

Special Occasion Dress or “Mass Dress”

There are special occasions during the school year when heightened decorum is appropriate. These include every instance when we gather as a community to receive the Eucharist in Mass. On these special days, the school uniform will be superseded by the dress code described below. However, students may always elect to be in “Mass Dress.” Mass Dress is the same for all grade levels.

Boys:

Boys are to wear a solid-color, long-sleeved, button-down, collared, dress shirt tucked into their pants with a belt. They are also to wear a necktie or a bowtie. Boys should follow all other aspects of the school uniform to complete special occasion dress, with the exception that students may elect to wear navy or black dress pants instead of tan.

Girls:

Girls are to wear a solid-color, long-sleeved, collared, button-up shirt tucked into their skirt or pants. Girls should follow all other aspects of the school uniform to complete special occasion dress, with the exception that students may elect to wear navy or black dress pants instead of tan.

Students violating special occasion dress may be subject to sanctions beyond a normal “out-of-uniform” violation given the importance of the event.
