THE MAGAZINE OF TILTON SCHOOL

Last Chance!

Class Notes

Please send us your Class Notes for the upcoming Tilton School 1845 Magazine. Class notes can include updates on new jobs, promotions, moves, travel, coming back to the Hill, graduations, engagements, marriages, and birth announcements. We appreciate any update, whether big or small. Tilton School wants to actively stay in touch with all of RAM Nation!

Please send your class notes to alumnioffice@tiltonschool.org. If possible, please include high-resolution photos.

Alumni Fieldwork Partnerships

We are looking to create partnerships between alumni and current Tilton students through a job shadowing and/or mentorship program for Grade Level Programming. We thank you for your time, consideration, and possible involvement!

If you are interested in partnering with us, please submit your information and we will be in touch shortly.

The Future of Schools: Reclaiming What Matters seeks to inform participants about the latest in teaching and learning - how schools like Tilton are at the forefront of reimagining the future of education.

Speakers will be discussing competency-based education and 21st-century skills, the importance of providing students with a variety of opportunities to demonstrate skills and knowledge while sharing actionable "feedback" to help students fully reach their potential.

We aim to re-imagine classroom learning, as the "one size fits all" model of education is not meeting the needs of today's teenager.

Tilton School Summer Institute

Summer 2018

Summer 2018 welcomed a new 3-week overnight program to join the groups who enjoy our campus during the summer, the Tilton School Summer Institute. 45 Students, ages 11-14 from countries such as China and Spain joined others from the Northeast, New Jersey, and North Carolina on campus and took part in four Discovery Tracks; Design-Build: Villages of the Future, Cinematography and Videography: A Message of Action, Arts With Purpose and Flair: A Project of Theatre, Dance, Music and Production, and Sustainable Planet: Farming for the Future.

The thrust of the new program is to encourage and guide students to better understand who they are, how they can thrive, and then design their own future. At the conclusion, Advisors helped compile students' thoughts and feelings into their Individualized Strengths and Skills Profile \(ISSP\), who were given a plan with short and long-term goals.

Our groups visited MIT BeaverWorks Labs to see the possibilities of developing in 3D printing, autonomous driving vehicles, and unmanned aerial vehicles being built and programmed. In the Helen Grant Daly Creative Arts Center, they tried new skills in ceramics, drawing, photography, videography, and coding. Evenings included many common summer camp activities with our traditional Black & Gold games, puzzle nights, games on the Quad, movies in Davis Lecture Hall, and karaoke in the MARC.

We continue to develop new, cutting-edge Discovery Track projects for 2019, and hope you will pass along details about our new program to family and friends who might take advantage of the program or be interested in partnering with Tilton School on this exciting summer program.

From the Head of School: One Month In

As the fall colors begin to appear, we reach a great moment on campus that I like to call "One Month In." For anyone who has been on a journey such as a road trip or a hike, you will understand what I'm talking about.

Relish in the Journey: Megan Killigrew, Faculty Spotlight

On March 13, 2016, Megan Killigrew (English teacher, DIVE Grade Level Leader) took her first step onto the trailhead at Springer Mountain in Georgia. With her mother by her side, this was the first of many steps on a journey along the longest hiking-only trail in the world - The Appalachian Trail.
