2015-2016 Sacred Heart School & Parish Annual Report

giving begins at home

Sacred Heart School has been an integral part of our family's life since 1998. All of our daughters attended Sacred Heart: Katie graduated in 2004 and Jackie in 2007. Our youngest daughter Jenny will graduate this year, class of 2017. As parents we make decisions on behalf of our children that take years to see the results and we don't truly understand the impact of our decision for decades. Due to the large age range, we have the unique perspective to see firsthand the impact of our decision to educate our daughters at Sacred Heart School.

Academically, our older two daughters were well prepared for a rigorous, college prep high school. Spiritually, they graduated Sacred Heart with a deeper understanding of their faith and commitment to serve the community. Both have launched into adulthood and credit their time at Sacred Heart as the bedrock of their success. We know that Jenny is well prepared to head to high school and beyond with these same foundations of spirituality, community and academics.

It was and continues to be the belief in Sacred Heart that drives our continued commitment with our time, talent and treasure. Over the years, we have served the community in many capacities, some years we had more to give and others we did not. What we found through this journey was amazing – the more we gave, the more we received. We know this sounds cliché, but when we stepped up to do a job we were asked to do, we walked away learning more about ourselves and often with a new lifelong friend. When we stretched to give to help others, our daughters learned sacrifice feels good, especially when you are helping others. Through our 18 years at SHS we have grown in our faith, built friendships to last a lifetime, and watched our daughters flourish in a tight knit community. This community has been there for us in good times and in bad. When we had a sick child we felt the comfort of the entire community coming together to support and help us in whatever way we needed – we will be forever grateful.

We were excited to make a commitment in the inaugural year of the School Sponsorship Program in our final year at Sacred Heart School. This was a new way to say thank you for all the blessings we have received. We give to Sacred Heart in the hope that all students will be blessed with the life-giving experience our daughters and our family has enjoyed and their parents will see the benefit in the years to come.

Doug and Patti Cook

Dear Sacred Heart Parish and School Community,

We are pleased to highlight in this Annual Report how your generosity of time, talent and treasure has furthered the mission and ministry of Sacred Heart Parish and School. The Annual Report of our Parish and School gives us an overall look not only at our financial picture, but a larger picture of who we are as a community.

Your support and involvement has provided Sacred Heart with the ability to offer daily liturgies and pastoral care, sacramental preparation, faith formation and youth ministry, social outreach, community events and, most importantly, Catholic education.

We are blessed and fortunate to have a community of families and staff who believe in our Parish and Parish School and support it not only through their work and stewardship, but by means of financial contributions as well. This was apparent in the increased participation of our School's Annual Fund last year.

Our parish now provides an Online Giving opportunity. This service provides a convenient, safe and secure option to manage on-line giving to the parish and school. Sign-up by visiting our parish or school websites and selecting the Online Giving link.

Let us continue to work together to build up the Kingdom of God here at Sacred Heart Parish and School. Your contributions, your prayers, and your countless volunteer hours make Sacred Heart a community dedicated to faith, service and excellence.

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

Fr. Steve Sallis pastor

Notes to Financial Statement:

[1] Every year, the parish and school operating funds budget and transfer an amount to the parish and school capital fund. This recognizes the necessity to put aside money each year for major maintenance and repair needs as good stewards of our facility-related resources.

[2] The Annual Catholic Appeal (ACA) rebate is an important funding source for the capital fund. We received a rebate of nearly $5,000 from the 2015 ACA campaign, fulfilling your ACA pledge made that possible.

[3] The interest from our Parish Revolving Fund general savings account with the Archdiocese is now an important funding source for the Capital Fund. Also, in 2015-16, the Capital Fund received two special gifts totaling $125,000 from two generous parishioners. In addition, our parish Knights of Columbus Council (#8136) contributed $500. Special gifts to the Capital Fund are always encouraged and gratefully received.

[4] During the summer of 2015, almost $241,000 was spent on refurbishing the school gym. Over $209,000 of this cost was raised through "Fund-a-Need" at the 2015 School Auction. The balance came from the Capital Fund.

giving time and talent

My name is Barbara Hagen. My husband Jeff and I, and our three children, have been a part of Sacred Heart Parish since we relocated back to this area three years ago. Our twin girls, Caitlyn and Morgan, are 11 years old and are 6th graders at Sacred Heart School. You can often find them as altar servers here at mass. Our son, Tristan, is 7 years old and in 2nd grade at Sacred Heart School. You can find him singing with the Sacred Heart Parish children's choir.

Growing up, the Catholic church was central to my childhood. My family was always involved in something with our parish and my mother was the key driver of this. She is a French-Canadian who grew up in Montreal in the late '40s and '50s. At that time, about 98% of the city was Roman Catholic with over 200 churches on that tiny island. All schools, including public schools, were part of a parish. For high school, my mother attended a Catholic boarding school in Montreal contained within a Convent and fully staffed by nuns. Needless to say, mass and stewardship were a daily part of her life.

When my mother married and moved to the States, she brought all of her Catholic stewardship with her and included our whole family. At our parish, we were the family that everyone knew. My older brother was an altar boy – perhaps I'm dating myself but back then they were called altar boys as girls were not yet allowed to serve. But that changed quickly as my older sister was so persistent with our priest, Fr. Major, to be an altar server too, that eventually Fr. Major gave in and my sister became the first girl altar server in the entire Syracuse, NY diocese. I followed in their footsteps quickly and was also an altar server as soon as I was able.

My family was always at the church, helping with parish events, attending family worship, helping in the rectory, or participating with CYO sports. My mother pretty much sewed every altar cloth, liturgical stole and vestments for the priests and parish. And Sunday mass wasn't something we had to fit into our schedule – it WAS our schedule!

I didn't realize it then but my childhood years, and my family's deep involvement with the parish, truly established the groundwork for the church and stewardship in my life.

In my early adult single years, I remained a pretty faithful and involved Catholic. With few responsibilities other than myself, I had time to be involved in my parishes in the different places I lived. I contributed in a variety of ways: as a reader, a catechist, greeter, etc. Soon though, my life responsibilities increased with work demands, a husband, and eventually kids and I saw my involvement with my parish begin to diminish. My desire was still there but I just didn't know how to make the time.

This story held true when I joined Sacred Heart Parish. I wanted to become involved in the community here but I told myself I didn't have the time. So we attended Sunday mass but that was about it. Then, when Fr. Steve invited me to serve on the Parish Futuring Committee and help build a five-year plan for the parish, I said yes. Although to be honest, I had no idea how I was going to find the time, especially with a busy travel schedule. But surprisingly, I found the time when I could and when I was traveling and unable to make a meeting, people were understanding. I found too, that there were others on the committee who had time challenges but who gave when they could giving time and talents. And so I discovered that it is perfectly okay to give the time when you have it. There is no expectation that when you say "Yes" it means 100%, all the time. Perhaps one month you are only able to give 60% but the next you have 95%...that is okay and whatever time you have is always welcome.

After the futuring committee's work ended, another opportunity came to me – to be a part of the Stewardship Commission. Having had recently begun a second Master's Degree program, this one global in nature, my life was even further challenged with a lack of time. But I said yes because Stewardship is a part of the parish I have much personal passion for. As you can imagine, my time commitment ebbed and flowed. I missed some fun events and I probably made a few people a bit nervous during some planning stages with too much of a "just-in-time" approach than was desired, but my passion for what we were creating and the enjoyment of working with amazing fellow parishioners helped pull me through.

That led to my 2nd discovery: Don't underestimate the power passion has in helping you find something– like time – that you didn't know you had. We have a wide variety of ministries here at SHP and they can use more time, talent, and passion from all of us. As you consider how you can participate more, I'd like to share an exercise I do quietly with myself occasionally.

I pause and observe myself through the eyes of my children. Like the impact that my mother left on me as a role model, I challenge myself to envision: How do I show up as a role model for my kids? What will they speak about in 30 years when called upon in their parish to provide this witness speech? I can only hope their memories and the examples of stewardship I provide today will be as rich and impactful as mine are from my parents.

I know I have more to give to this parish and that is my commitment for the coming year. I hope you will join me and together we will see how passion, time, talents and stewardship can have a profound impact on our parish, our own lives, and the lives of those around us.

school Fundraising Highlights

A Fundraising Year in Review

During the 2015-2016 school year, Sacred Heart was able to “Raise Up” our school community through various fundraising opportunities.

The Annual Gala Auction took place March 5th, 2016. The theme, “Raise ‘Em Up”, was a fun filled evening for our community to show their support for our school. We were able to raise up our paddles and bring in over $103,000 to support the 2016 Kitchen Fund-a-Need. Thank you to those who attended the event, our sponsors and volunteers.

We had another opportunity as a Parish School to participate in the Larry Kring Challenge Match program. For the third year, Mr. Larry Kring has provided an opportunity to increase donations to our School’s 2015-2016 Annual Fund. We are extremely grateful for his continued generosity and commitment to the success of our students and school.

Sacred Heart School families also participated in the GiveBIG campaign in May together with the Seattle Foundation to raise funds for our school.

Sacred Heart School was also able to give back to our community by raising over $7,500 and donating over 350 pounds of food for various charities. These charities included:

- Northwest Hope and Healing
- Lupus of America
- Eastside Baby Corner
- Renewal Food Bank
- Hopelink
- Ronald McDonald House Charities of Western Washington and Alaska
- Treehouse

We are grateful to celebrate our many giving opportunities over the past year. With the generosity of our parents, grandparents, students, alumni and parish community, we will continue to create a vibrant environment of faith where our children can continue to learn and grow.

a legacy of giving

Sacred Heart has been a beacon for our family since we arrived in Bellevue 38 years ago. We had experienced both public and Catholic education in California and we selected the Catholic values for our children. We found a home at Sacred Heart and our three children benefitted from the education, values, and the respect gained in the classroom and thus the training and preparation for successful lives.

In 2011, our family's life suddenly changed with the passing of our wife and mother. I was focused on a memorial gift in my wife's honor and subsequently met with Father Pat Ritter. Based upon our discussion, I chose a three-year period of contribution. However, after year three, I decided to continue the annual support and also to increase the level of contribution. My reflection on the value of our family's experiences led me to consider the need to provide support just like those who came before us, the primary supporters who provided the opportunity for my family when we first arrived. Without them, we may not have had the opportunities of 38 years ago, and it is my aim to ensure that those benefits extend to future generations.
