Engaging Children

"Education is the key. With a really good education, you have a much broader view of the world."

St. Mark's is a place I have had the privilege to watch evolve for 33 years. What I love the most about St. Mark's are the things that have not changed! St. Mark's is a community built upon the mission to serve each child, recognizing their unique gifts and talents where teachers and student work together to realize their potential individually and collectively. I love going to school each morning where there are miles of smiles and shared discoveries among so many children and adults. With our mission driving our teaching, children are allowed to gain confidence through play and learning every day to become their best. Practicing both academic and social skills in ways where children are completely engaged is my passion. I cannot imagine a more fulfilling opportunity, and the generous hugs are not too bad either.
