

Cultural Competence

Goal: To cultivate an empathetic, inclusive and equitable school community that values and encourages respect, voice and agency for all

Guiding Principle: A culturally competent system that fosters a deep sense of belonging and strengthens the educational experience and overall success for all children.

Agreed upon definitions:

Agency: A point at which views translate into actions such as making decisions, and influencing change. (Empowerment) The concept of “student agency” involves four distinct components. The first three are temporally linked covering future, present, and past:

- Setting advantageous goals;
- Initiating action toward those goals; and
- Reflecting on and regulating progress toward those goals: and
- A belief in self-efficacy - whether one believes they can act with agency actually enhances or diminishes that agency

Competence: Implies having the skill and capacity to work effectively with culturally diverse individuals.

Culture: A common set of beliefs, norms, values, perceptions, and connections that help define us as individuals and refers to a shared set of attributes.

Voice: The ability to express views freely, and be heard. In education, student-voice refers to the values, opinions, beliefs, perspectives, and cultural backgrounds of individual students and groups of students in a school, and to instructional approaches and techniques that are based on student choices, interests, passions, and ambitions.

Authentic Learning

Goal: Develop innovative problem solvers, critical and creative thinkers, effective communicators and strong collaborators who can apply their knowledge and skills to navigate real-world challenges.

Agreed upon definitions:

Authentic learning: According to Rule (2006), “The four themes supporting authentic learning are: An activity that involves real-world problems and that mimics the work of professionals; the activity involves presentation of findings to audiences beyond the classroom, use of open-ended inquiry, thinking skills and metacognition, students engage in discourse and social learning in a community of learners, and students direct their own learning in project work.”

Action Steps What Will Be Done?	Evidence Of Success (How will you know that you are making progress? What are your benchmarks?)	Evaluation Process (How will you determine that your goal has been reached? What are your measures?)
Step 1: Explore new and advance previous efforts in providing relevant and authentic experiences for all learners. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Define and integrate common language regarding Authentic Learning in schools, and what it looks like (characteristics) in the classroom ● Examine the extent of authentic learning experiences through classroom observations ● Establish professional learning experiences for administrators and teachers on authentic learning ● Integrate the Pelham Inquiry Cycle as a framework for advancing authentic learning experiences ● Explore partnership with the Performance-based Assessment Consortium and/or other associations to promote a more authentic learning culture ● Plan for the extension of the 10th grade IB Personal Project, and consider the implications on the 8th grade IB Community Project ● Research success of the 12th-grade senior internship program, and recommend the prospect for expanding to all students K-12 ● Invite stakeholders and alumni to participate in the exploration of new and better ways to expand authentic learning 	Direct observation of authentic learning experiences, which include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Activities which involve real-world problems, reflecting the work of professionals ● Demonstration of experiences to audiences beyond the classroom ● Demonstration of relevant, open-ended inquiry, thinking skills and metacognition ● Engaging in discourse as a community of learners ● Self-directed meaningful learning, involving voice, choice, and agency 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Development and use of rubrics which assess authentic learning experiences ● Teacher and administrative observations ● Stakeholder feedback on the extent of authentic learning experiences ● Depth of student performance assessment / authentic learning experiences ● External (Tri-States, IB, etc.) and Internal (instructional rounds, observations, community events)

Step 2: Explore, study, and recommend ways to use time more effectively and efficiently in our schools and classrooms. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Develop a team of stakeholders to evaluate scheduling needs across the district, among all schools ● Collect stakeholder feedback on scheduling needs in the district ● Study ways to incorporate time for the development of students' social/emotional learning ● Collaborate with experts in the field of school scheduling to better understand best practices and ways to implement changes ● Provide recommendations and considerations for the district to implement ● Create better opportunities for vertical and horizontal teachers' collaboration and professional learning time ● Establish professional learning experiences for teachers and administrators in the effective and efficient use of time in our schools and classrooms 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Teachers use classroom time in new and better ways to deepen learning ● Extended time is accompanied by changes in instructional practices to improve learning performance ● Flexible scheduling facilitates variety in student supports and social-emotional development experiences ● Teachers find more time for collaboration and conversation about children and learning 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Stakeholder feedback on the extent scheduling changes enhance teaching and learning ● Greater evidence of student critical thinking, creativity, collaboration, and communication skills ● More efficient staff and facility utilization ● Use of Inquiry process as evidenced in Teacher and administrative observations ● External (Tri-States, IB, etc.) and Internal (instructional rounds, observations, community events)

Whole Child

Goal: Deepen our systemic academic and social-emotional supports for the health, safety, and well-being of the whole child, recognizing that our learners need to balance academic, physical, social, and emotional demands.

Agreed upon Definitions:

MTSS: Multi-Tiered Systems of Support, formerly known as Response to Intervention (RtI). MTSS is “the practice of providing high-quality instruction and interventions matched to student need, monitoring progress frequently to make decisions about changes in instruction or goals and applying child response data to important educational decisions" (Batsche et al., 2005)

Action Steps What Will Be Done?	Evidence Of Success (How will you know that you are making progress? What are your benchmarks?)	Evaluation Process (How will you determine that your goal has been reached? What are your measures?)
Step 1: Research and determine priorities on the District's beliefs about what constitutes a healthy environment <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Align Wellness Committee mission with the strategic plan. ● Research whole child models (ex. WSCC Model) ● Assess the current state of District's health and wellness 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Wellness Committee mission statement is aligned with the new strategic plan. ● When Whole child model is adopted and next steps determined (ex. WSCC Model) ● Based on the state of District's health and wellness, next steps identified. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● In 4 years, the 12th- grade(current 8th grade) survey will show an increase in having an adult in the building to confide in, decrease in relationship stress from teachers, and decrease in the number of students with high-level of anxiety and depression.
