What is Going on in the High School

(Above) After seeing that the Arts and Literary Club made a Thankfulness Tree, the high school students decided to make their own too. But, they put a spin on it. Instead of a tree, the high school students decided to make a turkey, and use their hands as the turkey feathers!

My Glasses:

Couldn't find my glasses and now I'm squinting,
 Couldn't see the board, I was always squinting,
 Where are you, grandma? I can't see you I'm squinting
 I couldn't read the book, I was always squinting
 Oh no it's night time the lights are blurry and now I'm squinting
 I'm watching TV it's blurry, now I'm squinting
 Which way do I go, I can't see the sign I'm squinting,
 What was the homework, I couldn't see I was squinting
 Glasses will help my eyes
 Life was blurry like a stained glass
 I was as blind as a baseball bat
 But finally, I can see!

Socks!!

Oh socks, Oh socks!
 How underrated and unappreciated you are Yes you have your flaws and what not but at the end of the day
 Our flaws are what define us
 Without you, our feet have no comfort, and that's Regardless of what you are made of,
 May it be cotton, wool, nylon or polyester
 Your mission to keep our feet Warm, free from sweat, and in some cases you are also waterproof
 Without you, our feet will be placed in hot sweaty shoes
 When I think about how underrated you are it dis-gusts me
 You don't just keep our feet dry and free from bacteria
 You also help us give a fun fashion statement and let's not forget you are good for any weather
 When it's cold you keep our feet warm and When it's hot you keep our feet moisturized from the summer heat
 So I just want to take this time to say thank you for all the unappreciated work you do

The fall is now here
 The leaves' colors are changing
 Soon trees will be bare
