

What does
Santa do
AFTER Christmas?

"What I Thought"

by Eileen Bremer

Mrs. Moon's 1st Grade

When I was in bed Christmas Eve night I wondered what does Santa do after Christmas? Then I thought and thought. Maybe he massages at the beach. Maybe he makes toys to each store. Does he eat cookies when the reindeer are in bed? Then I thought some more. Does he hang lights on his head? I thought that was a funny one but what if he does? I'd like to know do the reindeer take flying lessons? That's what I thought. He probably checks his nice list every minute and his naughty list too. What if he's hiding in my room? That's how I wondered it all. Cause in the morning I'll tell mom and dad.

the end

What Santa Does After Christmas

By Sophia Hancock 2nd grade

Teacher is Mrs. Foutz

When Christmas is over Santa gets to go on vacation. He likes going to hot places. He usually goes to Hawaii. When he is there he relaxes in the sun. He goes to a fancy restaurant and he eats yummy Hawaiian foods. Other times he goes to Arizona and his elves come with him. He also likes going to places with beaches. His elves like playing in the sand like they do with snow. They play games at the hotels they stay in. They play pool and board games. They also build Lego sets for the children. So, this year Santa decided to do something different and special. He and an elf started telling the other elves about it. They loved the idea! The idea was to give extra presents to the good kids and he could also give presents to the bad kids, just not extra. He decided to also have two other Christmas's that are earlier than the first one. They worked hard, and they were almost done when Christmas came. They had exactly five minutes to finish! They didn't have enough time. They tried to finish but their time was up. They panicked. Then he heard a woman's voice. Mrs. Claus had said she would finish, and Santa could get them when they were ready. Then they left, Mrs. Claus got to work. She accidentally labeled one of them wrong. The kid was sad that the gift was not what he asked for, so he gave it to his sister Lola. She loved it so much and they traded so he had loved what he got! He was so happy he wrote a note to Santa that says, "Dear Santa, thank you for the gift. I loved it so much! Love, Jack."

The End

What Does Santa Do After Christmas?

By Courtney Burbidge and Gigi Heath

Mrs. Bentley's class

4th Grade

You know Santa's story, well most of it. But what does Santa do after Christmas?

If you think Santa starts preparing for the next Christmas right after that one you are totally wrong. Santa must clean up, it takes him almost all the way to January to just clean up from Christmas. After, he finishes he needs a vacation, in the Caribbean of course. While you are shoveling snow, Santa is preparing for his Caribbean vacation. Santa wants to go to the islands in disguise, so people don't think that he is Santa Claus. On the way to the airport, Santa started to roll on the ground pretending to not be him and trying to be invisible. But then everybody started staring at him, so he stood up and pretended it didn't happen. When Santa got on to the airplane, he noticed that he was on an airplane that holds all the fictional figures and guess who he was sitting right next to. THE GRINCH! The whole flight until Las Vegas was miserable with grinch talking about how he hates the whole Christmas season and how he is so glad that it is over. After his lunch break, he had another 9 hours until he gets there. Luckily the grinch wasn't going to the Caribbean, but the Easter bunny was on his left-hand side. The Easter bunny kept going on about how he had never celebrated Christmas because he was always preparing for Easter. The Easter bunny got off the plane, when the plane reached Florida. With a stretch of about 4-5 hours left. On the last flight to the Caribbean islands, he found out that the worst character ever was sitting on his right-hand side. It was CUPID!!! On that flight he talked so fast so he couldn't understand a word he was saying. Finally, he was in the Caribbean ready to relax. He was so glad that he was away from the snow, crazy stuff about Christmas, and hearing the legends about Santa Claus. When he got to the hotel, he figured out that he was sharing a room with Dracula. He decorated the room so black all you could see was Santa's clothes. That night when Santa went to bed Dracula tried to make Santa get up from bed to go sit by the pool with him, because he sleeps in the day time. On the first day he went sunbathing but got sunburned. He wasn't used to the sun because he lives in the North Pole. On the second day he tried to go surfing but there was no surf. On the third day he tried to go snorkeling, but the surf was too high. On the fourth day he tried taking a walk on the beach, but there were too many people. On the fifth, and very last day he tried to go to the market but there wasn't one. It was finally time to fly home, and he thought nothing else could possibly go wrong. On the plane he had to use the restroom but there were about 1,000,000 people in line. By the end of the plane ride, he had to use the restroom so bad that he peed his pants. Then when the flight landed, he tried to find his suitcase, but he had forgotten it at the hotel. He was finally to the airport when he realized that he had packed every one of his things in that suitcase. He had to go back to the hotel, or he would be wearing the clothes that were wet for the rest of his life.

When he got back to the hotel, he noticed Dracula was still there. "Not you again!" Said Santa in Dracula's accent. "Yes, it's me again!" said Dracula in a very excited tone. Dracula was holding Santa's suitcase. "I noticed you wanted to leave your suitcase here so you could spend more time with me." So, Santa had to spend one more day with Dracula, but Dracula thought he meant one more week. Santa miserably made it through the week. After the horrible week, Santa was able to make it on to the plane with his suitcase. On the plane ride he had to sit by A NORMAL HUMAN!!! "Aren't you Santa Claus?" said the human. "No." said Santa in Dracula's accent. "Then are you Dracula dressed up as Santa?" Said the human in a more curious tone. "No." said Santa in an angry tone. Santa finally got back to the airport after a big flight of questions. Santa was driving home and saw blitzen, his reindeer in the middle of the road. He sat there for 3 hours trying to get blitzen out of the road. He finally got blitzen out of the road and carried on driving. When he got back to the north pole he plopped in his bed and said, " I am never going on a vacation ever again."

The End

What Santa does after Christmas

by: Lauryn Cragun

Mrs. Wride's class

6th Grade

On a cold night in the north pole one week before Christmas Santa planed a trip to Hawaii for the week after the holiday season. He is taking all the reindeer and Mrs. Claus. They start packing for the trip and then the day after Christmas they got on the sleigh and flew off on their way to Hawaii. When they get there they go to a beach house just a way down from the beach. The beach house is four stories high and each room has a unique theme of its own. When they get there they all get settled and find their rooms. The master bedroom went to Mr. Claus and Mrs. Claus. They had a full-sized bathroom, walk-in closets, and a full queen water bed. With a movie screen television just a few steps away from them. Dasher was the oldest of all the reindeer, so he chose the surf board themed room the largest of them all. Dancer got an ocean themed room. Prancer got a sea shell themed room. Vixen got a sea animal themed room. Comet got a sand themed room. Cupid got a sunset themed room. Donner got a sun-based room. Blitzen had chosen the fish themed room. Finally, Rudolph chose the sky-based room. They all watched a movie called "Santa Paws" then turned off the lights and went to bed.

The next day they bought snorkeling gear and went out to the beach. When they were in the water, they saw many fish. They even saw turtles. They all had favorite fish. The reindeer loved the parrot fish that was the bright yellow fish that has parrot lips that started out light blue and shaded into a dark blue. Mrs. Claus also had a favorite animal, but it was not a fish it was the lime green sea turtle she saw and swam with. Santa also did not have a favorite fish his favorite sea animal that they saw was the purple and pink dolphin. When they were snorkeling, Donner found a clown fish and went up to it and started teaching it to dance. The clown fish started mocking him and copying his every move. Then they started synchronizing swimming. They had a fun exhausting day.

Their second day they went dolphin swimming. They all got to choose a dolphin to ride and play with for the day. Santa chose a green dolphin named Bubbles. Mrs. Claus chose a pink dolphin named Pearl. All the reindeer together got four dolphins. One purple one named sea lavender. Another orange one named star fish. One was yellow and was named sunny. Finally, they had one that was gold and silver named gem. They got to teach them how to play games like Frisbee. Another learned how to dance. One learned how to sing. The last three learned how to change colors. They got to be such good friends with them that now they live in Santa's indoor swimming pool at the north pole.

The fourth day they went on a boat ride. They got their sled and one of the features on their sled is to turn into a boat. They went onto the water and got all their water games. First, they went tubing on their green and red tubes. Then they went on to water skiing the reindeer loved that the most. Then they went surfing on their red and gold star shaped surf boards. Then they went on the beach and swam in the water and had a sea shell finding competition. Whoever got the most sea shells got to choose what they all did the next day. The person who won was Mrs. Claus and because she loves hiking and climbing, she decided that the next day they would go on a hike called waterfall.

The 5th day they got their hiking gear together and went up to the mountain. It was a short hike and what everyone was excited about was that there was a waterfall and a lagoon at the end of the hike that they could go swimming in. When they got to the top the water was clear and shiny, they could see the bottom of it. They all jumped in and swam. They wanted to start another competition. That is what they did. They had to make an obstacle course. Whoever won would get to choose what the other people had to do while they were in the water. The course had two cliffs. Six slides. And four mountains. They all started at the slide. Then went to climbing the mountain. Then jumped off a cliff. They kept doing it when they were all at the end, they realized they did not know who won. They decided to go ask people. Most of them said Prancer won. Prancer went along and chose that they all had to do a diving competition. The winner for that was Santa. Before he was in the north pole and Santa, he was a swimmer in the Olympics. After they hiked down the mountain and went back to their vacation suit. They got dressed and went out to dinner at a place called Sunset café. They all got a plate of nachos. For desert they had a plate of cookies and milk. Then they went to the suit and got ready for bed.

In the morning they got up bright and early exited for cliff jumping that day. They all went in their cars and headed to the water cliffs. Santa and Mrs. Claus got their first, but the reindeer got lost. They went to the water and remembered that where the fish go in were Santa goes. They went in the water and started following the fish. When they found Santa, they realized they forgot their cat on the other side. They decided to cliff jump then go get it. They went on huge cliffs and Santa taught the reindeer how to dive. At first, they started off belly flopping. Then flipping. After 23 tries the reindeer got the hang of it. They were so good at it that the next day they decided to go to the ocean and have a swimming diving competition. The next day they went swimming. Then diving on the cliffs When they finally were done practicing, they had a finally. Santa against Dancer. Dancer was the best diver out of the reindeer. They started swimming and their goal was to go out to the middle of the ocean and back. Whoever was faster was the true best. When they were at the finish line, they started cutting each other off. They would put their arms in front of each other. Then they would start criss crossing across the water. They almost had a tie, but the winner was Dancer. The reindeer were so proud of him and Dancer started teaching them. When they were done in the water, they went out to dinner at Sunset café again because they loved the food their so much. After they went to bed but none of them could sleep. In the middle of the night they realized that Santa was gone. They went to go find him in the halls and drove around the whole island. When they got home, they saw him sleeping on the couch. They woke him up and asked him where he was, he told them he was making an invisible cloche for the reindeer to share. He forgot to take it off before bed. Luckily before they all got home from looking for him the batteries ran out so they could see him again. They all could not stop laughing at how funny the situation that they were in was.

The next day they all woke up at two in the afternoon. They were so tired from chasing invisible Santa around all night. At four they left to a luau. It was their last day here and they were so sad. At the Luau they had dinner. Danced and watched an outdoor play. They had so much fun, but it was time for them to fly home. They got in the slay and decided that because they had so much fun there, they would go there every year. And that is how Santa came to be going on vacation every week after Christmas.

The End