

Prospect Behavioral Pediatrics and Psychiatry

Position: Physician Assistant

At Prospect Behavioral Pediatrics and Psychiatry, we strive to deliver patient centered evidence-based treatment modalities, with the goal to make a real difference to children, adolescents and adults with mental health challenges. At Prospect Behavioral we approach psychiatric illness in a compassionate and integrated fashion to arrive at the best treatment options available. We are interested in recruiting a dedicated and flexible team player, to work directly with a triple board-certified psychiatrist and doctoral prepared psychiatric nurse practitioner.

Our practice is seeking a compassionate physician assistant to join our care team. This position will consist of providing psychiatric evaluations and management of patients across the lifespan. This position will include duties within an outpatient office and within local residential settings as needed. This position is for a motivated individual who shares an interest in learning and implementing modern and advanced psychiatric services and treatments to the population of western North Carolina. The candidate selected for this role may also participate in treatments such as ketamine therapy and more. The candidate selected will also have the opportunity to participate in our rural community outreach program.
