Dear Friends of Roman,

As the first diocesan high school in the nation, Roman Catholic High School is home to a faith-community with a unique and distinct history. Spanning over 128 years, Catholic High was built on the foundations of academic rigor, high expectations, and personal responsibility all set within the context of a morals-based school environment.

At Roman, the academic program attempts to broaden young minds, expand understanding, and create life-long learners. While the tools of education have changed dramatically, the mission of our school has remained constant: forming young men in the truth of the Gospel, ready to take their place in our world.

Today, while the prevailing story of Catholic Education seems to be merger, consolidation or closure, Roman is on the threshold of a new renaissance. We are now drawing students from 90 different zip codes from throughout the tristate area. Each year, on average, 450 students take the entrance exam for Roman. Our competitive sports teams continue to dominate the league with numerous titles and awards. Our Music and Choral programs produce numerous All-Catholic recognitions. And our college placement averages 96%, with over $24 million awarded to our seniors annually.

Quite frequently, I am asked, “How does Roman do it?” While the question is simple, the answer is much more complex. Roman is an urban Catholic school success story because of the passion and commitment of so many people; wonderful parents who entrust their sons to our care, an incredible faculty that inspires students to do their best and never accept mediocrity and coaches who develop and sustain competitive athletic programs and moderators who create unique and engaging co-curricular activities which require constant intellectual challenge and rigorous commitment. The Alumni of Roman are legendary for their continued loyalty and support of our students. Local business and civic leaders have stepped-up in remarkable ways to assist with planned growth and fundraising efforts. The last, but certainly not the least, component of our success is the student body. I earnestly believe we have some of the finest young men in the Delaware Valley – they are bright, engaged, committed, passionate and honest.

This Annual Report details and summarizes the financial support we have received from so many. We are sincerely grateful and humbled by this investment in Roman Catholic. However, if our efforts to renew Roman and the values upon which it was established are to be successful, we know we need to broaden and increase that support. If Roman is to continue to grow, develop and expand, we will definitely need many more to join our efforts of providing a secondary education, second to none!

With grateful appreciation and heartfelt gratitude, and asking God’s continued blessings upon you for your generosity and support, I remain,

Sincerely,

Reverend Joseph W. Bongard '77

To My Fellow Alums and Friends of RCHS,

As I stated many times, I am honored and humbled to be the president of the RCHS Alumni Association. As part of the duties of this office, I am frequently asked to represent the Association at various school sponsored events during which students address the audience. I have noticed one interesting and reoccurring topic that the students seem proud to mention.

More often than not, it seems that as eight graders, RCHS was not their first choice for secondary education. However, I routinely hear “once I walked through the doors of Roman Catholic High School, I knew it was the place for me.”

We historically recognize Thomas E. and Sophia Cahill for providing the funds which supplied the brick and mortar for the foundation of RCHS and the education of thousands of young men from throughout the Delaware Valley. Men, like myself, my father, my brothers, my sons and the many friends that I have met along the way. However, it is the men, women, and corporations within the covers of this Annual Report who need to be acknowledged for providing the financial support which fulfills the dreams of the Cahills as well as the boys who are afforded the opportunities and programs provided by RCHS.

On behalf of the RCHS Alumni Association, I would like to publically thank all of you for the financial and spiritual support and generosity that you provide to Roman Catholic High School.

Sincerely,

Thomas F. Johnston '72
President,
RCHS Alumni Association

If you Build it...they will Sing, Draw, Paint and make beautiful Music!

It has been said, “you can’t make an omelet without breaking some eggs.” Well, in that same vein, you can’t build an art center without tearing down some walls!

Construction of the Howard Center for the Arts, actually began with demolition! The pre-existing office complex on the first floor of the building had to be completely removed. All flooring, walls, partitions, and fixtures needed to be dismantled and discarded, as this area will provide the space for an indoor parking facility, with the planned STEM Center (Phase 2 of A Vision of Promise) to be built on the present parking lot of the 1890 building. Providing this parking alternative was paramount.

With the space cleared, footers were dug to accommodate the new elevator, and stair tower. This required cutting through the second floor beams and constructing a large shaft and opening a doorway in the Pearl Street wall for a new exit. The window openings on the Wood Street side of the building have been enlarged to allow for larger casement windows to provide abundant natural light into the classrooms.

Meanwhile, construction on the second floor classrooms is proceeding according to schedule. The rough plumbing for the bathrooms has been installed, the ductwork for the heating and air conditioning systems is completed and the exhaust hood for the kiln room has been mounted. Additionally, the metal framework for the band room, digital photography studio and art rooms has been completed.

The design of the Black Box Theatre required the removal of existing ceiling and roofing materials and the welding of new beams and supports. The roof was raised approximately 12 feet in this area to accommodate special lighting and acoustical equipment necessary for a versatile theatre. When completed, this intimate theatre will hold around 130 spectators.

Pictured above is the ground floor of The Howard Center for the Arts that will serve as a parking facility.

Elayne and Barry Howard

Also, the supports for 12 tubular skylights have been welded to the second floor ceiling. This will allow for ample natural light to flood the main corridor of the building.

Topping Off Ceremony

The signature architectural element of the Howard Center will be an all-glass Atrium entrance. This feature, extending over and above the present façade of the building and extending two and a half stories will provide a visual definition and focal point of entry. The Atrium will allow natural lighting to enter the building during the day, and at night, it will be defined by LED lighting. This dramatic statement required extending the existing columns, and the addition of new horizontal beams.

A formal “topping-off” ceremony was held in late December when the last piece of steel for the Atrium was set in place. Student members of the Band, Orchestra, and Chorus, along with representatives of the project architects, managers, and Roman administration, were invited to sign the beam with their name and class year before the beam was hoisted and attached. The beam will remain exposed in the Atrium for generations of musicians, artisans, and guests to view.

As the Howard Center will be ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) compliant, ramps, large doorways, reachable fixtures and easily accessible spaces have been incorporated into the design. The framework for these features has already taken shape as the classroom and corridor walls are being constructed.

While much progress has been made, there is still substantial work to be completed. Large crews from all the major unions (electrical, sheet-metal, masonry, roofing and plumbing) are on sight daily as Erickson, our General Contractor, orchestrates the many phases of construction. Completion of the building is scheduled for early July, with a dedication planned for the early Fall.

Building Bridges through STEM at Broad & Vine

In September, Mr. Phil Cameron '06, a member of the science faculty hosted an event for Cahillites that were interested in an engineering field. The students were able to view a presentation by the Schuylkill River Development Corporation, have question and answering sessions with AECOM engineers and planners, and network with both AECOM employees and members of the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia. As a follow-up to the event,

Mr. Cameron's senior engineering course took a walking tour of the Schuylkill River green space south of the Art Museum onto the "boardwalk," ending at the South Street Bridge. Joe Syrnick '64, CEO of the Schuylkill River Development Corporation, explained the progress and construction of the landscape, walkway, bridges, and boardwalk through the heart of our city. This event along with a newly introduced engineering elective broadens our STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) offerings for students in preparation for our future STEM Center, which is Phase 2 of our Vision of Promise Campaign.

Cahillites Host Philadelphia's District Attorney

In December, acting Philadelphia District Attorney Kelley Hodge visited Roman. We extend many thanks to Mrs. Hodge for taking time to speak with our students about her work in the DA's office!

Blue Mass of Thanksgiving Continues as Annual RCHS Tradition

On Wednesday, November 22, 2017, Roman celebrated the 11th Annual Blue Mass of Thanksgiving. Before the school enters Thanksgiving break, the special Mass that honors and pays tribute to local Police, Fire Fighters, EMTs and First Responders is held.

Catholic High was fortunate to have Deputy Commissioner of Operations for the Philadelphia Fire Department, Gary Loesch, Commissioner of Philadelphia Department of Prisons Blanche Carney, and Commissioner of the State Police, Tyree Blocker '70, all in attendance.

Rev. Mr. Eric Banecker '07, who is currently a transitional Deacon and will be ordained a priest in May, had the opportunity to give the Homily at his alma mater.

A sea of Purple and Gold on the steps of the Franklin Institute!

The City Remains Our Campus

Roman's dedicated and creative faculty always seek opportunities to take advantage of our surroundings in Center City with exciting field trips and partnerships. Major trips this year have been to the Franklin Institute, Independence Hall, and the brand new Museum of the American Revolution.

In November, the freshman of Mr. McAndrew's honors World History class visited the Franklin Institute to see the Terracotta Warrior Exhibit. The students used their iPads to check off all they were learning in a scavenger hunt fashion.

One of the most exciting developments in our curriculum this school year was the partnership Roman developed with the brand new Museum of the American Revolution. Mr. Corrigan's sophomore government classes enjoyed a trip to the brand new facility. Through the generous support of the Museum and their staff, students were given an in-depth and personal look into the many aspects of the founding struggle for liberty and independence.

Students listen to a first person presentation of Joseph Plumb Martin, a historic character of the Revolutionary War, known to many as Private Yankee Doodle.

Cahillites gather with National Park Officer Luke Hopely '11. He gave them insight into the unique importance of this historical building.

Brothers for Life

By Chris Gibbons '79

In the autumn of 1902, newly appointed basketball coach at Roman Catholic High School, Billy Markward, informed his team that the Interscholastic League was threatening to ban Roman from league play if they allowed John Lee, an African American player, to remain on the team. Team Captain John Corkery was the first to stand up and speak: "If Johnny Lee doesn't play, then I don't play." Then, one by one, each of the other boys, including Corkery's brother, Maurice, stood and said that they wouldn't play as well. Roman stood with Johnny Lee and the league eventually backed down.

On November 17, 2017, Roman Catholic High School commemorated the 115th anniversary of the legendary 1902-1903 basketball team with a "Brothers For Life" Assembly in the school gym. In attendance were John Lee's grandson, Curtis Cockenberg, Billy Markward's great nephew and current Roman student, Tyler Markward '20, and numerous members of the Corkery family. The Corkery family was formally presented with the "Roman Catholic High School 125 Persons of Distinction Award," and they accepted on behalf of their great uncle, John, who was named one of Roman's 125 "Men of Distinction" in 2015. It was an emotional day for all in attendance, as Father Bongard '77 and Msgr. Frederico Britto '74 gave stirring speeches on the legacy of brotherhood that has been one of the hallmarks of Roman's many traditions, and why it is important, especially today, to stand together as Cahillites against bigotry and hatred. The Corkery family sent the following e-mail after the Assembly:

"Thank you very much for this event. Very emotional day for me and my family. Your eloquently delivered story made us more proud than you can imagine. We went out to lunch and talked about John Corkery's siblings. At Roman today, we spoke about character, integrity, and in what it took for John and Maurie to stand up and support Johnny Lee. Let me show you as it was across the family. His brother Frank, my grandfather, was an electrician who contracted with the city and did all the electrical work on the elevated West Philly section of the El. They had 4 sisters with only one who married. The 3 unmarried sisters lived together and here's how they lived: they always made sure the next door neighbors (struggling, large Irish family) had food on their table by cooking large pots of stews and soups along with baked goods, and explaining the way they accidentally cooked more than they could eat. They did all this while also taking in my father and Aunt Patty to raise them when my grandmother suddenly passed away when Patty was 2, and my father was 3. They raised both as their own which allowed my grandfather to focus on his business. When my father had his stroke in his early 40s (I was about 5) and with my 2 remaining great aunts being elderly, they did the same for me and my siblings. That shows you why John was who he was. Integrity and Character is the legacy they left behind...Maurie made a living, essentially, by buying houses in the neighborhood, renting and/or flipping them all the while making sure he didn't take advantage of people, especially those who were struggling to make ends meet. I recall my great aunts filling up with pride whenever they spoke of John, how wonderful a person he was, and how they felt he was cheated by his life being cut short. They were very close and I like to think they all passed it on to the next generation. I know from a young age, it influenced me and was always on my mind when raising my kids and I'm making sure that my grandchildren "get it." Thanks once again and stay in contact.

Thank you for Supporting the Cahillites!

A message from Ryan Frank '20

As a first generation American and the oldest son of a family that emigrated from Pakistan, I can tell you opportunity is exactly why my family moved to America. Knowing that your parents gave up everything they knew and loved, in order to provide you and your two younger sisters an opportunity, gives you a reason to be thankful from the very start. It also places a pretty heavy burden on your shoulder to succeed and make those who believe in you proud. My parents taught me that education is vital for a successful life and therefore, I have always strived to excel in school. I was very proud to graduate middle school ranked first in the class. But the biggest decision of my life was looming before me: Where do I choose to enroll for High School?

Since I was from Northeast Philadelphia, there were several very good schools located only minutes from my home and one, in particular, where almost all my friends were headed. While I realized I could make new friends in any school, the question remained: What school would be best to prepare me for my future? After a lot of investigation and research, I found my answer: Roman Catholic High School. There were many things I liked about Roman - it's history, the variety of sports and activities, and especially the people. But the thing that appealed to me the most, was the feeling I got there - a feeling of "being home."

While I had made my decision, I knew tuition would place a great strain on our family, since not only was I starting high school, but my younger sister would be the following year, along with my other sister still in grade school. Because of my academic performance, I received an Academic Scholarship from the Alumni Association of Roman. This would help considerably, but I still recognized my responsibility as the oldest son to help out. So I began staying up late, filling out every additional scholarship application and writing every essay I could. Things looked bleak as I saw scholarship after scholarship declined. Then I received a phone call from the Admissions Office of Roman, informing me I had been chosen for the Ethel Mae Hocker Scholarship, which would cover my full tuition.

This was the answer to a prayer; I am so greatly thankful for my scholarship. And I know my classmates are grateful to the countless other people who provide tuition assistance: alumni, faculty, friends and benefactors. I now proudly wear the purple and the gold and go to a place I know as home. It might as well be home, since my parents are constantly complaining how teachers and coaches see me more than they do, even on weekends. I'm a wrestler, a School Ambassador, a member of the Student Council, Community Service Corps, the World Affairs Club, and played the drums in the band. As a member of the Roman Catholic Mock Trial Program, I was part of the City Championship team, a state finalist, and runner up at the Empire World Championship Tournament.

One of the things I've gained from being a student at Roman is the irreplaceable friendships I have formed. Roman students may not all have perfect SAT scores or PCL championships, but as sons of Cahill we strive to be the best, every day. On any given day of the week, you'll see people from different sports, activities, backgrounds, and races treating each other with respect, as brothers. A brotherhood so many have helped to create through their financial assistance and support. I want all of you to know that the students of Roman are grateful to you for investing in us. Many of the students I've gotten to know as my brothers would not be able to be at Roman Catholic without scholarship support received from you.

I've learned that while it is always good to receive, it is even more important to give. I look forward to the day when I will be able to give back and help future Cahillites, as you have helped me and my classmates at Roman Catholic High School.

RCHS Profile:

Kevin Wong '17, Trustee of the Alumni Association

When asked what Roman means to him Kevin stated “many words come to mind when describing Roman: camaraderie, tradition, and pride. For me, attending Catholic High was one of the best decisions I’ve made in my life due to the experiences, friends, and opportunities that the school provided to me.”

As a recent graduate in the Class of 2017, Kevin is quickly realizing that he is utilizing skills in his early college career that were developed through extracurricular activities at RCHS. When Kevin worked as the Public Relations officer for Student Council and President of Community Service Corps, he broadened his leadership abilities and learned how to manage an organization, skills he uses now in handling the academic rigor at Drexel University. The graphic design work that Kevin produced during his time as a Student Council officer even earned him a part-time job at Drexel’s College of Engineering. Kevin also credits his experience with the Mock Trial program for allowing him to improve his public speaking, grow in confidence, and courage to get through tough situations. Most importantly though, he cherishes the friendships he developed with his teammates. Kevin’s time as a member of the Tech Club broadened his horizons in the field of technology and he now volunteers with an organization at Drexel called TechServ which repairs and donates computers to the local West Philadelphia community. Kevin believes “Roman embraces the standard that every boy deserves to receive a high-quality Catholic education based on moral values and personal discipline.”

Even though he graduated last June, Kevin gives back to Roman in many different ways, whether it is a monetary donation, attending Roman events, or helping the Admissions or Advancement office by creating advertisements and social media posts. He believes “no contribution back to the school is too small. All alumni must remember the school needs our support to continue its tradition of excellence.”

RCCHS Profile:

Jim Hughes, '52

“The values and work ethic instilled by my parents were modeled by the faculty of RCCHS.”

In 1948, Jim arrived at Broad & Vine from Our Lady of Mercy parish school in North Philadelphia. While a student at Catholic High, Jim was a member of the Student Council, Captain of the Cross Country Team and a member of the Track Team. Upon graduation, Jim's accomplishments on the track would earn him a scholarship to LaSalle University and eventually, to him being inducted into the RCCHS Sports Hall of Fame.

Throughout the many places that Jim has worked, as elected president of the International Expediting Management Association, Manager of Operations for the Metropolitan Transportation Authority in New York, and Manager of several engineering companies, he often reflected on the formative years he spent at Roman. “The values and work ethic instilled in me by my parents were modeled by the dedicated faculty of RCCHS - my years at Roman were a wonderful experience.”

Jim has been a life-long, ardent supporter of Catholic High. He takes pride in having attended every Alumni Memorial Mass and Communion Breakfast since graduating in 1952 (Actually, he did miss two - the years he was serving in the military!) Jim enthusiastically plans and coordinates reunions and stays in contact with classmates and friends. And in his travels around the country, Jim never fails to meet other Cahillites - and how they enjoy belting out with pride a chorus of the Purple & Gold!

Today, Jim is retired and lives on Long Island enjoying life with Grace, his wife of 57 years. He is a docent at the Cradle of Aviation Museum, belongs to the Men's Prayer group, and taught CCD for over 20 years for which he was honored with the national Mother Seton Award. For all that Roman has meant to him, Jim believes that all alumni should be committed and work together to ensure that Cahill's dream continues for future generations.

RCHS Profile:

Marc Jackson, '93

“Roman is one of the best high schools in the City – it has both talented teachers and ambitious students.”

Although he grew up only a couple blocks from Broad & Vine, when Marc entered Roman, it seemed like a whole new world to him: new subjects, different people, higher expectations. As he grew through his high school years, Marc credits the Roman family for opening new windows and new possibilities, teaching him life skills, and the importance of hard work. Marc vividly remembers being mentored by Father Paul Brandt, being instructed by Coach Dennis Seddon and being taught by a Roman faculty that cared for him, personally.

Marc excelled at basketball, and his natural athletic ability, proven leadership and personal drive would earn him a college scholarship, and eventually, positions with several NBA teams, including our own Philadelphia 76ers. But when asked what he remembers most from his experience at Roman, Marc, member of RCHS Sports Hall of Fame, proudly shares how an incredible community welcomed him, during his formative years, and provided him with a solid foundation to become successful both on and off the court.

This past year, Marc and his family returned to Philadelphia. He presently is a popular TV commentator for NBC Sports. He is hoping, of course, that his young sons will eventually have the same great experience at Roman that he did! Marc supports Roman, so that others can benefit from the same morals-based, caring education that he was provided. Marc has said, “Roman is one of the best high schools in the City – it has both talented teachers and ambitious students. Everyone should work to enhance Roman’s facilities so both teachers and students have the tools they need to be the best!”

RCHS Profile:

Dorothy McMullen

“Contributions are an investment in the future as well as a tribute to those who have advanced Roman over the years.”

Dorothy is no stranger to Roman Catholic. Her father, Joseph, graduated in 1939 and her brother Joseph, Jr. in 1965. Throughout her life, Dorothy would hear from both father & brother, how Roman formed them as young men: confident, responsible and well-equipped. They realized how fortunate they were to attend RCHS. Dorothy vividly remembers how hard her father worked in the 1980's when Roman's future was in jeopardy.

Dorothy believes that Roman continues to be a civic asset, offering young men many opportunities to grow and develop. That is why, for many years now, Dorothy has helped to advance the dream of Thomas E. Cahill by providing substantial resources to the Adopt-A-Student Program. She earnestly desires that an education at Roman remain accessible to financially struggling families. Dorothy's generosity not only allows many young men to experience an excellent academic environment, but also models how they can give back as well. Dorothy has said, "I view my contributions to Roman as an investment in the future, as well as a tribute to all those who have advanced the mission of Roman over the years."

As a CPA, an Associate Professor of Accounting at Rider University, and a product of Catholic education herself, Dorothy believes that in addition to teaching the practical skills necessary for a successful career, it is vitally important that schools provide good role models. She is very proud that her father and brother had such an education at Broad & Vine. And, she is even more pleased, that the same tradition of excellence continues for the students of Roman today. Dorothy is grateful that the same values of honesty, hard-work, and accountability that her parents taught her, are on full display at RCHS. Dorothy is proud to emulate her family's commitment to Catholic High and create her own legacy of commitment and generosity.

RCBS Profile:

Ed Quinn, '60, RCBS Board of Directors

Ed Quinn attended Saint John's in Manayunk and entered the hallowed halls at Broad & Vine in the Fall of 1956. During his years at Roman, Ed formed many life-long friendships – friendships that endure to this very day. As a matter of fact, once a month Ed meets for lunch with several of his classmates; they share stories, reminisce about the “good old days” and bask in the pride that Roman is continuing its tradition of academic excellence for the students of today. When Ed graduated, he joined the Steamfitters Union where he served a five-year apprenticeship. As part of his apprenticeship, Ed was required to attend formal schooling – it was here he came to value the rigorous education he received at Catholic High, especially the Trigonometry class taught by Father Baraniak! After several jobs early in his career, Ed would eventually go on to found his own company, Fluidics, a mechanical services firm, in which he served as President and CEO for over 20 years. His firm provided commercial energy audits, HVAC maintenance and other mechanical services to businesses large and small. Fortune Magazine would declare Fluidics one of the “Top 5 World's Most Admired Companies” in the engineering and construction industry.

Ed retired last year and has used his new-found free-time helping at Roman Catholic. While serving on the RCBS Board of Directors, he was appointed Chair of the Facilities and Real Estate Committee. Ed and his committee have set out evaluating the entire physical plant, including the 1890 building, the McSherry Annex and River Field. They are working to develop a comprehensive strategic plan to modernize and improve the facilities available to our students. Additionally, Ed and his committee are reviewing the design plans and monitoring the construction of the new Howard Center for the Arts. Under Ed's leadership, Roman is entering a new era of planned, sustained maintenance, adopting new and improved efficiencies, and upgrades in the mechanical infrastructure.

“I really enjoy giving my time and experience back to Roman,” Ed states, “because Roman provided me with a strong faith, along with social and academic skills, which have enhanced my family and business life.” Ed has been married to his wife Cathy for 50 years, and blessed with two daughters and 5 grandchildren.

“Roman provided me with a strong faith, social and knowledge skills which enhanced my family and business life. That's why I enjoy giving my time and experience back to Roman.”
