Resurrection College Prep High School

Winter 2012-13

A Message from President Dr. Lynne Saccaro

Dear Friends of Resurrection,

As we begin the second semester and a new year with all the excitement of college acceptances, scholarship awards and plans for prom and graduation, we also begin preparations to welcome members of the Class of 2017 and their families to the Resurrection family.

The important work of developing a bold, thoughtful, forward thinking strategic plan for 2013-2016 will be completed by June 1, 2013. We are grateful for the time given by the participants who represent various stakeholder groups. Their work is essential to forging goals and objectives that are created to respond to the seemingly ever-changing landscape of secondary education in the city of Chicago.

Please mark your calendars and plan to join us on Saturday, February 16, 2013 for Res Fest 2013 Indoor Block Party, hosted by Chicago Radio Legend Dick Biondi . . . yes, Dick Biondi! Res Fest is replacing Res-Ma-Tazz as our annual fundraiser and promises to be a wonderful, fun-filled evening to benefit the young women of Resurrection.

Thank you for your continued generosity, prayers and enthusiastic support of Resurrection and the meaningful work that goes on each day on behalf of our young women.

In Charity and Truth,

Dr. Lynne Saccaro

Weber High School Alumni Scholarship recipients.

Scholarships help Resurrection students and their families manage the cost of a single-gender, Catholic education. Without scholarship support, many students would not be able to attend Resurrection College Prep High School. Creating a named scholarship is one way donors can assist students and leave a legacy to Resurrection. It is also a meaningful way to honor a friend, family member, or a respected teacher.

Annual scholarships can be established with an outright gift of $1,000 or more. An annual commitment of $1,000 or more a year for five years is recommended. The gift is awarded to recipients over the five year period. If you would like more information about funding an annual scholarship, please contact Alisa Martorano at amartorano@reshs.org or 773.775.6616 Ext 142. You may also contribute to an existing scholarship as a means of supporting scholarships at Resurrection. Simply earmark your contribution for the Sr. Mary Monica Hope Scholarship fund or select an existing scholarship from among the current list of scholarships.

The Bandit lacrosse team will kick off the season with their opening game on March 14, 2013 at 5 pm at Resurrection.

Positive Coaching Alliance

Resurrection College Prep High School has formed a partnership with the Stanford University based Positive Coaching Alliance (PCA). Resurrection and PCA share the goal of using high school sports to develop not only great athletes, but also quality leaders and citizens. Coaches are encouraged to train student-athletes as "Triple Impact Competitors" to pursue excellence on three levels by improving themselves, their teammates and their sport as a whole. Resurrection coaches are encouraged to cultivate these values in student-athletes.

"We are delighted that Resurrection is committed to producing Triple-Impact Competitors," said PCA Executive Director Jim Thompson. "Together, we'll help Resurrection coaches get the very best out of their student-athletes both in athletic competition and in life."

Resurrection offers 27 team opportunities within 12 competitive sports, including basketball, bowling, cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track and field, volleyball and water polo. Team schedules, highlights, scores and results can be found on the Resurrection athletic website at www.athletics2000.com/resurrection/.

Students using iPads in an English class. Technology funding has been generously supported by donors at Resurrection.

classwork for future reference. “If a student is absent,” said Abezetian, “I can e-mail the notes directly to her and she can see what we worked on in class.” She also likes to insert files and links that allow students to have additional resources, explanations and on-line tutorials.

Resurrection teachers have commented on their ability to engage students more deeply with the visual and interactive aids that are part of new technologies. An interactive geometric model of a shape that students can manipulate can give students a concrete way to explore geometry. In a World History class, a “virtual field trip” to Versailles on an iPad can help students appreciate the architecture of the historic French palace and understand in greater detail the life of its builder, Louis XIV. During the election season, students in a Social Studies class used an interactive white board to work with an interactive electoral map, testing various scenarios to determine the possible election results. A Sociology class researched poverty in the United States and then prepared interactive displays in the school library to share their knowledge. The World Language Department utilizes Rosetta Stone software as an interactive learning tool to enhance instruction in the languages currently offered at Resurrection, including French, Italian, Latin and Spanish. Expansion of the Rosetta Stone program will also allow students to study languages not currently offered at Resurrection.

The rapid pace of technology changes and the knowledge and innate ability of current students is a contrast to parents and alumnae who remember learning to type on manual typewriters. Today’s students are comfortable with expanding technology and naturally embrace new tools. Students are accustomed to submitting homework electronically and are more frequently working with classmates online via social networking applications, like Edmodo, an online educational platform. Using Edmodo as an extension of the classroom, teachers are posting homework, tutorial links and test results. Students can ask each other questions online and classmates can post answers, which encourages collaborative learning. Students flourish as they take ownership of the learning tools and take control of their own learning.

Many of these technology upgrades have been made possible through the generosity of a donor. Alumnae, parents or friends of Resurrection College Prep High School who are interested in supporting technology enhancements may visit the Supporting Res tab at www.reshs.org or may contact Development Coordinator Alisa Martorano at amartorano@reshs.org or 773.775.6616 Ext 142.

Digital technology has entered every realm of our lives, from home to the classroom, and Resurrection College Prep High School teachers are creatively integrating new tools to add depth and richness to the learning of their students.

Apple iPads, interactive white boards and Rosetta Stone language software are several of the tools that are being embraced by students and teachers. “I use my iPad frequently in my classroom,” said Religious Studies teacher Joe Lascon. “I use various apps to supplement the content in my curriculum like Glo Bible software, Prezi interactive notes, and timeline apps. I also use polling software, like Socrative, that allows me to get real time data.”

Math teacher Jessica Abezetian utilizes the Microsoft OneNote program to create outlines and notes for her classes. By connecting her laptop to the interactive white board in her classroom she can have students come to the white board to demonstrate work and then she is able to save

Italian teacher Giuliana Costabile works with students as they utilize the Rosetta Stone language software to enhance their Italian language development, vocabulary and pronunciation.

Service and Giving

In November 2012 the Resurrection Campus Ministry team, the Religious Studies Department and the Seekers Club coordinated a food drive to benefit the New Hope Community Food Pantry, which serves low income families and individuals living in the northwest side Chicago neighborhoods of Norwood Park and Edison Park.

Resurrection students and staff donated almost 4,000 food items. The generous donations helped many local families with food in preparation of their Thanksgiving dinners. The Campus Ministry team also hosted the annual Holiday Gift Drive. The Drive supported the Catholic Charities Sponsor-A-Family program, as well as Whipple House, a residential facility for men with developmental disabilities.

Members of the Resurrection Seekers Club delivered over 4,000 food items donated by the Resurrection community to the New Hope Community Food Pantry.
