Left: Jackie Baker and Amelia Cerling are posing with happy graduate Catie Conway.

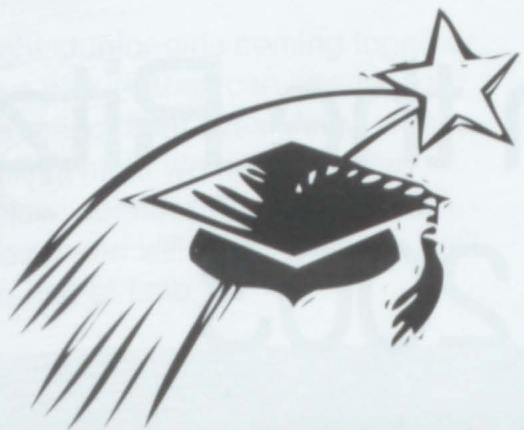

Below: Andy French, Mitchel Hayden, and Joel Holder are happy to know they finally made it.

Above: The commencement was long, and we all got tired, but it was worth it to know that we all finally get to start a new chapter in our lives.

The senior choir members sang the senior song to close the ceremony.

Left: Valedictorian Adam Frye giving his speech to all of the graduating seniors.

Below: Lance Gladis and his parents are happy to see Lance finish a part and of his life and move on to bigger and better things.

Above: Phil Snyder walking down after receiving his diploma. Left: Even though it is all over "the gang" will stay friends forever.

Puttin' on the Ritz Prom 2003

Left: Prom goes taking a group photo before all of their fancy clothes and hair are destroyed by a night full of fun.

Right: Look at all the lucky and beautiful sophomore girls who were asked to the Junior/Senior prom this year.

Right: Junior girls coming together for a picture they can cherish for the rest of their lives. Aww, what a special night we had together. Below: Jennifer Priebe and Leah Weinmann will remain friends until the end of time.

Below: The Junior guys look like they live lifestyles of the rich and famous while they are wearing their fancy tuxedos.

Left: After Lance Gladis fell from a freak break dancing accident, Phil Snyder and John Boyum decided to carry him around all night.

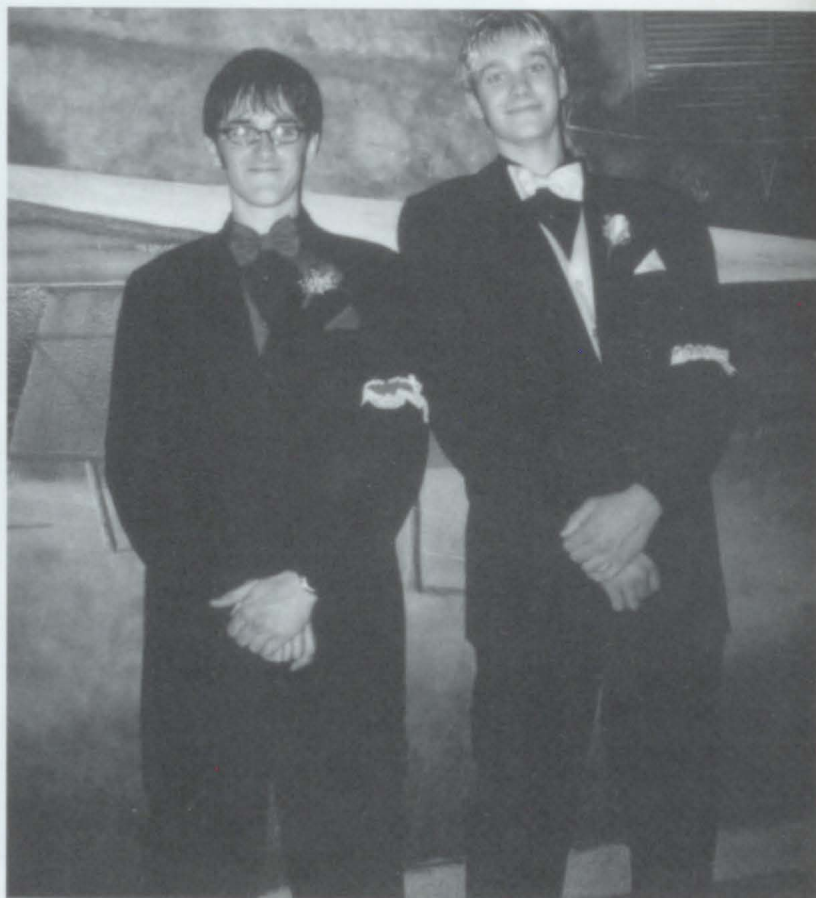

Above: Nolan Denny along with date Michelle Rowland and Brandon Macloud with date Christine Merrick are holding each other close on this special night.

Above: Andy French and Amelia Cerling make a perfect couple.

Right: Nick Donahoe and Nolan Denny look suave and smooth in their fancy clothes.

Left: Tyler Neimeyer, Talia Greenslade, and McKenzie Gladis are pondering on who to dance with next and if this picture will make Mr. Wilhelm crack a smile.

Below Middle: The hypnotist at the Post Prom party was so "boring" he made everyone at the party "fall" asleep.

Below right: Post prom was a blast, but Joey Thorson started getting excited and now he can't stop gambling all of his money away.

Senior Class Trip to Disney World

Above: Bad Boys, Bad Boys, whatcha gonna do when they come for you!?

Senior Secrets

Who stole all the forks and spoons at lunch? Who peed their pants in 6th grade at a baseball game? Jeche's fruitbowl. Boy Target was great, right Jessica? Who's puke did Butch and Amy slip on outside of Mr. Wilhelm's room in 7th grade. Who stole all of Mr. Schellenbergs tests? Who fell into the hooooole? Who threw the egg at Mary during homecoming? Was it really the lunch lady that put applesauce in Adam Frye's hair? Who backed into a car at Subway the first day they got their license? What happened to the sandpit? Who fell off the ski lift? Who's chair did everyone look under in third grade to count all of the boogers he had under it? Who thought Mr. Baum and Mr. Sonsalla were hot? Who did the twist on a peanut butter jar while telling jokes? Mike's chicken heart. Who sucked on a chicken heart? Who's half here? Dairy Queen with grape lollipops! How did Bakken get the nickname Sparkles?

Back To The Basics...

Academic Divider

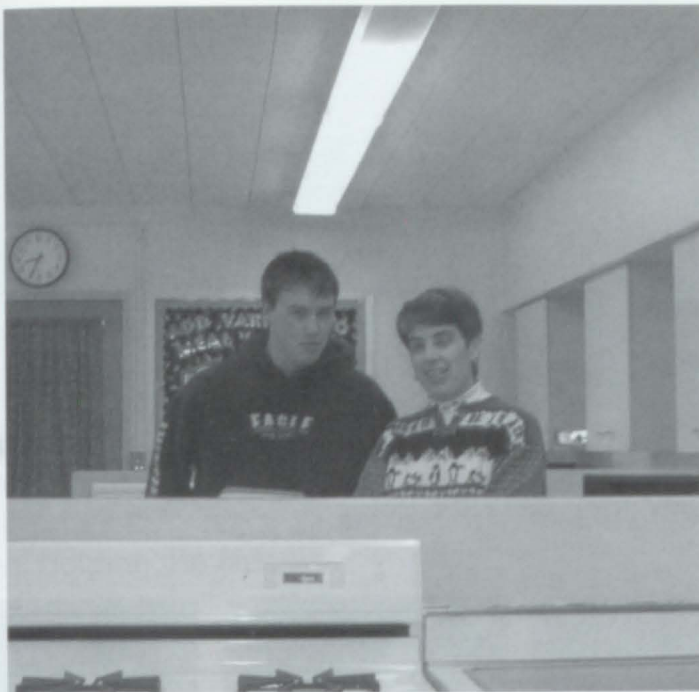

Above: Mr. Hughes is always eager to help hard working students, like Luke Proper.
Below: Mrs. Kester and Patty Goldsmith showing their pride in being part of the gopher staff.

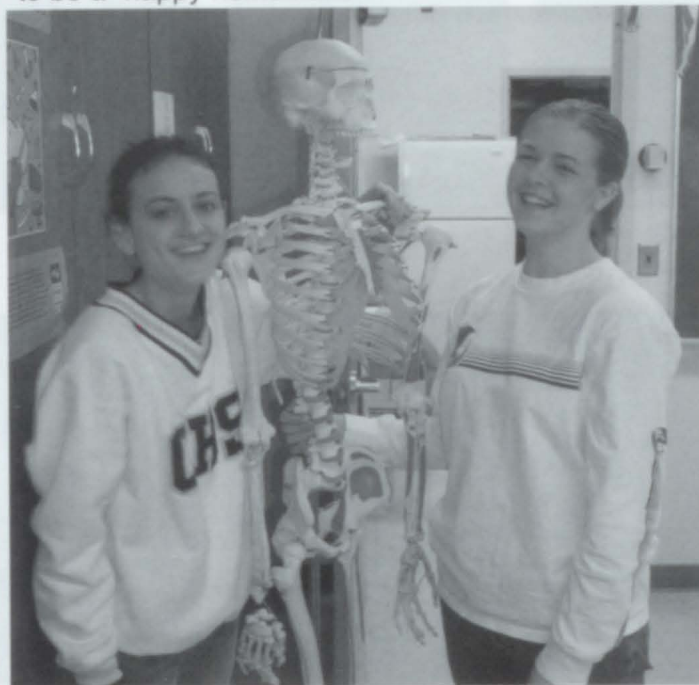

Above: Adam Frye is so good he can bang on the drum in his sleep.
Below: Phil Snyder always did like the older women.

Left: Annie Sogla does some reading, in where else, the library.

Yearbook-Staff Meeting Devolves Into Discussion Of Popular Kids.

CHATFIELD, MN---Productivity declined sharply at Tuesday's Chatfield High School yearbook meeting, when the proceedings devolved into an animated discussion of the school's popular kids.

"Gee, what a surprise: another picture of Kaiya Easler in her brand new Abercrombie clothes," said Chatfield Editor-in-Chief Ashle Neunsinger, laying out the Senior collage page. "Well I guess we have to put her in again since she was prom queen. Look what hot stuff she thinks she is in that picture....the operative word being 'thinks'"

The remark prompted the copy editor Micheal Budahn to recount a shoulder-punching incident involving Bryan Cole, Easler's boyfriend and star quarterback for the school football team.

"As much as I dislike Kaiya---and that's quite a lot--- I actually think I dislike Erik Bakken even more," said Budahn, rolling up his sleeve to display a large purple bruise. "At lunch last Friday, I was minding my own business when he came up and started whaling on my shoulder because, apparently, he thinks it's a riot. I suppose that's the sort of thing that has to pass for humor when you don't have a brain.

"We should make up a page for him called 'Painting The Future Black and Blue,'" added Budahn, alluding to this year's yearbook theme, Painting The Future." "Or maybe 'Painting Myself Into A Corner Because I Am Stupid And Will Do Nothing With My Life."

Budahn's anti-Bakken remarks served as a segue into a discussion of whether there were any school sports teams that "aren't made up of jerks."

"The cross-country team is pretty cool, but that's about it," yearbook editor-in-chief Ashle Neunsinger said. "The worst, I would have to say, is the wrestling team, followed by football, and baseball being a close third."

In spite of their distaste for the popular kids, or "Chatfield's Ruling Elite," the yearbook staffers acknowledged that there were exceptions.

"You know who's actually kind of okay?" photo specialist Jerry Bissett said, "Phil Snyder." Even though he's going out with Rebecca Finseth and is all Mr. Pretty Boy, he isn't a total asshole like the rest of them. He even said he liked the class presentation I gave on censorship in rhetoric."

Budahn strenuously disagreed with Bissett's assessment of Snyder, claiming that he once shoved him into an open locker, bloodying his nose and scratching his glasses. Budahn also accused Bissett for having the hots for Snyder. The charge was DENIED!!

Tuesday's meeting, which disbanded when Budahn's mother arrived to pick him up for piano lessons, was the sixth in a row to devolve into a discussion of the popular students. While little progress was made in assembling the yearbook, a consensus was reached that cheerleading captain Mary Conway, was a total stuck-bulimic snob.

This was found on-line at www.theonion.com. The names and pictures were changed to fit our yearbook staff. It is all in fun and should be taken very lightly.

Special Thanks From Advisor Karl Wilhelm

Thanks to everyone who made this year's book a memorable one, especially to the yearbook class for all their effort, to Brian Berg, Marsha Duffy, and Gary Hanson for their technical support, and to Mr. Paulson for supporting our work. Mostly, I'd like to thank Ashle Neunsinger, this year's editor, chief cook and bottle washer, and all around girl Friday, without whose efforts none of this would have been possible. Kudos.
