

Senior Spotlight: Amanda E.

I am American, as I was born in California, but my family is also Canadian. I have lived in California, USA, and Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands. I lived in California for ten years of my life, and the Cayman Islands for the rest of it so far. I have been living in the Cayman Islands for seven years. I have been at CIS since I moved to Cayman. I am quite adventurous because I grew up adventuring around with my father and sister, as well as my friends and cousins in Canada when I went there every summer, so I have come to love exploring around in the mountains of Canada, driving across states in the USA, etc. One of my best personality traits is that I am loyal to my friends and family, and I stick around when things get tough. Though it is not the most interesting story, one thing a lot of people may not know about me, is that when I lived in California, right before I moved here, my family and I went on a trip to China, for a while, and while we were in the hotel lounge having some dinner, my parents finally revealed that we were, in fact, moving to Grand Cayman. So basically, while we were miles away from home, my parents told my sister and me that we were going to be moving miles away from my home.

The out of school activity I enjoy the most is traveling to BC, Canada to be with my friends because they are some of my best friends and I miss them every time I leave. I would like the ability to fly, because then I would never have to drive anywhere which would let me save money because I wouldn't have to buy gas, and I would never have to go on an airplane because I am not a fan of them, and I would never have to wait in any lines in airports. It would also make it a lot easier to get to places really fast. I actually would not want to be famous because once someone becomes famous, nothing is private. I really value my privacy and don't really like when people try to get into my personal life, and once someone is famous, everything becomes public for billions of people to know. I don't really have a favorite movie, but my favorite genre is horror movies. Though it may sound very weird, my chosen last meal consist of Eggo waffles, bacon, watermelon, cherries, truffle fries, and movie popcorn.
