

Senior Spotlight: Jack P.

My last name is emblematic of my European heritage. Paolini, which I inherited from my father's side of the family, is Italian. However, I am the first after several generations to have actually lived in Italy. I also am part Irish and German. For the majority of my life, I lived in the state of Connecticut. After twelve years of living in the US, our family decided to move to Italy for four years. This immediately sparked our interest in international living, leading us to move to Cayman. My experience living in Cayman has been limited to three years. But, every day I am continuously learning something new about the culture and the people. I have been at CIS since I arrived on island three years ago. My first experience on campus was a memorable one, welcomed with open arms as a student and a respected individual. One trait that I am proud of is my commitment to my friends. Despite their location, I will make sure that I communicate with them (usually using Facetime). One thing you might not know about me is that I have two half-siblings. The activities that I enjoy most outside of school are playing beach volleyball and baking brownies with friends. Late night car rides blasting music is also a regular occurrence.
