NO _____

To be named by the Faculty Council to membership in the National Honor Society is both an honor and a responsibility that is not to be taken lightly. It is incumbent upon members to maintain their record of excellence in all four of the areas in which the Faculty Council found them qualified for membership. If named to membership, I understand that falling below the standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and/or service may result in disciplinary actions.

YES _____

NO _____

If not named to membership, I understand that I have the right to appeal. Similarly to the paperwork, the appeal process requires the candidate to provide solid proof of the excellence of leadership, service, and/or character required by the National Honor Society.
